Dear Barry,

This year has been so incredible... so much has happened that I'm still spinning. I know things didn't turn out as well as we wanted. I'm really sorry about everything except all the good times we had together. I'll always remember the Junior Prom, the beach, your uncle's condo etc. etc. etc. I still care about you & I will never forget them. Always remember, I think differently. I guess the big problem is no matter what don't be angry with me. I'll handle it. Whenever you need to talk or something... just call me just me!!! Please don't be a stranger cuz I don't think I could handle it. I'll always be there for you if you wanna go out or something...

Thanks for being there & caring soo much...

You are the best!!!!

I love you too,

Michelle

INTENSITY

Once upon a time — Freshman Kelly North escapes the general confusion of the quad by reading a good book.

Intensity — for CV students, more than a word, a way of life, in all senses in all respects. All is important; everything has meaning. It's significance that matters, not substance. Sometimes this is hard to accept, with all the material forces of life trying to draw you away from your true purpose. We all must learn eventually, however, what really matters. Then we must decide how to approach it. Intensity's relationship with paramecium, or it is the dedication of a musician, artist or worker. For others, it is the total mental and physical commitment an athlete gives to improve and win or the emotional pain of a strained relationship or the joy of being with that special someone. Intensity is that complete immersion in insanity you and your friends undergo on Friday, Saturday and, well, just about every night of the week. CV students seem to approach life in one manner — intensely. We know what matters, and we know how to go about getting it. We know what to stress. We know what to blow off. We know how to succeed. We will.

Summer — a time for relaxation, vacationing, beaching, tanning, getting in shape for fall sports, new romances and most importantly, no school!

The hottest happening spots for CV students were Hermosa Beach and, believe it or not, work. ''Catching some rays'' was almost a ritual to CV guys and gals, and when not at the beach, work was their temple.

For those athletic types, the only place they could be was in the gym, on the track, on the fields or at the pool. But if you looked around, you could definitely see that they were not the ones staying home to watch their favorite soap operas!

FRIENDS

By Brad Hamilton

Truly subtle humor, the staleness of an air freshener gone bad, the sense of awe at your first glimpse of a constellation in October and the romanticism of a bear skin rug in front of a blazing fire. All of these made an impression of some kind in our lives, but none of these impressed themselves in our lives as much as our friends did.

Our friends somehow always managed to be there when we needed them most. They provided a much-needed shoulder to cry on in time of need. They also showed us that we could manage a smile when all we wanted was to sulk in a bog of self-pity. However, for each bad time they helped us through, there were many good times of which they were an important part.

We were at school together, out at night and on the phone talking. When it came to our friends, we were the proverbial social butterflies. In fact, we were together so much that if we were seen without them, it was like seeing the Green Hornet without Kato or Batman without Robin. We turned to our friends in every situation in our lives, and they, for the most part, were always there. The friends we made while at CV will not, if ever, be soon forgotten.

THESE? You don't want these, they are dirty exclaims Sean Thornton. Standing up for the American way and clean fabrics were some of Sean's added jobs at House of Fabrics.

Let's see, one . . . two . . . three . . . another example of a hard worker who is forced to count the money for his employer.

So thats how you do it? Carol Ritchey finally has her question asnwered about how the pharmacists fit the little bottle into the typewriter.

GET A JOB

"I owe, I owe, so off to work I go." So goes the familar chant of those trying to

By Scott Morris

How much would you pay for a car, insurance or a date? But that's not all . . . you also get lunch, gas, A.S.B. cards, football games, dances and clothes. Now how much would you pay? Don't answer yet . . . all you have to do is work. WORK!

To most students the thought of work had a worse effect than kryptonite on Superman. Yet, work seemed the only way to supplement the little that mom or dad gave them. "Sometimes working can be inconvenient," said Janine Peterson, "but when something comes around that costs money, I'm always glad that I work. What I really want, though, is lots of money."

Upon deciding to get the job, the student set out to beat the pavement in search of the "perfect" job. The student needed work that had good pay, good hours, a good employer, a good company, a good summer house, good paid vacations and a good Swiss bank account. GOOD LUCK!

Another problem that students, who worked, faced was that sometimes work interferred with school. "It's hard to keep my school work up and work at the same time," said Lynda Klein. If given their choice, students would make work the Great American Pass-up.

Hold the mustard! "I am!" replies Rachel Maldonado as she rushes around the Loft trying to prepare tasty morsels of delicisoso cuisine.

Reservations for four — Truly a unique location for dinner, Deneil Dover and Lisa Erickson treat their dates, Mike Schufer and Erik Lefler, to a romantic candlelight dinner in the middle of Montrose.

King for a night — Backwards Dance King, Harvey Mason, and his escort, graduate Lisa Renn, enjoy themselves during a slow song dedicated to Harvey and his court.

BACK IN TIME

Girls' treat, dinner and a dance, a time for guys to live it up at no personal expense — A chance to go

By Jenifer Larson

Backwards Dance ('bak-werdz 'dants) noun — a dance where the girl asks the boy; the girl picks up the tab.

The dim lights became bright ones, revealing the Indians', Cowboys', Gangsters', Old-fashioned Swimmers', Cavemen's, Flappers' and many other dated characters' true identities. The dance floor cleared and suddenly, the noise level seemed to become an endless silence. The princes and their escorts were led down through the center of the crowd as watching couples cheered on their favorite candidates.

The princes and their escorts, Freshman Prince Victor Ramirez and Melissa Riach, Sophomore Prince Brad Adam and Julie Hopper, Junior Prince Neil Mathisen and Dawn Ott, Senior Prince Harvey Mason and Lisa Renn, Senior Prince Mark Potter and Suzanne Urban and Senior Prince Bryan Von Lossberg and Cathy Smith, all patiently awaited the announcement of the king.

Ending the suspense, Tina Quick, Girls' League President, announced, "The 1985 Backwards Dance King is . . . Harvey Mason." The crowd burst out in a roar for the new king.

The theme song, "Back In Time", was dedicated to Harvey and his court so they could share a special moment with their dates.

All in all, the Girls' League Backwards Dance was a success and a night to remember.

I'm late, I'm late! For a very important date, Jolyn Andrews rushes around her bedroom while trying to locate the ticket.

The Court — Senior Prince Bryan Von Lossberg and escort Cathy Smith, Junior Prince Neal Mathisen and escort Dawn Ott, Senior Prince Mark Potter and escort Suzanne Urban, Sophomore Prince Brad Adam and escort Julie Hopper and Freshman Prince Victor Ramirez and escort Melissa Riach.

It's just my luck to get stuck in your English class 2nd s. if I had a choice, I would have picked that class anyway. It was fun taking B's from Mrs Berg. and giving it to her. your a cool guy and I hope we can scam on some chicks this summer together. Have fun in South africa or wherever you go.

FIRE

From Senior Nerd Day to the Homecoming rally and the Bonfire, this week was definitely on

By Scott Morris

Way up here on Walton Mountain, John Boy is coming home. Actually that should be way down here in Crescenta Valley, its Homecoming. Homecoming Week was one thing that few students would forget.

The week began by devoting one day to each of the four classes with the last day being blue on blue day. In addition to each of the classes dressing up, fund raisers added to the excitement of the week. Determined never to be left out, cabinet did their share by planning class competitions. These included sports games and a whipped cream pie eating contest, which enabled students to prove who was ''cream'' of the crop.

As the week came to an end, the annual bonfire blazed. The bonfire was a privilege that only CV had. The night was sprinkled with class competitions, chants from the football team and cheers from the Pep Squad. The climax of the evening was the tossing and burning of the Muir dummy. Students went home thinking about the game the following night and dreaming about the dance the night after.

The theme for the week was ''Come Sail Away,'' but certain things that would never sail away were the memories created by a week of excitement.

COME SAIL AWAY

by Aaron Rose

A mixture of romance and spirit, the Homecoming Dance for 1985 represented a climax to the energetic Homecoming Week. The intensity began with the week-long nominations for the court. Followed by the pom-pom filled football game and the actual Homecoming Dance, Homecoming Week allowed the student body the opportunity to take pride in their school as well as themselves.

The process of selecting the '85 Homecoming Queen began with nominations. The fortunate girls who made the nomination ballot and had enough votes became princesses. Of the three senior princesses and one princess from each other grade level, only one would become queen.

On the night of Friday, November 8th, the queen was announced during the half-time festivities of the CVHS-Muir football game. With the classic cars having circled the field twice, the princesses escorted to center field and the combined drill and band performance completed, the stage was set for the announcement. Kim Badaracco became CVHS' 1985 Homecoming Queen. Although the Falcons lost the game 47 to 0, both the crowd and team retained spirit.

Saturday, November 9th, the night of the Homecoming Dance, proved to be more than just a celebration for the crowning of the queen. Great music sparked most of the couples onto the dance floor while others watched and socialized. Returning queen, Kim Agonia, transferred her crown to Kim Badaracco during the ceremony which took place half-way through the dance. All in all, Homecoming 1985 provided every chance to COME SAIL AWAY.

Lightening bolts flashed. Thunder rumbled. The transformation terminated. Once mild-mannered students metamorphosed into ghoulish beasts, stylish time travelers, down-home country boys and pumpkin-heads. Or, were these students actually just unleashing that animal in them known as their true selves? The cause: HALLOWEEN. Whatever the symptom, the festive, devious spirit ran rampant on campus, affecting some more than others.

Through the magic of make-up and silicon, males tried their hands at portraying the opposite sex, including Paul Arnston whose youthful beauty helped him win the costume contest held at lunch. A few, with their childish ways, regressed to their younger days, the ''beautiful'' people uglified into nerds and others felt tyrannical, thus becoming authoritative figures such as doctors and priests.

Along with the costume contest, the Pep Squad performed a special rally at snack to entertain the lively crowd. But, the fun and frights did not cease after school. Most spooks caught sweet-tooths, satisfying them by drifting door-to-door to receive candy. Others joined fellow ghouls at haunted houses or parties, all having a fiendishly good time.

Unfortunately, the bewitching hour arrived and announced the coming of All Saints Day, driving all the strange creatures back into their human forms to lie dormant . . . for now.

ESCAPE

3:00 p.m. Friday to 8:00 a.m. Monday — 65 hours to spend any way you want — The weekend

By Jenifer Larson

Whether it was spent going to a movie, a party or a football game, CV students were hardly found at home thinking about school during the weekend.

This ever-so-popular not-long-enough weekly holiday was a praised event at CV. After a hard week of work at school, this two-day event most often went to recharging the brain by doing such things as going out on a date, going out with a group of friends, going to see a CV sports event, going to a concert, going dancing or going to see a movie.

Even though activities were important to them, some students could be found regaining lost sleep, snow skiing, basking in the sun, washing the family cars, watching old Three Stooges and Little Rascals re-runs and yes . . . there were even times when there were essays or term papers due on Monday, making the school week seem endless.

Weekend — the seven letter word which meant to some, freedom, and to others, relaxation. In any case, many students were quoted as saying, "It should be longer!"

Putting on his cutest smile, Aaron Villansenor begs his girlfriend Moira Delaney to buy him the jar of popcorn. We know who makes the money in the family!

Hey Beny!
What a guy.

Hair: Abuse to acquire beautiful hair includes shampoos, conditioners, mousse, Dep, hairspray, hot rollers, a curling iron, barrettes, a mirror and a multitude of hair brush strokes.

Smile: A valuable asset to any future entrepreneur. Students' parents pay thousands of dollars to put their children in severe pain for months. Are they natural or are they the product of being a ''train-track'' face?

Jewelry: It is all a matter of what one is wearing . . . and money. Gold is a woman's best friend if she hasn't any diamonds. Plastic and cubic zirconia manufacturers made a killing from CV students.

Homework: An average student spends around 300 hours per year at home under a dim light plowing through history, biology, U.S. Government, English, trigonometry and senior problems.

Watch: As digital readouts became passe, Mickey Mouse arms pointed to distinct numbers while Swatch brand's arms pointed to nebulous new wave designs.

Purse: Engineers could not build one big enough so they invented the shopping cart. Contents include lipstick, mirror, make-up, curling iron, address book, liquid paper, one leaky pen, senior portraits of every person ever known at CV, a book for every purpose including baby-sitting, driver's license, car keys, $6.42, uncashed paycheck, three Band-Aids. Kleenex, toothpaste, breath mints, bubble gum and an overdue VCR tape of Risky Business.

Clothes: Paisley from head to toe is not uncommon, yet a well-dressed woman must have stirrup pants, tank tops, cashmere sweaters, designer jeans, mini skirts and a leather jacket.

Shoes: To have a pair for every occasion, several brands must be on the floor of every closet: Reebok, Flo-jo's, K-Swiss, Timberland, Cherokee and any of the various imported Italian brands.

So many creative, individual

STYLES

Sunglasses: Who could be seen without them? Vaurnet, Phonet, Sun Cloud and Ray Ban hide the eyes that are bloodshot from lack of sleep.

Jacket: Member of what? Popular imitations include Sigallo, Gucci, J.C. Penny, Land's End and Sears. Black is the only color that counts.

Backpack: Contains only the bare essentials for survival: one teddy bear, one bar of surfboard wax, concert tickets to Oingo Boingo and four crayons.

Wallet: While the majority carried a nylon job with a velcro fastener, mature students stuffed their cash in genuine leather billfolds. Other contents include driver's license, a parking ticket, library card, I.D. card and anything useless yet savable, i.e. dance pictures, a Super Cut business card and expired credit cards.

Shirt: Some patterns are so popular, they make twins out of unacquainted students. Khaki, madras, stripes, sweats and ski sweaters complimented any stylish wardrobe.

Pokey: What is his claim to fame? Only Gumby knows for sure.

Watch: If it isn't good past 100 meters, who needs it? Students who enjoy rigorous water sports require durable models by Seiko, Timex, Citizen and Casio.

Books: Although some students feign to be illiterate, most have enough books to start their own library. The best-seller list includes Iacocca, Galapagos by Kurt Vonnegut and Death is a Lonely Business by Ray Bradbury.

Jeans: The original 501 blues with rivets and button down fly sometimes receives a distorted faded look as a result of a paint brush or bleach. Basically, the only thing a guy needs to own.

Shoes: Van's are out of style and business. The man in style wears Reebok, K-Swiss, Nike, Zodiacs, Topsiders, or High Tops.

Thanks to Lady Duarte and Tyler Williams for posing on Styles. Dunlap-Turney deserves a special thanks for the photos.

DATING

By Grace Lee

Dating — double, blind, or one on one — A challenge we all had to face. A night of romance or catastrophe. Though all types of dating were utilized, in order to make the night go as good as possible, some types of dating were more popular than others.

Double-dating was often popular among CV students because it allowed car-less students to go out without their parents.

"I like double-dating because it gives a comfortable atmosphere on a first date," said Sophomore Tina Rhee.

However, some teenagers chose old-fashioned solo dating. "I liked going to Angeles Crest to see the view with someone I really like," said Junior Karin Stohn.

Superstitions prevailed among teenagers as they pondered over their good and bad dates. "Never date a freshman," warned a junior. "I had better luck with blondes," declared Junior Keith Kinsel.

Although the ways varied, dating still remained popular among students. It allowed social freedom and a way to express affection.

Digging deeper into his pockets, Aaron Villasenor hopes he has enough money to treat an embarrassed Moira Delaney to the matinee in Montrose.

Caress, before you dress. Sherry Sandwick lovingly touches Gregg Buck's face as she agrees to his proposition for a night out.

"Oh Greg you cad!" Krista Hales giggles as Greg Wuerfel lays on the compliments in hopes of getting a date.

FORMULA

From fundraisers to spirit contests — Students, teachers, and events all came together to form the "Quad"-ratic

By Scott Morris

Fads came and went, styles faded in and out, games were played, boyfriends and girlfriends switched partners, and the amazing thing was that it all happened in the Quad.

It seemed that CV became one big soap opera at snack and lunch. "Did you hear anything about Bobby?" "You won't believe it! I heard from John's sister's boyfriend's cousin, David, that he and Eloise are together again! Can you believe that?" The Quad changed into the center of the "Young and the Worthless." Walking through the Quad was a great way to pick-up on the latest scandal.

Another thing revealed by a stroll through the Quad was the new styles of hair, clothes, earrings and anything else that people could make "different."

Although these things were very prominent, the events that students remembered most were the activities. Whether it was pie in the face or a scavenger hunt, the Directors of Activities kept the student body busy with many fun games.

Most of the activities that took place in the Quad were high energy events. Many times however, the Quad served as a place to let out the frustrations of a long school day. The Quad was a place friends could share problems. The word Quad might mean square, but the Quad was definitely not a square place.

"Say mercy!" Brett Anderson, a noted ladies-man, shows his special technique for charming women.

The 'I can't go out to lunch' club. This was one of the newest clubs on campus. After receiving many members, the club changed its meeting place to McDonalds.

"You won't believe this," Lisa Detweiler and her friend prove that sometimes the Quad can be a place to just relax or study.

"Hold still, I've almost got it." Heather Sandin shows her class the finer points of brain surgery. Snack 1-2 was a class that both she and Sam Levering enjoyed.

I've got it! Moira Delaney shows her spirit by participating in Class Competition week. The sports games helped put the seniors in the lead.

By Jenifer Larson

Watch out, jump back,
Here comes the Falcon attack!
We're gonna rock it to the rhythm of the Falcon sound.
We got a blue n' white fever goin' round and round.
We have the most spirit, no one else can compare.
All the other schools had just better beware!
Our spirit is our form of communication,
Watch out . . . we lead the nation!

"We got the spirit, yes we do! We got spirit, we gave it to you!" These simple words, when put together, formed the definition of CV's school spirit this year.

Even though students' overwhelming cheering was a large part of the spirit, it was not the only way they showed it. They were known to do such crazy things as wearing Hawaiian clothing to football games, picking the guy with the cutest rear and the girl with the sexiest legs, playing charades on the rally platform, eating a whipped cream pie just to find a piece of gum at the bottom or doing a schoolwide scavenger hunt.

No matter the day, CV students found a way to make school life more bearable. On football and volleyball game days, the players could be found around campus in their uniforms or in other crazy made-up outfits.

Without a doubt, CV's student body had no problem expressing their school spirit, whether it was by cheering or apparel.

By Brad Hamilton

An expectant hush came over the audience as the lights dimmed and the curtains began to draw apart. The play, You Can't Take It With You, had begun.

Keeping with the tradition of the annual fall play, You Can't Take It With You was an enormous success. The play centered on the romance and upcoming marriage of Tony Kirby, played by Jason Durocher, and Alice Sycamore, played by Karen Oslund. Fred Olivia and Michelle Miller played Mr. and Mrs. Kirby, who were adamantly opposed to the marriage because they were wealthy and the Sycamores were not as financially well-off.

Brad Belnap, who played Alice's grandpa, explained to the Kirbys that you've got to take time out to enjoy life. The Kirbys had worked all their life for money but grandpa explained that when they die they can't take it with them, so they needed to take some time to enjoy all that they've worked for. Needless to say, the play ended happily.

"There was a lesson for everyone in the play. Everybody should have some fun in life," said Brad Belnap. Thanks for the good advice Drama Club, and congratulations on a job well done.

The annual Feast of Lights warmed the audience's heart and made the night

By Scott Morris

The house lights dim. The crowd quiets. The stage crew stands ready. Then, at the signal from the stage manager, the lit baton is raised, and the choir, under the direction of Miss Shirley Nute, begins to sing.

The Christmas concert not only provided an evening of excitement for the audience, but it gave all of the musical groups a chance to come together. The different groups that participated were Charismatics, A Cappella Choir, Women's Ensemble, Women's Glee Club, Men's Glee Club and the Wind Ensemble.

The performances were held on December 19, at 7:30 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. and were narrated by Karen Oslund, a two year veteran of the concert.

Altogether, the combined choirs spent about two and a half months practicing for that special night. ''We spent a lot of time practicing,'' commented Trevor Veocks.

Among the crowds' favorite songs were, ''While Shepards Watched Their Flocks'' and ''Christmas Day.''

NOT A STUDENT WAS STUDYING,
NOT EVEN A FOOL.
THE MISTLETOE WAS HUNG
IN THE DOORWAYS WITH CARE, WITH HOPES THAT "THAT SOMEONE"
SOON WOULD BE THERE . . .

Starting one week early with the Christmas Dance, the school was set into a vigorous anxiousness for vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Claus, Janine Peterson and Dave Felkel, led the school in its first annual formal stag dance.

The week before vacation consisted of can collecting, tree decorating, spirit testing and celebrating. Also, despite the overload of studying for tests, students managed to hand out thousands of cards on Friday.

Beginning the week's activities was a class competition to get the most canned foods. The total school's collection was then brought down to Brand Blvd. for a school competition against Hoover and Glendale. A well-deserved second place was awarded to CV because of CV's overwhelming spirit.

Throughout the rest of the week, there was a ruckus in the quad. The plain, boring trees suddenly transformed into festive creatures and humorous puns. Mr. Bake's homeroom class took first place in the decorating competition with an exotic ornament which disguised the tree as Santa Claus.

Friday was a true day for confusion. With "cold" 83° weather, students could be found on campus in red and green shorts and tank tops. Graduate John "The Hose" Griffin added to all the festivities by "DJing" a dance in the quad at lunch. So to the future . . .
MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL, AND TO ALL, A GOOD VACATION!!!

A world of colorful clowns, dancing bears and giggling girls is found only Under the BIG TOP

By Kim Kummer

The smell of popcorn, sticky cotton candy, roaring tigers, slow-moving elephants, colorful clowns, dancing bears and small children with excitement exploding from their eyes. Remind you of the circus? Actually, it was the Glendale Civic Auditorium transformed into the Big Top for the Sophomore Backwards Dance.

With the theme, "Under the Big Top," couples came appropriately dressed as clowns, lion tamers, trapeze artists, ring masters and even peanut venders. Enthusiastic Lynda Klein commented, "The theme let people be creative and feel like a four year old enjoying the excitement of a circus!" But, instead of being a bystander, CV students became part of the action as they moved onto the dancefloor. They danced to the hottest sounds of the '80's from 8:00 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the King. Sophomore Erik Anderson was the lucky one honored as King. He was escorted by Heather Sandin. The princes consisted of Freshman Lance Zavala, Sophomore Joel Larson, Sophomore Steve Lightbourne, Junior Scott Morris and Senior Steve Boyer. They were escorted by Shelley Powell, Barbie Webber, Mindy Elson, Deneil Dover and Jennie Jensen respectively.

Singing, dancing, playing, acting — A chance to unleash CV's PURE TALENT

By Cathy Smith

The envelope please . . . Tension mounts. Beads of glistening sweat cling to your forehead and uncontrollably you inch your way forward, until you find yourself hanging on for dear life at the edge of your seat. Excitement is at its peak. It is the annual talent show with this year's theme being "Talent Night at Cheers."

Comparable to "Star Search" and even the Grammys, this long awaited show of skill not only proved to be entertaining and enjoyable to watch, but it also gave an insight as to the type of person who is seen everyday at Crescenta Valley High. If one could design a special x-ray camera to examine the true personality that lurks behind the often concealing surface of the skin, one would soon find that the structure of the student's world is intricately designed; composed of much more than solely the motivation to "wake up, go to school, come home and go to bed." On the contrary, the film would probably reveal surprising results such as many different interests, hobbies and most of all, abundances of individual talent. Through acts of dancing, singing, musical instruments and comedy, the talent show enabled students of all grades to expose their abilitie by giving them the opportunity to shine in th spotlight of success. By reaching out and tak ing the chance to reveal to their peers the ofte hidden qualities that make them unique, thes performers could, as a result, seize that golde envelope of triumph.

It has been said that character is property; th noblest of possessions. Although it takes har work to use a talent and build a unique person ality, these select students knew and had ex perienced the intensity of the fact that th highest reward for a man's toil is not what h gets for it, but rather what he becomes by it

A thump at the door awakened her from a dazed hypnosis. Anxiously pressing her clammy palms on her pink taffeta dress, she gracefully rose from the sofa and glided to the door. Holding a coordinating boutaneer and controlling her excitement, she flung open the door to a flawless guy dressed in a spotless white tuxedo with tails and his hair combed neatly into place; a perfect start to an evening at the 1986 Senior Prom, which was titled, "We've Only Just Begun."

Held at the Biltmore, where popular movie Pretty in Pink was filmed, the Senior Prom provided students with a romantic evening of dining, dancing and socializing. A new twist added to this event was having a disc jockey instead of a live band. The Class of '86 voted on this, so they "bopped 'til they dropped" to current tunes as recorded by the original artists.

Anticipation came to a peak as the dancers crowded around to see the crowning of the Court. A suspenseful drumroll could be imagined by onlookers, when Chris Majors and Lady Duarte were announced as the 1986 Prom King and Queen!

For the seniors, it may have been the last formal dance at Crescenta Valley, but Saturday, May 3, 1986, held an abundance of cherished memories which would last a lifetime.

A glimpse of a possible future, an excused absence from school, and a learning experience in higher education were all provided by the COLLEGE TOUR

By Scott Morris

The College Tour. Where else could forty-one students laugh like Fred Rated, plug five pairs of ear phones into one Walkman, have ''mature'' fun in front of the counselors or have the world-championship sleeping-bag sliding contest! The College Tour was a four-day trip, taken only by juniors, to some of California's best colleges and universities. ''It was one of the most fun trips I've ever taken,'' commented Tom Vilmur.

The tour visited nine campuses starting with Pepperdine and moving north. At each campus, the students heard a lecture from the admissions officers and received a complete guided tour of the campus. ''My favorite part of the tour at Berkeley was going up in the fifteen story tower at the Arts and Architecture building,'' said Shawn Kallan. You could say that was the ''high point'' of the tour for her.

The trip ended at Stanford. With the bus loaded and ready to go, it headed for San Jose Airport. Once at the airport, the students did the next thing that came naturally: boarded the plane.

Looking back, some might ask why people liked the College Tour. It might have been for the imitation palacial-penthouses that the students stayed in, or the five-course gourmet cuisine that was eaten daily. No matter what reason each person had for going, all returned more aware of college standards. Each person also took with them memories that would last a lifetime.

"You've got to Jump! Shout! Knock yourself out! The Boogie-woogie beat is what I'm talking about." Although Barry Manilow never hit the top ten in 1986, his song lyrics predicted what life would be like. Many CV students took a similar outlook as good ole Barry's as sometimes they just had to "Jump! and Shout!"

Stag dances set the ideal atmosphere for students who yearned for a refreshing break from academic pressures. Romance lingered in the air as well. "Stag dances were great because you could mingle with everyone instead of just sticking with your date," commented Sandra Marshall.

Most of this nighttime fun took place in CV's own cafeteria as this otherwise gourmet cuisine area was turned into the funky dancefloor of the '80's. The students would inundate the cafeteria with music, excitement and the pungent fragrance of dancers' perspiration.

The Christmas Stag Dance offered the students a new change of pace. Held at the Upper Civic, the dress for this festive event was semi-formal, and it was a terrific success.

Another stag dance was dedicated to another special day — Valentine's Day. On February 14, students gathered in the cafeteria to dance the night away. The dance was well-attended as the "Hose" dee-jayed. A special highlight was the crowning of the King and Queen of Hearts, Aaron Villasenor and Moira Delaney.

The popularity of these dances could be attributed to the current up-beat music played, the freespirit atmosphere and the opportunity it provided to meet members of the opposite sex. By Juli Oh

They say it only happens once, and for six lucky junior girls it did. On March 7, at the Junior Dance, a delighted Sandra Marshall was crowned Queen. Her equally delighted princesses were Debbie Franzon, Kim Kummer, Anna Larson, Cathy Smith and Jill Williams.

Unlike other years, the theme, "Once in a Lifetime," had a meaning behind it. Since 1986 was the year of the return of Halley's Comet, the Junior Class decided to tie in their dance with the idea that, like the comet, the dance was also a once in a lifetime event. Another theme considered was "Night of the Comet," but it was rejected in favor of "Once in a Lifetime," since the latter could be interpreted in various ways. In keeping with the theme, the bright yellow favors, which decorated the walls of the Lower Civic Auditorium, were in the shape of shooting stars. Streamers and flowers also added to the festive mood.

The Junior Class, including advisors Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Lee, made a real effort to make their dance a success. From baking cookies the night before, to selling tickets, making posters and decorating the day of the dance, everyone contributed to this worthwhile project. As Mrs. Evans put it, "The kids really came through. There wasn't much for Mrs. Lee and I to do. We just sat back and let them do what they had to!"

A night out with Mom or Dad: dinner, dancing; what more could a girl want? Girls' League provided a chance for the girls to enjoy these times by having their annual Mother/Daughter and Father/Daughter dinners.

Dads and daughters dined in CV's own cafeteria, which was decorated in green and pink. The theme was ''Daddy's Caddy.'' After dinner, the girls and fathers participated in a look-alike contest, and their dads participated in a putting contest.

But Dads did not have all of the fun; the girls and their mothers had their special night too. ''Two on the Town'' was also held in the cafeteria. A new addition included two ''Personal Shoppers'' from Nordstroms, who advised the women about new styles and colors. ''We wanted to try something new this year,'' said Girl's League President Diane Powell. ''My goal was to make the night totally different from previous years.''

In the tradition of the Mother/Daughter dinner, there was a salute to mothers and daughters. Kim Kummer and her mother, Pam, presented a touching dialogue that evoked a very emotional response from the audience.

Both banquets were sold out, but no one was left out. In fact, the banquets were so successful that the administration had a hard time getting everyone to leave.

INTERESTS

By Aaron Rose and Ian Ullman

The 1985-1986 school year proved to be a robust year for all aspects of the entertainment industry which stunned, sparked and fed our interests. As Live Aid opened the door for the entertainment industry to selflessly raise funds for the starving of the world, our eyes also fell upon Miami Vice, Rambo and Bruce Springsteen's music, all of which made society's idols millionaires. Yet, our sources of entertainment also flourished in a competitive sense when the "Super Bowl Shuffle" foreshadowed the Bears' victory and Pete Rose's record-breaking typified an awesome baseball season.

Beginning with our relentless infatuation with the music industry, many famous names renewed their fame while others grasped fame for the first time. Aha received "Best New Band" in the Grammys; however, Bruce Springsteen stole the year in music. Ending a 61-city tour in Los Angeles, Bruce sang "Dancing in the Dark" to his new wife, actress Julianne, while his album Born in the U.S.A. sold 15 million copies worldwide.

1985 was a year characterized by humanistic feelings, especially on the part of the often cold music industry. The zenith of this movement was the Live Aid concert held on July 13, 1985. More than a telethon of incredible proportions, it was also a first in technology. The concerts were run simultaneously at venues in Philadelphia and London via satellite. The concerts were amazingly successful, raising over three billion dollars for famine relief in Ethiopia through the orgnization of Bob Geldof.

> "I was a pain in the !∂, arrogant and had a big ego a year ago. And I'm still the same person. — Don Johnson of* Miami Vice "

1985 also marked the rise and marriage of the possibly far-too-ubiquitous Madonna. From her best selling album Like a Virgin to her critically and financially successful film Desperately Seeking Susan, Madonna was the media queen of 1985, especially with her marriage to actor Sean Penn.

In the television industry, several shows became household words. Miami Vice led all of its competitors with 15 Emmy nominations. Moreover, Don Johnson, its main star, started a new craze with dancing jackets' sleeves rolled up, sunglasses and an unshaven face. However, it was The Cosby Show, starring Bill Cosby, which portrayed the weekly adventures of a tightly knit, affluent black family called the Huxtables that became the number-one-rated series on televison for 1985.

On the movie scene, Rambo, Rocky IV and Back to the Future captured the teen audiences' pockets, whereas Amadeus, The Color Purple and Jagged Edge drew both the adult and teenage crowds. Rambo and Rocky IV prompted patriotism through controversial plots in which America always prevailed over Communists of one form or another. Amadeus and The Color Purple, on the other hand, caused a flood of emotions.

Sports: competitive entertainment that always drew the audiences' attention and support. The Chicago Bears stole Su perbowl XX with a 47-10 win ove the New England Patriots. Led b Jim McMahon's throwing arm Walter Payton's running an William "The Refrigerator" Perry's bulk of 308 pounds, th Bears won commercial contract with advertising firms across th nation.

Capping an awesome year, th Kansas City Royals defeated th St. Louis Cardinals four games t three in the 1985 World Series wit the leadership of George Brett Yet, the true victory for baseba came with Pete Rose's breaking o Ty Cobb's hitting record of 4,19 total hits.

Symbolized with the extreme o Spud Webb's 5'7" height an Manute Bol's 7'6" height, the Na tional Basketball Associatio entered another great season Ironically, Spud Webb won th NBA's All-Star Dunking competi tion.

The tragedy of Challenger's explosion, the mysterious ways of AIDS, and the re-birth of the Statue of Liberty all influenced the future of AMERICA

By Aaron Rose, Ian Ullman and Bryan Von Lossberg

Coast to coast, the United States had suffered tragedy and joy. Events from the shuttle devastation to the "Night Stalker" not only altered individuals, but the nation as well.

"The eye accepted what the mind could not . . .," as Time writer Lance Marrow put it. In a fraction of a second on Tuesday, January 28, 1986, the Space Shuttle Challenger exploded in a spectacular fireball over the Atlantic Ocean off Cape Canaveral. Concord High School teacher, Christa McAuliffe, the first teacher in space, and six other American astronauts aboard all perished only 73 seconds into flight in a nightmarish scene to be replayed countless times over the televison sets of a shocked and disbelieving world. National mourning, investigations and information that always seems to surface after the fact all succeeded the catastrophe. The accident served to remind the world as President Reagan put it, "The future is not free; the story of all human progress is one of a struggle against all odds."

AIDS was the most dreaded disease of the decade. The death of actor Rock Hudson at the age of 59 sparked a nation-wide panic and torrent of media attention. Hundreds of frightened parents tried to bar children who had been exposed to the AIDS virus from attending public schools in several areas, even though countless studies stated such children posed no threat to their fellow classmates. The question arose: is the subject of AIDS a civil rights issue or a health issue?

On the West Coast, the "Night Stalker," Richard Ramirez, roamed mysteriously on a murderous rampage until he was finally abducted by citizens in East Los Angeles. After the terror, which included 32 victims, doors remained locked, windows shut and hearts closed as Southern Californians and the nation pondered the motives of such a wanton disregard for life.

Back East, President Reagan was diagnosed as having colon cancer and then an apparently successful operation. Moreover, the fight against cancer continued when Dr. Rosenburg of the National Cancer Institute developed Immunotherapy. This new method for treating cancer had very high levels of success in lab research, but would not be available until 1988.

The Statue of Liberty, which had undergone extensive exterior and interior repairs for three years, was finally completed in 1985. Funded with the generosity of millions' contributions and personal involvement from Lee Iacocca, the Statue of Liberty was "stronger than ever," stated one engineer.

The United States seemed to flourish economically as the stock market consistently reached new highs, unemployment dropped, interest rates plummeted and inflation remained low for fiscal 1985. However, these positive aspects of America's growth were overshadowed by a two trillion dollar national debt, and the U.S. becoming a debtor nation for the first time in 40 years as our imports exceeded our exports in trade.

All of the events which plagued or stunned the nation shaped the United States' future. As NASA learned to increase its precaution for the future launches, individuals became educated on AIDS, thus altering the manner through which we view the unknown.

By Aaron Rose

Cities fell and thousands died in tragedy while others miraculously survived. People strove for new forms of government and equality. Wherever tragedy or tranquility existed, events took place which influenced our world.

In Geneva, in the last week of November, 1985, President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev met face to face for more than 15 hours at the first "super-power" summit in more than six years. In six private sessions, the two leaders set their own agenda in a personal encounter. "We understand each other better." claimed Reagan.

> " I think that the chances of peaceful change in South Africa are virtually nil. — Bishop Desmond Tutu "

Yet, fundamental divisions remained on the most important issues: human rights and confrontations in the Third World and arms control — especially Reagan's "Star Wars" Strategic Defense Initiative.

Governments also had their problems in 1985 and 1986. South Africa's apartheid regime provoked bloody revolts from thousands of blacks against the predominantly white government. "We have a generaton of children who do not want to go out and play, but to wage war, real war," stated M. Malepa, a pre-school director in Soweta. Moreover, many US companies, banks and industries divested or withdrew their financial holdings in South Africa to protest the racial system of apartheid.

In the Philippines, dictator Ferdinand Marcos lost his 20 year control of power after a fraudulent election was held, and Marcos delared opposition leader Corazon Aquino had lost. However, both leaders swore themselves into office, and the US asked Marcos to leave the Philippines in order to avoid a growing public desire to overthrow the Marcos-held government. Marcos left on February 26, 1986, for political asylum in Hawaii. "The people and I have won!" declared President Aquino.

Devastation prevailed in both Mexico and Columbia as volcano spewed and ground shook. The Mexican earthquake left 5,000 dead and 150,000 homeless in Mexico City. Again in late November, 1985, disaster struck when Columbia's 17,716-foot Nevado de Ruiz erupted, leaving more than 20,000 dead or missing in mud and ashes. Both tragedies prompted heavy donations of monetary aid and supplies from all over the world. .

In the Middle East, terrorism was all too common. Four major airlines were hijacked from September to December, 1985. Combined, over 265 people, including Americans, were killed by hijackers or by efforts to kill the hijackers. Only the hijackers of the Achille Lauro, an Italian ocean liner, were brought to justice after Reagan gave the go-ahead and F-14 fighters forced the hijackers' getaway plane to land in Sicily.

Libyan leader Muammar Kaddafi was proclaimed, ". . . not only a barbarian, but flaky," by President Reagan early in 1986 after being accused of supporting Palestinian terrorists who set off bombs at airports in Rome and Vienna. Reagan imposed an economic boycott on Libya, ordered all Americans out of Libya and froze Libyan assets in the US in his "fight" against world wide terrorism.

Perhaps the only event which the entire world could view, admire and understand without controversy was the predicted appearance of Halley's comet. The comet appeared for the first time in more than 70 years, causing an astronomy craze to sweep the world. Another event which drew the intrigue and curiosity of the world, though not as greatly as the comet, was the discovery of the Titanic which sank on April 14, 1912, in waters over two miles deep in the Atlantic.

Overall, every event of world interest influenced our lives no matter how subtle the change.

The terms "Slam Dunk," "Homerun," "Hole in One" and "Touchdown" all reveal momentary triumph for an athlete. After the call is made, the intense feeling fades away, but the next triumph is not far away. It is only as far as the next call. SPORTS displays some intense moments in our athletes' lives.

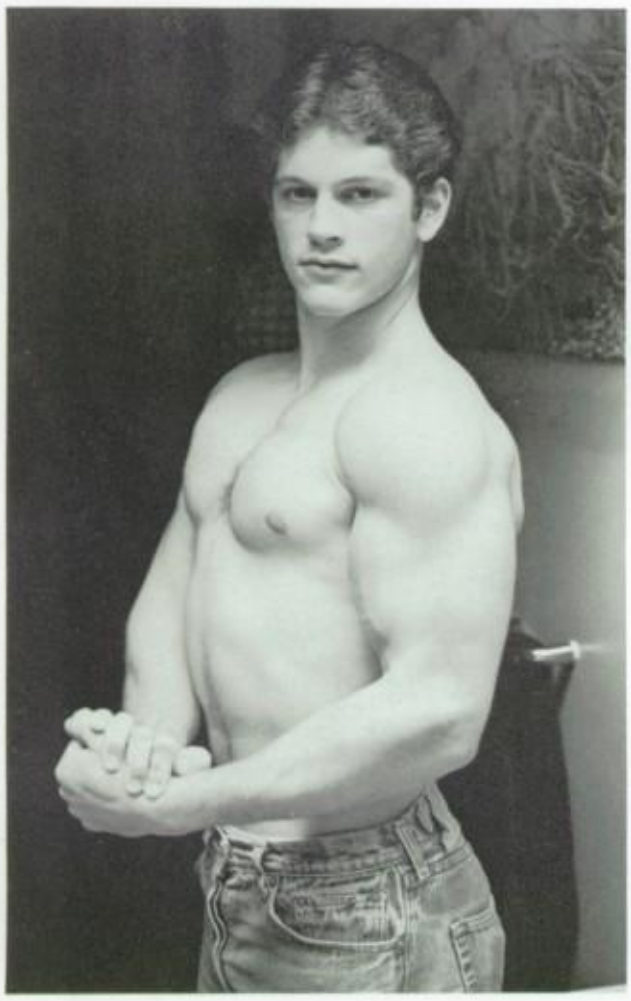
Body Building



"Body building is my way of staying in shape." John Bevan reveals hours of gym-time when he flexes his muscles. In only four years, John has metamorphosed from a flagpole to the YMCA's best customer. Health food has had no contribution to this well-developed body. In a joking manner while eating a cherry fruit pie, John ripples his biceps and laughs, "Body by Hostess." John hopes that his dedication to barbells will lead to a victory at the bench-press competition in May. Since his current record is 310 lbs., his competition better be related to Hercules . . . or forget it.

Surfing

"Who doesn't surf in California?" Mike Riach is the sterotypical California surfer: blond hair, year-round tan and a limited vocabulary which includes "turbin', "surf's up," "off-the-lip," and "booties." Mike usually surfs at Trestles but you can also find him at Newport, Huntington, Manhattan, Malibu, County Line, Little Rincon or Leo Carillo. It is hard to tell when Mike is going surfing because he has no protruding racks. His surfboard is so small (5'3"), it fits inside his car.

Sailing

"Sailing combines the bes elements of all sports . . . a the physical aspects plus som mental aspects that are unimaginable to th landbound athlete." Ian Ullman is truly a sailo at heart. His experiences at the helm bega only two months after his birth during a Lido 1 race with his father. "I don't exactly remembe the details," he laughs.

A consumate sailor, Ian prefers Sabot an Lido 14 racing. "I despise vessels that don helms-a-lee at a finger's touch." Speedboating

"Racing across the water in my boat and competing with the other drivers is a great feeling." Steve Altizer races a miniature version of a "tunnel" speedboat. Although Steve has just started racing, he has already won many races in his division. By being a member of the APBA (American Power Boat Association) Steve keeps familiar with the ever-changing rules and regulations. Even though Steve takes his sport seriously by spending many hours before the race preparing, he still has had his share of misfortunes. The eight foot boat is so easy to tip over that flipping over and landing in the "drink" is not uncommon. "Making mistakes doesn't bother me much; it just makes me learn to do better the next time."

Hockey

"The goalie is the most challenged player on the ice," offers Jason Maxwell. Jason has played in several leagues during his twelve years of ice hockey. He has been to Finland, Sweden and Canada in tournaments as well as New York and Oregon. When asked about turning to professional hockey Jason hesitates, "I just like to play. But, I have to admit that playing this sport for money would seem like a crime." The most impressive thing about Jason's hockey is that he still has all of his front teeth. Enjoy them while you can!

The pure intensity felt in the final 37 seconds of the Varsity game against Glendale could not have compared to any other. The decision to attempt the two point conversion instead of the extra point paid off for it led to the Falcons' 8-7 victory. This conclusion was definitely a highlight of the Falcons' season, because the infamous victory gong, once again, went home with the triumphant winners.

The Falcons finished their season with an overall record of 4 wins, 5 losses and 1 tie. The added CV win was due to Hoover's disqualification from league.

Jose LaPorte, who was chosen First Tean All-League Defensive End, was a key to th Falcon defense. He was joined by Junior Mik Muhlethaler, holder of the school record for 48 yard field goal, who made First Team Al League as kicker. Second Team All-Leagu honors went to Receiver Mauro LaPorte Defensive Lineman Jeff Lewallen and Tigh End Geoff Thran.

With new Head Coach Jim Beckenhauer, th Falcons committed themselves to im provement, which added to their overa success.

STYLING ONCE AGAIN

The Beginning of Some Great Years to Come

By Mike Muhlethaler

Incredible improvement — Sophomore and Freshman Football became symbols of great honor and pride at CV. Withstanding increasingly tougher spring and summer sessions and two weeks of pure hell in 100-plus weather, these kids built a foundation on which they sought to put CV Football back on top.

Following a 1984 Sophomore championship and having a team which was winless as freshmen, Head Coach Alan Eberhart and assistants John Nelson and Mike Uetz found themselves with an almost impossible task. But, led by returning star Erik Anderson, transfer and hard-hitting Eddie Spencer, offensive linemen Scott Akerley and James Moran and a tough Juan Huezo, these gutsy sophomores were determined to win no matter what it took.

Plain, hard work earned them six victories out of their first seven games and a great deal of respect. Unfortunately, while the Sophomore team strived for the league championship, Quarterback Club MVP and smooth-throwing Steve Lightbourne took a shot in the quadricep, putting him out for the season and severely damaging the offensive attack. Back-up quarterback, Sean Murcer, did a "heck of a job" as Coach Eberhart put it, but the team was simply outplayed in their last three games. Despite these losses, the '85 Sophomore team had plenty of reasons to keep their heads high.

Freshman Head Coach Dan Berry, on the other hand, had only improvement in mind for the 1985 season. With the help of assistants Sonny Brockman, Kenny Edwards, Russell Dean, Chris Roberts and Dean Roberts, the Freshman squad became the most successful in the history of CV with four wins to their credit.

Although winning was important, Coach Berry stressed team concept and brought the young men together as one. "In order to compete on the Varsity level, I feel that all of the kids needed to learn about a 'we team' instead of a 'me team,' which they were used to at such a young age."

Both teams displayed a great deal of unity and courage, which was pridefully represented by their dynamic records.

POLO SHINES
A Building Year

By Mike Muhlethaler

Swiftly skimming the blue waters, Crescenta Valley Water Polo snatched a year of extremes that proved successful despite an overall record of two wins and thirteen losses.

Leading the way on offense were First Team All-Leaguer Billy Owensby, and Second Team All-Leaguers Darren Martin and Greg Petersen. Owensby, who was also voted Most Valuable Player, scored an impressive 66 goals in the season. Martin contributed another 39 goals, while Petersen was the holeman.

Defense was the key for goalie, Scott Morris. Just missing out on All-League honors, Morris was voted Most Oustanding Defensive Player for his 125 saves. Rounding off the '85 squad were Neal Mathisen, Matt Jesse, Matt Aldrich, Tom Federico and Jim Heine.

Despite their hard work and honors, Stuart Craft's group failed to win a league game. This was a deceiving statistic, however, because almost every game was close. "When you lose to the predicted league champions in the last thirty seconds, you know you've accomplished something," stated an optimistic Scott Morris. And optimistic he should be, as almost the entire team is coming back in '86. Watch out Pacific League!

Jimmy's Boys (jim'eez boiz) pl. n. — the few elite Soph/Frosh Water Polo players led by the coaching of Jimmy Campillo. To some, Jimmy's Boys was a synonym for the Soph/Frosh Water Polo team; to others, hard work and dedication were.

This young team proved themselves through tough practices and close games. Two exciting games for the team were against Temple City High and Burroughs High. In both games, they clearly dominated in offense and defense through intense concentration. Their dedication eventually transformed points into the two wins. This team's hard work paid off with winning scores of 10-7 versus Temple City High and 15-4 versus Burroughs High.

High scorers Scott Gleason, Dale Foster and Travis Neale led their team to an overall fourth place in the season. Assisting these players in personal excellence throughout the season were goalie Brian Pancino and forward Eric Graves.

PURE EXCELLENCE

Cross Country Excels

By Brad Hamilton

They ran over the hills and through the woods but not to grandmother's house. What exactly does this mean? It means that once again CV's Varsity Boys and Girls Cross Country teams ran as hard as they could, wherever they had to, to keep up CV's exceptional winning percentage in cross country. And that they did.

The Boys' Varsity Pacific League Championship team finished their season with an outstanding 5-0 league record. "If it wasn't for everybody's combined effort, we probably wouldn't have ended up where we did," said Senior Drew Wheeler. The team, literally led by David Rawlins' and Mike Conover's outstanding abilities, once again proved themselves to be among one of the best athletic teams at CV.

The girls' team also proved themselves to be exceptional athletes compiling a 3-2 record in league competition. Their third place showing in league was their proof that they, along with the other cross country teams, were a force with which to be reckoned.

Coach Gilliland, refusing to take too much credit, was sincerely happy with the teams' performances because "their hard work and dedication is what got them their well deserved victories. I'm sorry to lose my seniors this year because their leadership inspired the teams. I'm proud of them." He definitely had a right to be. A winning percentage to rival the Raiders is still going strong.

NO DE-FEETS

JV and S/F Cross Country

By Brian Marshall

There were no cross country rallies. Team members did not wear their uniforms to school on meet days. There was no bonfire held in their honor. Although it was one of the most demanding sports, its members ''didn't get no respect''. Despite their obscurity, the JV and Soph/Frosh Cross Country teams still had tremendously successful seasons.

Due to strong performances by Pacific League Champ Jeff Galindo and League members David Kim and Rick Rands, the JV team once again did what was expected of them: sweep the Pacific League for the fourth year in a row.

The Soph/Frosh team also met up to the high expectations set for them by their coaches and teammates. They also cleaned up the Pacific League with leaders such as Andy Dicochea, Cary Harper, Tom Lipton and Perry Hamilton, who all received All-League honors. Both teams trained hard and diligently to come out on top, and with the encouraging words of coaches Keith Gilliland, Vicki Bouldin and Dennis Oliver, they did just that.

In the absense of rallies and bonfires, JV and Soph/Frosh Cross country runners needed more respect. But, as soon as they started running, they got it.

A TRUE SET UP

Varsity Volleyball

By Brian Marshall

Volleyball: What a sport! Girls in shorts, jumping around, hitting a little white ball back and forth over a cute little net. A True misconception. These girls had the hard-working, ''blood, sweat and tears'', ''no pain, no gain'' attitude needed to produce a winning team.

The Girls Varsity Volleyball team, coached by Pat Wells, ended their season with a 4-6 record, which matched the record of last year's Varsity team. But this was not last year's team. Their new highly controversial uniforms proved that, while adding a touch of style tradi tions were still sacred.

This was a new and regenerated group o tough competitors, but winning was not th only thing important to these participants ''We really worked hard and loved to win, bu what really made the season enjoyable was th inspirational companionship that we shared,' commented Jenifer Larson.

Led by outstanding players such as Moir Delaney, Jenifer Larson and Leilani Artis, th Varsity Volleyball team exhibited their hig spirits and dedication while also having fun.

ENTHUSIASM
The Key to Success

By Jenifer Larson

Spirit — the name of the game to both the Junior Varsity and Soph/Frosh Volleyball teams. No matter the situation, cheering filtered from the gym and smiling faces filled the stands.

The JV team, with the help of Coach Jan McCreery, earned a third place in Pacific League. Their abundant inspirational and competitive spirit shocked both the crowd and opposing teams, since it was never-ending. Outstanding setter, Sophomore Jeanne Mixon, led the JV team through a fun-filled, friend-making season. "This season was the best because we weren't totally there to win . . . we were out to have fun, too!" commented Junior Sandy Burgener about their season.

The Soph/Frosh team followed in the JV team's footsteps with their equal athletic spirit. CV Alumnus and Coach, Nancy Rabensteine, guided her team to a third place in their league. The highly enthusiastic Soph/Frosh team was led by the outstanding playing of Denise Bottomly, Pat Harris, Stacy Noble and Heather Sommerville.

All in all, the JV and Soph/Frosh teams, this season, gained experience, made new friends that were to last a lifetime and had a lot of fun in the meantime.

Varsity and JV Ace Their Seasons

By Kelly Ingram

Comebacks were possible, especially for the Girls' JV and Varsity Tennis teams. Under the direction of Coach Linda Daniels, the Varsity team won 3 out of 8 matches, an improvement of two games from their previous season. Led by the outstanding talents of Senior Nada Zarka and Freshman Joanna Busalacchi, CV Varsity Tennis placed fifth in Pacific League.

The JV team with its new coach, Allison Sattels, came in an impressive second place by winning 6 out of 8 matches, recovering from a winless season last year.

Team unity was a key to both teams' success. As Jill Chesley stated, ''I think Ms. Daniels and Ms. Sattels gave the teams 100% of their effort. We were very lucky to have them coach us!'' JV and Varsity certainly displayed their winning spirit.

DRIBBLE IT, PASS IT

Aggressiveness Is The Key

By Kelly Ingram

The Varsity and JV Girls' Basketball teams, driven by high spirit and aggressiveness, achieved a beneficial season, despite their records. Highest scores did not determine the winners, especially in the players' minds, for a strong defense showed true abilities.

Varsity, with MVP Lisa Erickson, Most Improved Renee Baugh and Rookie of the Year Karin Anderson, finished with an overall 10-12 record. A highlight was their placing an im pressive second in the Beverly Hills Tourn ment. The JV team, with Co-MVPs Car Oliva and Lisa Rousey finished 3-16 in overa play.

Both teams' winning attitudes and hard wo helped to make the season rewarding an memorable, and 1987 will prove to be mo successful.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Dribbles Into The Playoffs

By Brad Hamilton

Courage, spirit, determination and skill — These words are no doubt synonymous with CV's Varsity Basketball team. Led once again by returning 2-time All CIF guard Harvey Mason and All-League forward Mark Potter, the Falcons finished the season with an impressive 17-8 record. Also giving CV strong support on the boards were Seniors John Cammarata and Jack Frost.

The Falcons went into their season with a lot of pressure on them. They felt they needed to prove that last season's performance was no fluke. "We knew last season was no joke, so we went out and proved it to everyone else," commented Mark Potter. They proved it by tallying up a league record of 7-3 and advancing to the first round of the CIF playoffs.

Coach John Goffredo obviously had a lot to do with CV's success on the court. His intensity made the players give their all. "He kept pushing us and pushing us to give everything we had, and we did," said Senior John Cammarata. Also giving the team support was the crowd, which became dubbed, "The 6th Man."

Though the season ended in disappointment with a playoff loss to Culver City, CV's blue made everyone proud. When asked how he felt about the season, Senior Harvey Mason summed it up in just three words: "It was sweet!"

Gimme the ball, gimme the ball, yah! John Cammarata goes up strong for the rebound and tip-in.

BACK DOOR PROS
More Than Just Winning

By Mike Muhlethaler

JV Basketball '86 was full of ups and downs as it saw an ambitious group of young men in their final stages of preparation for the big time.

Dominated mostly by juniors and coached by the always smiling Coach Eugene Murphy, the team was lead by high scorer Gregg Buck and fellow Captain Chris Haberl. Rounding off the top eight were Barrie Eget, Brad Adam, Joel Larson, Vache Hanessian, Rich Galvan and Mike Harrison.

Their goal, as Haberl put it, was to "win all the tourneys and especially league." This goal took on reality at the beginning of the season as the crew found themselves winning the Burroughs Tournament, thanks to four clutch free-throws by Haberl and a lay-up by Adam all in the closing minute of the final game vs. Hoover. Gregg Buck was honored as the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Following the tournament, however, the squad lost two out of their next three games, lowering their record to nine wins and four losses before beginning league play.

Unfortunately, the team was hit with injuries to Buck and a season-ending blow to Brad Adam. Also, because of his brilliant performance, Barrie Eget was sent to Varsity, leaving the team with an inexperienced backcourt. Even with these repeated injuries and the lack of unity, the team surprisingly pulled off a league record of three wins and seven losses and an overall mark of eleven wins and eleven losses.

UNDERAGED?
Not On the Court!

By Jenifer Larson

A time for learning — a time for experience . . . for both the players and coaches. Rookie coaches Jim Smiley and Ed Wirtz led the Sophomore and Freshman Basketball teams to overall outstanding seasons.

Because most high schools do not have Freshman classes, the Freshman team was entered in the Rio Hondo Sophomore League. The large group of players expanded the already large array of Falcon talent. Captains Morgan Bateman and Brian Cortez, along with Mike Miller, Todd Kummer, Raphi Eskandarian and Brian Bayles, led the young team to a third place in League. 6'0'' Brian Cortez was the key to their success through excessive rebounding and scoring and outstanding defense.

Adding to the accomplishments of the Falcon team were the energetic Sophomores. Team leader, Anthony Burgess, proved his outstanding skills through top scoring. Other complements to the team were Tuan Le, Erik Anderson and Razmik Navasarkian. These players added to the overall spirit and excitement of the team. A third place in the Pacific League makes promise of good fortune in the future Falcons.

Since both coaches were CV Basketball Alumni, they knew the perfect strategies to beat the opposing teams. Time and time again, Coach Smiley's and Coach Wirtz's personal styles were revealed through their players. Over all, both coaches successfully proved that the Sophomore and Freshmen Basketball teams were not so ''young'' on the court. In all areas, these teams showed dedication and pride.

IN THE LONG RUN

What a Finish!

By Ian Ullman

Coming off a fairly disappointig 1985 season, the Varsity Track team was optimistic that 1986 would be ifferent. This optimism stemmed in part from ıe youth of the team.

The team was highlighted by several utstanding members. Brian Workman was the andout in the 100m and 200m, taking first lace in the 100m at the Saugus/Newberry Park ri-Meet. Senior Mike Schufer was the leader the 400m, while Erik Lefler specialized in ıe long and triple jump, an event which he on in the Glendale Tri-Meet. The mile relay team also took first in the meet. "I think this year's relay team has a chance at setting a new school record," stated Junior Erik Lefler. Other field event standouts included Tim Piepenberg in the high jump, Jim and Jeff Roberts in the pole vault and Dale Richart and Bill Contaldi in the shot put. The distance events were dominated by Senior Dave Rawlins, voted Most Valuable Player for the year's Cross Country season.

The 1986 Varsity Track team had high hopes for the season, which they tried their best to live up to. Their best was the most that anyone could expect.

BREAKING THE TAPE

Girls' Track Succeeds

By Brad Hamilton

From the asphalt jungle of Foothill Blvd. to the majestic hills of Ramsdell Ave. the Girls' Track team pounded, perspired and trudged their way to success.

Led by captians Jenifer Larson and Brenna Gunn, the team enjoyed another winning season. Also showing a great deal of leadership and ability were Freshmen Kim and Kath Brown. Pushed to the limits of physical exertion by Coaches Tony Zarillo, Bill Irace, Vickie Bouldin, Keith Gilliland and Dennis Oliver, the Girls' Track team worked and pushed to live up to what was expected of them. "We knew that our track teams are known for being good, so one of our main objectives was just to live up to our own and other people's expectations," stated Jenifer Larson.

Their dedication and hard work paid off again as the Girls' Track team kept up CV's winning reputation.

TOMORROW'S HOPES

Soph/Frosh Sprints to Victory

By Jenifer Larson

Running? A sport? To the Soph/Frosh Track team, it was not just a sport, but a quest . . . a quest for individual success.

Leading the team in the sprints with a personal best of 12.2, Tim Richards proved that dedication was the key to victory in track. Tim, along with Alan Chik, Ed Lee and David Rands, ran the 440 relay in outstanding time.

In the area of distance running, Andy Diccochea and Sean Doyle were the standouts. Specializing in the two-mile, Andy was a great asset to the team. Sean added to this with multiple scoring in the 800.

Hurdlers Bruce Holler and Ed Lee, along with Pole Vaulter Brent Lewis and High Jumper Barry Remmen, helped the Soph/Frosh team move toward future triumphs.

All in all, the Soph/Frosh team contributed a great part to the wholeness of the track team.

HIT PARADE

Swinging Into Action

By Brian Marshall

"We want to go all the way," stated Mike Muhlethaler eary in the year, "but that all depends on how much we want to win." And win they did.

For being a team with only four returning Varsity players and eleven new recruits, the Falcon Varsity Baseball team definitely had the killer instinct. "Destroying Hoover would give the team an enormous lift," commented Bryan Von Lossberg. But do not get the wrong impression. The '86 Varsity team was a very close knit group of guys, filled with enthusiasm, cooperation and an eagerness to play and to win.

With the aid of the inspirational leadership of returning All-Leaguers Mike Muhlethaler and Bryan Von Lossberg, as well as powerhouse hitter, Chris Majors, centerfielder Ed Brill, pitcher Kelly Maebe, and leftfielder Brett Anderson, the team started off the season with a good reputation, as they played a grueling game against San Gabriel's all returning Varsity team, which ended in a tie.

But, the mighty Blue could not have had such a successful season without the fundamental intensity of Head Coach Randy Siebert and fielding and hitting coaches Greg Vasquez (a former All-American) and Jim Cancelossi (former All-League).

When the team entered the '86 season, their goals were set high in order to achieve greatness, and as the year came to a close, they had proved their dedication and devotion needed to accomplish these goals.

JV's Give Striking Performance

By Kelly Ingram

Upon entering baseball season, the JV Boys' team had two main goals: to win league and to be better than previous years' teams.

A strong defense, led by Chris Tavizon, John Mezak and Trevor Voecks, was nurtured by rookie Coach Bob Canfield who decided to leave Varsity and take charge of the Varsity-bound players.

A successful season was obtained through strong hitting and overall aggressiveness. "Everyone had a positive attitude and outlook on the season," stated Erik Anderson.

The quality exhibited by the JV team definitely set a precedent for future teams.

KEEPING THE TRADITION

Dedication Pays Off

By Mike Muhlethaler

The 1986 Girls' Varsity Softball squad showed their repeated excellence in a bid for their fourth straight league title. ince joining the Pacific League four years go, the Falcon women have enjoyed a perfect ecord, capturing the title each of the three revious years.

Carrying the load this year was vivacious sophomore pitcher, Heather Lindstrom. After a brilliant year on the JV squad and a couple of high-experience innings during last year's Varsity playoffs, her ability was more than enough to get the job done. Other key players were All-CIF third-baseman, Lisa Erickson, 1st Team All-League catcher, Landa Temple and All-Leaguers Krista Miller and Deneil Dover.

The spirited attitude of the team, propelled by the returning leaders, helped to boost the team to the top. "We played with enthusiasm throughout the entire season and our winning record proved it," said a proud Krista Miller. Head Coach Dan Berry praised the girls' accomplishments and is looking to 1987 to be an even more successful year.

JV's Shut All Out

By Kelly Ingram

In only their third year of existence, the JV Girls' Softball team, with two league championships already grasped, again played for the Pacific League title.

Led by shortstop Kris Janitor, rightfielder Beth Broyles, catcher Tina Rogers and potential Varsity pitchers Jenny Berry and Shannon Schmiedeberg, the relatively young team dedicated themselves in practice to excel in league. Coach Larry Brushett stated, "This is the best team yet, because the talent is balanced; we are geared for speed and we are ready to hit."

CV FROGMEN FLOURISH

Outstroking the Opponent

By Karyn Foster

"We're not favored, but we are a strong team with a lot of potential." Acting captain, Scott Morris, had a good reason to be optimistic about the Boys' Varsity Swim team's performance. With workouts three mornings per week and everyday after school, the team's potential became even greater.

Individual achievements from Neal Mathisen in butterfly, Darren Martin and Greg Petersen in freestyle, Matt Jesse in backstroke, and Scott Morris in breast stroke created the team's strong front line. Adding to that strength was the dynamic medley relay line-up, which included Morris, Mathisen, Jesse and Freshman David Ellis. The team's winning abilities came out early to help them grasp their first victory at their first meet, a tri-meet against LaPuente and Blair.

Varsity's only weakness seemed to be that there was no depth, only the front line, but with the guidance of Coach Pat Snickles, the team strove to overcome this weakness.

Along with the Varsity team, the Boys' Soph/Frosh team held its own. The young team looked good with outstanding efforts from Josiah Glass in the 50 and 100 freestyle, Travis Neale in the 100 breast stroke, 50 freestyle and the relay and John Minasyan in the 100 freestyle and 100 breast stroke. In fact, they had a strong chance to do well in league.

Seeing to it that his team gave its best was returning coach, Jimmy Campillo. He worked the swimmers hard on their individual strokes and techniques and built up their endurance, preparing them for a successful season and for the almost inevitable jump to Varsity. "They all had excellent attitudes and were willing to work hard," expressed Coach Campillo. "I really got along with my guys!"

This cameraderie helped Soph/Frosh to also win their first meet and to excel throughout the season.

Looks Squeaky Clean

By Scott Morris

Take your mark . . . SPLASH! The Girls' Varsity and Soph/Frosh Swim teams were off to a great start. A short way into their season, both teams racked-up two victories.

Strong swimmers for the teams included Georgia Gatewood and Karen Edwards in the freestyle, Kelly Moore in the backstroke and Diana Harmon in the butterfly. The free-relay team also scored many points for the girls.

The teams were coached by Mary Peterson, the Soph/Frosh coach, and Jimmy Campillo, the girl's head coach. ''The teams looked good,'' said coach Campillo. ''We have a lot of potential and a lot of talent.''

With iron determination, the girls hit the water everyday after school. Midway into the season, the girls began double workouts. This meant that they were in the water from 6:30 to 7:30 in the morning plus the afternoon workouts.

''It's fun to cheer at swim meets,'' said songleader Kim Kummer. ''The girls always have so much energy.''

SPRING INTO ACTION

Gymnastics Tumble Upon Success

By Shina Thavanthana

With the influence of Nadia Comaneci, Olga Korbut and the recent all-around gold medal winner of the 1985 Olympics, Mary Lou Retton, gymnastics has become the fastest growing sport. It is an amazing sport requiring intense concentration, hard work and self-discipline.

As the sport of gymnastics has progressed and strengthened, so has the Crescenta Valley Girls' Gymnastics team. In the past four years, the gymnastics team has pushed its way to CIF Prelims and has produced several CIF finalists.

Encouraged by their coaches Laree Martin and her three daughters: Day, Dawn and Durrette. The girls practiced two hours a day with hopes of success running throughout them. "We have a very strong team," expressed Laree Martin. "We are in a new league this year, but we should do very well and advance to the CIF Finals."

Gymnastics consists of four events: the parallel bars, the balance beam, the vault and the floor. Many of the girls performed in only one or two events, but eight highly skilled girls: Michelle Ribas, Jill DeVore, Jennie Jensen Joanne Yee, Stephanie Novak Jennifer Ellwood and InSoo Hwang competed in all four events "Since we all work so closel together, we have become a fam ly," commented InSoon Hwang "Besides learning the skills o gymnastics, I have also learned th importance of friendship and tea unity," which were essential fo the team's success.

Tennis Raises a Racket

By Debbie Franzon

It was not exactly Wimbledon, but CV boasted a successful tennis team this year. Both JV and Varsity teams started the season off right with wins against Saugus. The Varsity team was under the direction of Mike Johnson. He had been a coach at CV in previous years and returned this year, easily gaining the respect of his players.

The Varsity team was led by senior singles' players Marc Tirotta and Jeff Gharib. These two outstanding players guided the team to victory. The team was also strong in doubles' with the help of dynamic duo Dan Roh and Jim Busalacchi, and also Greg Wuerfel and Nichlas Hontanx.

The JV team proved to be very good throughout the season. They had a win over Burroughs which set them on the path to victory. The JV team was led by Coach James Yang. Sam Cho and Fred Yim proved to be great assets to the team.

The tennis team had expectations of finishing third overall, and if their first few games were any indication, they were well on their way.

GOING TO CIF
Continuing Their Dominance

Golf

By John Stultz

Coming from a first place season last year, the Golf team predicted it would do well again as the team felt it had the depth and talent to repeat its performance. Led by Wes Hughes, Keith Kinsel, Greg Platupe and James Hong, this potent group had a strong desire to go to CIF.

"The Coach inspired us to perform to our maximum potential. We're better this year with the addition of the Hong brothers and Scott Lipscomb," commented Keith Kinsel, who added, "I think we should get some mascots if we don't choke in CIF."

The team practiced at the La Canada Country Club, Verdugo Hills, Scholl Canyon and the Oakmont Country Club. They practiced one hour everyday and their games, as many as three per week, took all day. Yet, with confidence and enthusiasm, the team looked forward to future success.

Badminton

By Grace Lee

"Badminton, anyone?"

Badminton may not be the most popular spectator sport, but it ranked high in team camaraderie and sportsmanship.

Because the sport looked easy, some students mistakenly called it an "easy" sport. "This one football player thought he could easily beat anyone from the badminton team, so he challenged a team member. "Well," chuckled Kym Henderson, "that guy will never say that Badminton is easy again!"

Although the team lost its first game, their performances in future games promised success due mainly to the excellence of the returning players. "The Badminton team is much improved over last year," commented Coach Pat Wells. "The players are more experienced, and should produce a better win-loss record."

The Badminton team boasted a collection of excellent players such as Chris Johnson, Phillip Koshy, Carol Belle and Beau Durkee. The team members agreed that badminton provided a comfortable occasion where they could compete in a friendly atmosphere. Phillip Koshy remarked, "The team epitomizes the best in sportsmanship and team effort."

DEMOCRACY AT WORK

By Juli Oh

Associated Student Body Cabinet. These words represented the voice of the students. Cabinet was a group of students elected by their peers to organize all activities. Homecoming and dances did not just happen, and who made sure ASB cards were issued? Obviously, these people did more than wander the halls during second period.

All aspects of Homecoming were run by Cabinet. This included the election of the court, all activities during the week, and most important of all, the dance. Stag Dances would not have happened without Cabinet either. Many students might not have realized it, but the people who sold the tickets at the door were all members of the Cabinet.

Aside from the social aspects of school, it was Cabinet's responsibility to keep the student body informed. The Director of Publicity wrote bulletins, the Vice-President ran the Student Congress meetings, and the other elected officers, from ASB President to Girls' League President, performed their own specific duties. This was all advised and approved by Mrs. Dianne Jensen, who made sure everyone did what he was supposed to.

So, next time you are at a dance, you use your ASB card, or hear a bulletin, remember who was behind it all!

STUDENT CONGRESS SPEAKS OUT

KEEPING CV INFORMED

By Juli Oh

The job of CV's ASB Cabinet was to represent the student body. However, to represent the views of the students airly, it was necessary for the Cabinet to know ow the majority of the students felt. This was here Student Congress came in.

Student Congress was an organization of udents who met monthly, or whenever neces- ary, to give Cabinet input on new ideas and receive information on the current activities at CV. The meetings were led by ASB Vice-President Brad Hamilton in the fall and ASB Vice-President Laura Hietter in the spring. They were both assisted by their respective cabinets. The Student Congress officers were simply representatives from every second period class whose job it was to report the important upcoming events to their classes.

The importance of Student Congress cannot be overlooked. It was difficult for the majority of the students to always know what was happening at CV. The daily bulletin usually kept people informed, but did not tell much about the event or its purpose. Student Congress informed students and, at the same time, encouraged them to get involved. This served to generate more enthusiasm and spirit from the student body. Student Congress was definitely a major influence at CV.

TOP 25 SHOW DIVERSITY

MORE THAN BOOKWORMS

By Jill Williams

The group of seniors labeled the exclusive "Top 25" earned this position through three years of diligence. Toiling to keep their grades up resulted in impressive GPA's ranging from 3.79 to 4.27. Students were able to raise their GPA's above a 4.0 with the help of the Advanced Placement system. These accelerated classes that were offered added one extra point to the grade earned by the student.

Considering their scholastic achievements, it would be hard to imagine these students as more than studyaholics. On the contrary, they far surpassed the image of the "academic couch potato" and immersed themselves in extracurricular activities including language clubs, Math clubs, CSF, NHS, Pep Squad, Band, Yearbook, Drama, ASB, sports and youth groups. Throughout their high school years, this unique group of 25 students deserved praise for their perserverence and their proof that impressive grades can fall hand-in-hand with student involvement.

THE PRIME CUT STUDENTS

GRADE AA

High Achievers Excel

By Shina Thavanthana

Crescenta Valley has always been commended for its academic achievements. It takes great pride, for CV has produced many extraordinary students who strive for the best and accomplish more than what is expected of them.

In October 1984, students, mostly juniors, found themselves in a Saturday morning, taking an unappealing three-hour test. The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, consisting of 80 verbal and 80 math questions, is designed to give juniors a sampling of the SAT, which would be taken later, as well as a chance to qualify for the National Merit Scholarships.

Commended students, who often times scored slightly below the level required for semifinalist standing, placed in the top five percent nationwide, and the semifinalists were those who placed in the top one-half percent.

Four CV students, Terry Christopher, James Mixon, Karen Oslund and Bryan VonLossberg placed among the top 50,000 of the 1.1 million students who took part in the National Merit Program for their outstanding scores on the PSAT/NMSQT. Congratualtions, we are very proud of you.

Superior Students Receive Awards

The competition for the Bank of America Achievement Awards was INTENSE. Teachers nominated students who would best represent the field of Math and Science, Liberal Arts or Applied and Fine Arts.

These contestants were then placed in panels where they were given a topic and then only had fifteen minutes to prepare an opening statement. After each student read his own paragraph, an open debate began. Nominees were able to express their comments and discuss each other's ideas. The panel who was made up of three faculty members from each of the respective fields then posed questions for the students.

The members of the panel judged each individual's performance, his academic achievements and his participation in school and community activities. Finally, thirteen students were chosen for certificates of recognition and five were plaque winners who then proceeded to the zone competition.

LEADERSHIP EXPLODES AT CV

A Quest for Gold

By Kim Kummer

What better way is there to meet new people and develop new friendships than by joining the largest club on campus? This club, the California Scholarship Federation, CSF, is part of a state-wide organization, and at CV, it was one of the most prestigious clubs in which to belong.

The members of CSF consisted of academically high-achieving students. These students especially put their cooking skills to the test, since their main fundraisers were bake sales. Other highlights, other than baking cookies, were CSF night at Disneyland and the annual year-end banquet.

Recognition was especially given to sealbearers, those members who had been in CSF four semesters, at graduation. They were decorated with gold tassels, a CSF pin and gold chords.

Credit for the success of CSF in '85-'86 was due to President Bryan Von Lossberg and Advisors Mrs. Paulette Lee and Mrs. Linda Evans. Being a part of CSF definitely added to the excitement and pleasure of "the best years of your life."

NHS Serves All

It is said that from every crowd, a leader emerges. In CV, there is no exception. Many leaders emerged as they became a part of the National Honor Society.

Many juniors and seniors, with leadership qualities and at least a 3.5 grade point average, applied to this distinctive club. All applicants were carefully examined by Advisors Mrs. Leinenweber and Mrs. Jones. They chose potential members on the basis of their leadership ability, community and school activities, character and academic achievement. Then, these potential members' names were submitted to the faculty for recommendations. Upon teacher approval, designated applicants were confirmed as new NHS members with national recognition.

In addition to national recognition, NHS was highly noted for their community service. At Christmas time, the club sponsored two local needy families by furnishing them with canned food collected by the members.

All NHS activities ran smoothly and successfully under the direction of President Aaron Rose. NHS provided ourstanding leadership and service to both the school and the community.

STAFF WRITES ON

EXTRA! EXTRA!

You mean the deadline is tomorrow? Laura Hietter is stunned with the overwhelming workload involved in putting out the paper.

By Shina Thavanthana

What is involved in being a Falcon reporter? Responsibility? Insight? Hard Work?Committments? A certain sixteen people would say all of the above and more. The Journalism Staff diligently worked to produce a top quality paper containing a wide range of issues.

Besides reporting on the many school events, the hard-working staff tackled controversial issues such as teen suicide and AIDS. ''Our goal was to make the paper both entertaining and informative for all.'' expressed Kathy Lee.

Journalism encountered a few changes in their format. First of all, they produced an advice column, ''June and Ward''. This was found to be one of the more humorous sections of the paper as the duality of advice was given with June expressing optimistic, practical advice and Ward, on the other hand, hurling pessimistic, stabbing remarks.

Editor Cindy Lee commented, ''To be a good reporter you must be dedicated, efficient and versatile.'' These aspects were challenged this year when their computer was stolen. All the work they had entrusted into this system was lost, but they quickly got to work on a new issue. ''Everyday was a new challenge,'' voiced Stacee Graham. ''We were continually faced with new problems and predicaments.''

Even so, the Journalism Staff never gave up and kept on producing a quality paper of which they can be proud.

HIDDEN TALENTS REVEALED

CV'S BUDDING WRITERS

The Old . . .

By Juli Oh

Even though it turned eighteen, the Ark, CV's annual literary journal, in which all students were welcome to submit poems and literary works, was as creative as ever. Having your submission published was quite an honor, since all submissions were put through a highly selective process. To make sure the selections were fair, students were asked to submit more than one copy, one with their name, the other anonymously. This insured that the writings selected were the best ones and not chosen through a biased decision.

This lengthy process was performed by a staff of approximately twenty-five people, headed by the Ark's new advisor, Mrs. McQuilkin, who took over in the middle of the year after longtime advisor Mr. Thomas decided to hand the reigns over to someone else. To be on staff, one must have a GPA of 3.0 and have taken an advanced writing class.

Applications and teacher recommendations were also needed. The staff read scores of stories and poems submitted by hopeful students, and after careful consideration, a few arguments and lots of time, the writings that were good enough to be published in the Ark were selected. The hard part was over. Then, the staff put on the finishing touches, and the Ark came out at the end of the year to an eager student body.

. . . and the New

New endeavors were popular at CV, especially Ms. Morris' new literary journal, Journeys. At first it sounded like another Ark, but Journeys was something all its own. While the Ark published mostly poetry, Journeys printed all prose, non-fiction, fiction; in short, everything but poetry. All submissions were made in the fall, and for its first year, Journeys did very well.

Soon, the staff of about twenty-five, led by Editor-in-Chief Brian Loeb, Art Editor Nina Vafaie and Associate Editors Kristin Western and Heidi Hurst, was swamped with an overwhelming eighty submissions. Of course, all eighty did not make it into the publication. As Brian Loeb adamantly stated, "Only the really good ones were printed."

The selection of Journeys staff was similar to that of the Ark. Requirements included a previous writing class, application, teacher recommendation and, of course, an interest in writing.

Journeys came out at the end of the year and was highly popular with the student body.

A NOTE OF SUCCESS

SING OUT

By Kim Kummer

"Just sing, sing a song, make it happy to last your whole life long . . . So sing!" Many CV students took this song to their hearts as they joined one of the singing classes and prepared themselves for a year full of laughter, rehersals and songs.

Because so many desired to sing in Women's Glee Club, Miss Nute, the choral director, split the girls into two classes: Women's Ensemble and Women's Glee. There were twenty-four girls in the Ensemble and forty girls in the Glee Club. The boys at CV also had interest in singing. Twenty-seven young men met third period for Men's Glee Club.

The three classes together performed in such events as the Christmas program and the Spring program. Festivals were also held where these singers were able to show off their talent to other schools and also to learn techniques from the other schools.

Because they had caught the singing bug, some of the singers wanted more. These advanced singers formed the Barbershop and Barberettes. The four boys and four girls met at lunchtimes to practice for their performances. They sang at the Spring Pops Concert as well as appearing at many of the banquets and activities, such as the Mother-Daughter and Father-Daughter dinners.

Also included in the music department of CV was the Jazz Club. With a common liking of relatively contemporary music, this club met at lunch to plan their numerous activites. One such plan was entertaining those people in the lobby of the auditorium before the performance of the Feast of Lights by playing Christmas carols.

CHOIR SINGS WITH STYLE

DO RE MI . . .

By Cathy Smith

Do, re, mi, fa, sew, la, tea . . . The Von Trapp family in La Crescenta? Of course not! Anyone with the slightest knowledge of music knows that the lyrical and melodious harmonies which originate from the famous room 703 are produced by Crescenta Valley's own A Cappella Choir!

Under the direction of the renowed Shirley Nute, this forty-five member chorus gained its prestige and fame by consisting exclusively of talented, dedicated musicians. The necessity of auditions enabled perfectly-pitched voices to be chosen and assembled, therefore producing stunning performances.

In December, the long, hard hours of strenuous and often monotonous practice were finally revealed to the school and community through the ''Feast of Lights,'' the annual Christmas program. The members also put on an ever-popular ''Pops Concert'' in March and a Spring Concert in May.

A Cappella, however, was not only a school organization designed for school enjoyment. These gifted singers also serve as representatives of the community by singing in various churches and participating in many festivals including the Loyola Marymount Invitational and conventions such as the Southern California Vocal Association.

A smaller branch of the choir is made up by the charismatics, a close-knit extention consisting of fifteen hardworking, musically skilled individuals. Led by the vibrant Tina Quick and devoting Monday nights to practice, these performers entertained audiences at private parties, convalescent homes, churches, the YWCA and various other women's clubs.

The highlight of the year however, as most members would agree, was the traditional three-day ''June Tour'' which took the members to an elementary school in Los Angeles, through a convalescent home in Santa Barbara, on to a church in San Louis Obispo and by finally wrapping everything up with an entire day of fun to spend in the vivacious town of San Francisco.

In general, the members of both the A Cappella Choir and Charismatics entertained and pleased numerous amounts of people, not only in the school and community, but also throughout the state of California with their inspiring music. After all, ''The Hills are Alive . . .''

DOES 2 + 2 REALLY EQUAL 4?

THE TRUE DEBATE

Speech and Debate

By Cathy Smith

How do you spell relief? R-O-L-A-I-D-S, of course! By presenting the life of a small antacid tablet and other debatable topics in an entertaining yet sophisticated manner, members of this unique and extraordinary club had the matchless experience of delivering the beneficial yet often absurd "impromptu speech."

What organization is this, do you ask? The answer is, nothing less than CV's prestigious Speech and Debate Club! Consisting of crafty minds set into motion, this association of about forty dedicated members loyally congregated in the room of advisor Joe Jensen, on the third Thursday of every month. A popular manner of spending lunch, members enthusiastically created debate teams and disputed over such arguments as whether or not guys should be allowed to wear tuxedos to Homecoming and Junior Prom.

Considering the benefits of his club, President Ian Ullman stated, "We're the only club on campus that enables us to express ourselves and our individual feelings artistically and creatively." Although dedicated to laughter and amusement, Speech and Debate was reputed as a highly dignified club. Ullman continued, "It allows students to decide on and take a stand for issues relevent to our society and our lives."

Thrilled by the opportunity of voicing opinion and the challenge of competing, a select group of students, propelled by this inspiration, took an active part in presenting community speeches. Inciting a sense of partiotism and a love for one's country, as well as a chance to earn large sums of scholarship money, members entered such popular contests as the Bill of Rights Competition, the Lion and Optimist Club competitions and the Voice of Democracy Speech.

Impelled by various fundraisers such as field trips to entertaining game shows and through the influential Walkman raffle, Speech and Debate combined both learning and amusement into one influential club!

Mu Alpha Theta

$E = mc^2$??? Can a mathematical equation such as this possibly contain a fragment of relevance to the everyday life of a high school teenager? Considering Einstein's theory, probably not. In fact, to most, the single word "math" has the uncontrollable capability of causing fearful, trembling seizures, aroused by the sight of a chastising, four-sided rhombus or a torturous quadratic equation.

Despite this common assumption towards this often criticized subject, Mu Alpha Theta, more commonly known as the Math Club, attracted approximately 115 members, making it the largest club on campus. With calculators in hand and with their "thinking caps" on, faithful members religiously flocked to the auditorium to be challenged, yet stumped, by intelligence — testers and brain teasers.

Commanded by its president, Ben Edwards, and supervised by advisors Ron Klint and Bob Allen, the Math Club not only served the community by providing a benefi cial tutoring program, but also enjoyed a prosperous year on campus provided by the benefits o the traditional See's Sucker sale Selling over 3,000 of these tasty "parallelograms", the club set a personal record, earning a sweeping profit of approximately $920

What does this figure mean? Yes, it does mean scholarships fo a few math-oriented and talented seniors, but to the majority of the Math — Clubbers, this three-digit number represented something better than an "A" on a trig test — Food! The fact was proven that this club not only possessed the knowledge of solving equations, but served the best refreshments as well. After all, who said math could not be fun? In the eyes of these selected students, E nter- tainment = m ath c² lub!!!

FOREIGN FANATICS

LANGUAGES UNITE

By Jill Williams

So what if they were ''Born in the USA''! CV students gathered to immerse themselves in traditions and cultures of various countries as exemplified by the Spanish, French and German Clubs. These clubs held monthly meetings to discuss student-involving activities, collect dues and plan fundraisers to provide money for any spontaneous excursions!

Peeking into the room of French Club Advisor Mrs. Cohen during a meeting, one would reach an awareness of the numerous rewards it offered. The club's classroom luncheons and discussions about the destiny of the French Club activities gave all members a chance to get acquainted with the language and with each other. Led by President Kristen Holmquist, Vice-President Cindy Passmore, Secretary Serina Tremayne and Treasurer Anna Larson, the club members sold chocolate and raised funds to cover expenses such as renting French movies! In addition, the French Club dined at the ''magnifique'' Cafe Casino. When asked her opinion about working as a 1985-86 French Club Officer, secretary Serina Tremayne responded enthusiastically, ''It was a great opportunity for my friends and I to make the French Club an exciting one to be a part of!''

Although the German Club members were mainly supposed to gain knowledge of the country and its language, numerous students, with or without German language background, gathered to more or less have a good time! They kicked off the year at Melinda Ehlers' house with a Das Boot party and followed with other educational/socializing events throughout the following months. On ''Friday the 13th'' of December, they proved the superstition of that day false by celebrating Germany, breaking the monotony of commonplace Friday nights, and having a blast, too! Following tradition, this year they sold sausages as one of their profitable fundraisers. Keeping the rambunctious club members in order was credited to Mr. Bachman, and to the leadership of President Brian Loeb, Vice-President Drew Wheeler, Secretary Melinda Ehlers and Treasurer Daryl Zerfass.

''¡Que Ano!'' exclaimed Spanish Club Treasurer Stacee Graham when the actio packed year came to a close. Eager clu members participated in a variety of activitie Included was a journey downtown to Olve Street to inundate themselves with Mexica Christmas traditions and festivities. Amor other plans came the trip to Ensanada, whic all members anticipated. Advisors Mr Leinenweber and Mr. Gibson kept the nois level to a dull roar and also helped the clu officers manage the club's affairs. The tru goal of the Spanish Club came through wi flying colors. Brock Pauly stated, ''Ou purpose was to enrich our knowledge of Spa and Mexico AND to have a great time!!''

These three clubs provided solid grounds f gaining appreciation for countries other tha our own. If for no other reason, students we thankful for their involvement due to joinin with friends each month at the meetings. Th clubs gave its members opportunities to lea about exotic, foreign lands and possibly eve to implant a new yearning to hop on a jet an explore vast stretches of these unique cou tries!

CV'S DOMINANT SEX TAKES CONTROL

GIRLS IN COMMAND

Girls Stay Active

By Debbie Franzon

It has been said that behind every powerful man stood a woman. There seems to be some truth to that statement. At CV, students found that Girls' League was responsible for many of the activities that went on at school. For instance, the first dance of the year was a product of the hard work and commitment of Girls' League.

Girls' League was the largest club on campus, since it was open to all girls. It got girls actively involved in activities such as the Backwards Dance, the Dad-Daughter Dinner, Mother-Daughter Dinner and the May Day flower sale. Many students did not realize how much planning, creativity and hard work went into each activity.

Leadership of this club was accredited to first semester President Tina Quick and second semester President Diane Powell. They were helped by faithful board members Suzanne Roski, Pam Poole, Debbie Franzon, Juli Oh, Jill Williams, Cathy Smith, Jennie Jensen, Kim Kummer, Kim Davy and Sun Kim. They all loyally attended the required board meetings on every other Monday.

Girls' League was a great way to make new friends and get involved. All the girls dedicated a lot to make everything run smoothly. Kim Kummer said, ''It took up a lot of time, but it was time spent with friends.'' Girls' League truly showed that the women were the brains behind many school activities.

Services Rendered

The ''S'' is for service? Not just service, but superior service! ''S'' Club was made up of a group of girls dedicated to serving their school and community. These girls unselfishly gave their time and had fun doing it.

Some may wonder what being a member of ''S'' Club actually entails. After all, the word ''service'' could imply a number of things. The club started off the year with their annual candy sale. Delicious, chocolaty candy bars were enjoyed by many students, thanks to ''S'' Club. As Christmas approached, these girls adopted a family to whom they sent food and money in an effort to make the family's holiday season special. The girls decided to stay in the spirit of giving so they continued to support the family throughout the year. The club also went out into the community and volunteered their time to a convalescent home.

These activities did not appear magically. They were the product of the ''S'' Club President Heather Ahern and her dedicated board members Karen Hardee, Cathy Smith, Cheryl Lane, Tina Rhee, Debbie Stephen, Lynette Wilkins and Leanna Stephen. The ''S'' Club was fun for all those involved and proved to be a great way to show the spirit of giving.

STUDENTS EXPLORE OTHER LANDS

NEW HORIZONS

By Shina Thavanthana

Imagine yourself sun bathing on the white sandy beaches of Greece, shopping in exquisite Paris, climbing the Eiffel Tower or driving at unbelievable speeds on the Autobahn in Germany. To travel the world, taste exotic foods and experience new cultures are opportunities of which people only dream. Five fortunate CV students, Dawn Ott, Greece; Cheryl LaMee and Alli Beatty, France and England; Matt Jesse, Germany; and Greg Wilson, England, Scotland, and Wales, experienced all these and more.

"The beaches of Greece were so amazingly beautiful that one could not imagine them unless one saw them in person," expressed Dawn Ott enthusiastically. The month Dawn spent traveling around Greece's most magnificent islands was "a memory never to be forgotten!" Just north of there, Cheryl LaMee and Alli Beatty were finding adventure climbing the Eiffel Tower, touring Versailles and crossing London Bridge. "I wanted to stay in London forever! It's like a fairy-tale city with huge castles and elegant, old-fashioned buildings," expressed Cheryl.

Well, now that we have just experienced a small taste of fabulous Europe, who would ever have thought the great "U.S. of A" was also considered a dream country. We often take for granted the freedom and opportunities America offers. Four lucky students, Anne Faber, Denmark; Śonia Schricker, Switzerland; Luis Carvajal, Spain; and Lutz Roepcke, West Germany, were also able to experience a little "Americana." "Being a foreign exchange student and traveling to America is what every student in Denmark hopes for," commented Anne Faber. The Youth For Understanding (YFU) program offered willing students fun, new countries and long-lasting memories. The students made many new friends and left memorable impressions, as well.

HELPING OUT

CAMPUS CLUBS GIVE AID

The "Key" to Service

By Juli Oh

How would you like to convince people to give blood? Whatever for, you ask? Any Key Club member would have known. This club, headed by President Allen Nalbandian, Vice-President Aaron Rose, Secretary Brett Beck, Treasurer Bryan Von Lossberg, Sergeant-at-Arms Sam Levering and advisors Harriet Rothschild and Joan Shoff, provided services to the school and community. It was unique in that it was affiliated with the Kiwanis Club of La Crescenta from whom these dedicated students received support and encouragement.

Key Club was responsible for, or involved in, just about everything that went on at CV. Because of their persuasive arguments, many overcame their fears and gave blood to the Red Cross Blood Drive, which was, of course, sponsored by Key Club.

A new program, called Safe Rides, began at CV, in which many Key Club members eagerly participated. In signing up for Safe Rides, one volunteered to pick-up people who called Safe Rides because they felt they were in no condition to make it home safely. Other Key Club projects included aiding needy families during the holidays, being responsible for the marquee, supervising track meets, passing out programs at concerts, acting as guides on Back-to-School Night and serving dads, moms, and daughters at the Girls' League sponsored dinners.

Since Key Club was strictly a club for school and community service, there were no dues. Therefore, the club also worked on ways to raise money. They decided to forego the ever-popular bake sale. "No more bake sales!" an exasperated officer was heard to remark, and optioned for the slightly, but not much more, original pizza night.

The hard-working students and adults of Key Club were much appreciated by all. Mrs. Rothschild's opinion of this organization was that of many others. "I was truly impressed by the enthusiasm of the officers and general members. I am looking forward to seeing what they will do in the future."

More Than Just Jocks

Believe it or not, the sole purpose of the Lettermen's Club was not to attend basketball games and intimidate both the referees and opposing teams with their rowdy behavior. The Lettermen's Club was a service club, a fact of which many students were unaware. However, this group of athletes involved themselves in many ways. Helping organizations was a major Lettermen's Club project that the Tim Richards' Fair, Oktoberfest, Football Team and Girls' League, to name a few, greatly appreciated. Lettermen set up booths and tables and served as waiters for both the Father/Daughter and Mother/Daughter Dinners. In addition, they proctored the course at the Kenny Staub Invitational Track Meet to make sure no one cheated.

Led by advisor Dan DeMonbrun, more popularly known as Coach "D", President Bryan Von Lossberg, Vice-President Brian Marshall, Secretary/Treasurer Brad Hamilton, and Sergeant-at-Arms Jose LaPorte, the Lettermen's Club was also in charge of issuing patches and chevrons, the latter being earn by attending a certain number of sporti events and performing community servic which was not all that easy. Therefore, the chevrons were a source of pride, meant to worn for the whole world to see. There we some who even had up to three chevrons; qu an accomplishment.

Then there was the lighter side of t Lettermen's Club. Plans were made to all g together to watch the Monday night Rams v Raiders game, and also a hockey game. Thin like this made the club a fun one in which to b or as one member put it, "Easy-going Coa 'D' makes the club the one you want to go the most."

All in all, the Lettermen's Club was an ass to school and community. However, there w one problem, that of complaints regardi eligibility. All CV athletes who had parti pated or lettered in a sport were welcome. T one exception: no females. This was one iss that never got resolved. Nevertheles President Bryan Von Lossberg came up wi one solution. "The girls are welcome to fo their own Lettergirls' Club." Well, girls?

ON AND OFF STAGE SCENES

By Kim Kummer

No, it is not Tinsel Town, but the limelight of Crescenta Valley. Enriching their drama skills, the Drama Club prepared for their future stardom in Hollywood.

The Drama Club filled their calendars with various activities. Most of their energies went into the production of the Fall and Spring plays. Lolipop Players also put on a children's play.

"The meetings opened horizons in the field of acting," commented Dave Roberts. During these lunchtime meetings, the Drama members presented skits, short scenes and various other performances.

Besides rehearsing for their own plays, the Drama Club took time to see others such as The Nutcracker and plays presented by Glendale College's drama department.

But, what would a play be without a stage crew? CV's Stage Crew not only worked on the production of the Drama Club's plays, but also on the Advanced Dance Assembly, the ASB assemblies and many other assemblies. In fact, any program in the audit rium, whether for school or private party, involved the work the Stage Crew.

Thanks to the Drama Club a Stage Crew, entertainment nev disappeared from the spotlight Crescenta Valley High School.

Sci-Fi and Korean Clubs Enliven CV

FANTASIA TO THE ORIENT

Science Fiction

By Jill Williams

When entering room 133 during a Science Fiction club meeting, one immediately became enveloped in another world. Not only did the members of this club all get along socially, but they also shared a common interest in the Fantasia of Science Fiction.

To begin an eventful year, the group visited the home of Sci-Fi author and collector Forrest J. Ackerman. Everyone who went admitted to having a fantastic time, and that it was an experience none would have missed. Another memory from the Science Fiction Club built from their games of "Trivia Time", where members answered Science Fiction trivia questions for prizes.

Paying only two dollars for membership, those in Science Fiction Club received their money's worth and more! Gaining knowledge about Science Fiction, the members also created valuable friendships. The amiable organizers behind this club were Vice-President Randy Stepp, Treasurer Shane Saudy, Secretary Anne Wolf and Director of Activities John Zander.

Said President Andrew Sorcini with great confidence," This club, with the help of Advisor Ms. Morris, was better than it has ever been and is still improving!"

Korean Club

Considering that the Korean Club had only come into existence this year, it thrived on a successful attendance of ambitious members.

Meeting twice each month in Advisor Miss Kim's Chemistry room, this club centered its purpose around gaining appreciation for Korea and its culture.

For Thanksgiving this club baked nearly one hundred blueberry muffins for faculty members! Each muffin had a note attached to it from the recipient's "ideal" student, being, of course, the Korean Club members and their friends at CV. As a fundraiser, the club members had "topless" car wash, where the charged extra money to wash t tops of cars.

Leadership behind this uniq club included its responsib President — Albert Kim, a duet Vice-Presidents — Dan Roh a Gena Kim, the organize Secretary — Linda Kim, and trus worthy Treasurer Teresa Ry David Kim was chosen as t club's Director of Activities.

BLOOD FROM A STONE

YEARBOOK EXCELS!

By Ian Ullman

"You can't possibly understand what you have gotten yourself into. We tried to warn you, but you soon will see for yourselves."

They were warned the first day of the school year. For some reason, however, they didn't seem to mind the late hours, lack of social time and poor diet that all yearbook members have in common. "They" were and are the 1986 Talon staff.

No one understands the psyche of a yearbook staff member. It's all this odd combination of masochism, dedication and determination. It's the insane desire to produce a school year for publication before it has taken place. It is the ability to include just enou truth in your stories that they wo be challenged. It is the ability crop that impossible picture. It the ability to fabricate quotes. It the need to produce the perf layout.

Yearbook is a euphemism self-imposed punishment. Y somehow we all manage to enj it. Sick, aren't we?

ALIVE IN '86

By Cathy Smith

Question: What is the only association on campus composed of approximately 40 talented entertainers who express themselves through rhythmic and patterned bodily movements performed to music? Answer: Crescenta Valley's prestigious Advanced Dance! Although this seems to be an overly ornate way of defining this talented lot, the Advanced Dance class was definitely not just another ordinary group. In the eyes of their peers, these dancers were "professionals," dedicated to the love that they all shared: dancing.

The gym, usually thought of only for basketball and volleyball, was instantly transformed into a thriving dance studio every day during third period. The "team," directed by Mrs. Joan Shoff, carefully chose songs and prepared dances for the annual assembly in December which was, once again, a favorite among most students. Also, following tradition, the performers spent many hours of precious time and energy in preparing for the famous Dance Concert in May.

Advanced Dance of 1985-86, however, broke the usual custom in a greatly significant way. Although in the past, the group consisted soley of female members, three male individuals dared to be different by reaching out and taking the chance to prove their abilities to all who observed, by joining CV Dance. "I've always enjoyed dancing, and I wanted to apply it to something that required talent and technique," commented Aaron Rose. "It was hard at first adjusting to what the other guys thought of me, but you just have to go on with what you like and go for it."

Once again, the efforts of the dancers proved to be highly successful and rewarding. Practice and perfection were key words when describing their activities, but building countless friendships was also an unforgettable part of this unique and closely-knit group. For fame and all around self-satisfaction, the dancers paid their dues in long strenuous hours and countless beads of sweat, but in the end, Advanced Dance rewarded its members with an everlasting reimbursement uncomparable to any other.

CHEER AND YELL

PRIDE IN ACTION

By Scott Morris

Finally, the meaning of Pep has been determined: Pom-Poms, Enthusiasm and Perfection. Being a member of Pep was a thing that most people only dreamed about. But for those who decided that, ''they had what it took,'' when December rolled around, the race began.

''What do you mean, what do I expect? . . . well, I know that I have to try out, but . . . how many hours of practice? Well, at least I can rest during the summer, right? What do you mean MORE PRACTICE?!?'' Most people do not understand that all of that glamor takes a lot of work.

After being selected, the Pep Squad was off to camp, which was held at UC Irvine. For four days, the Pep Squad indulged in ''Girls! Girls! Girls!'' ''At least the Yell Leaders did,'' said Sam Levering. In spite of all the fooling around that occurred, they did practice. Because of their hard work, both the Yell Leaders and the Varsity Cheerleaders won superior trophies.

According to Teri Condon, the best part of Pep was working together to turn out good rallies. ''It always seemed that there was so much work to do, but so little time,'' she said.

The Varsity Cheerleaders and Yell Leaders, along with Mascots Kristy Turner and Jennifer Clause and Director of School Spirit Aaron Villasenor, provided hours of entertainment that was appreciated by the entire student body.

SPIRIT, STYLE AND SMILES!

PEP SQUAD SHINES

Smiles that catch the eye . . .

Peppy personalities . . .

Innovative routines and cheers . . .

Rallies that rouse enthusiasm . . .

Impressive style . . .

Talent that shines . . .

. . . The '85-'86 Pep Squad definitely showed the true meaning of the word. Their spirit was evident at every rally and sporting event. With an infinite flow of enthusiasm, the Songleaders and JV and Sophomore Cheerleaders kept crowd participation at its peak.

Beginning with long, hot summer practices, the squads prepared themselves for the whirlwind of activities that accompanied football season. During the summer, all the squads attended camp at UC Irvine where they received the highest award, the Unity trophy. With new cheers and fresh ideas, they were ready for the coming year.

From the start, the Songleaders displayed their unique and individual styles. Along with the pom-poms for which Songleaders are known, gloves were introduced into their routines. These added variety and made the routines fun to watch. Their rallies included such songs as "Human Touch", "Sussudio" and, probably their most memorable, "Egyptian Lover" from the Halloween rally. The Songleaders put tremendous effort and enthusiasm into their routines which made the year a memorable one.

Although they lacked a football team, the JV Cheerleaders had a great time cheering at six out of the ten Varsity games. Having their own baseball and basketbal teams, the JV Cheerleaders had fun cheering on their boys.

Last, but never least, were the Sophomo Cheerleaders. The Sophomores showed th unending spirit and school pride at eve opportunity. Ashley Novak and Jenn Speierman enthusiastically said, "We had a l of pride and loved doing everything for o team." Their favorite rally was at Hallowe when they performed a medley fro "Grease." The Sophomore Cheerleade definitely put the "cheer" in cheerleading!

WE GOT THE BEAT

By Kim Kummer

"Attention! Attention!" These words rang out as Drum Major Sean McCarty began to command Crescenta Valley's Band. Besides the numerous football games, the Band participated in various parades and field shows. Their long hours of hard work and preparation resulted in two first place awards for Rifles, a second place award for Flags and fourth and fifth place awards for Band. Lisa Detweiler commented, "Most people don't realize how much hard work it really does take to prepare for a show." Band added a special flare and style to the enthusiasm and spirit of CV.

Also, marching on to victory was "Rhythm n' Blues," CV's Drill Team. This proud team won many awards, such as first place in the Orange Competition, second place in the Riverside Competition and third place in the Verdugo Parade.

Not only did the Drill team put their hard work into competitions, but they also highlighted football games with stunning half-time shows. With a new march and new uniforms, their performances brought spirit to the festivities.

With many hours of hard work, 12 hours a week to be exact, the girls needed some relaxation, so they enthusiastically planned a slumber party. It gave the girls a chance to become even better friends.

Together, Crescenta Valley's Band and Drill Team put intensity into the school's spirit.

SKIING DOWN THE SLOPES TO COMPUTERLAND

MEGA BYTES TO FROST BITE

Skiers show style

By Debbie Franzon

For the Olympic hopefuls of the 1988 Winter Olympics, or for those who just ked to have a good time on the opes, an old club made its way ack to CV after a four-year bsence. The Ski Club, which arked much interest on campus, imbed the slopes of popularity.

The Ski Club was open to eryone, both the serious and not--serious skiers. All that was quired to join was a dues of $3, d a genuine interest in skiing.

The club, with Ms. Wells as visor, did not have the usual fices of President and Secretary, t instead was led by a group of ght students. This group in- uded John Bevan, Lyrae ckinson, Lady Duarte, Ben dwards, Jeff Gharib, Aileen avarro, Jeni Prata and Tyler illiams. They worked together to ganize and plan activities for the ub.

The club's activites were limited to the ski season, which with any luck, lasted through April. Jeni Prata said that the club planned to go on local ski trips, but it would depend on good skiing weather. They planned a ski trip to Utah over Christmas Vacation, but unfortunately their plans fell through. However, the board members were hopeful that they would go over Easter.

Whether people liked the bunny hill or skiing the face of the mountain, Ski Club was for everyone. Even non-skiers were welcome to join. After all, what better way to learn? A bit disappointed by the lack of snow this winter, Aileen Navarro said, "Well, if we can't ski, we'll surf!"

Computers are fun!

You hear the words tall-grass megabytes and wonder what they mean . . . a new insect repellant maybe? Well, if you were a member of the Computer Club, you would understand these words. For some, computer technology is something they will never comprehend; while for others, the understanding of computers is practically innate.

The Computer Club was a new addition to CV this year. Because of the increasing interest in computers, the Computer Club proved to be a good idea.

The Computer Club was advised by Mr. Marsh, one of the math and computer programming teachers at CV. This club was under the direction of some super computer wizards. Mark Bauman served as president with Caius Man as vice-president, Cindy Lee as secretary, Daryl Zerfass as treasurer, Eric Shay as program editor and Terry Christopher as public relations advisor.

On the agenda for the Computer Club was a number of computer—related activites. President Mark Bauman had plans for computer dating as a fund-raiser. Another activity that the club hoped to offer was to have the computer room open at snack and lunch for students interested in playing games and working on programs.

Being new on campus, the Computer Club was off to a slow start, but interest in the club continued to increase. The Computer Club was a great addition to CV and hopefully it will continue to be successful.

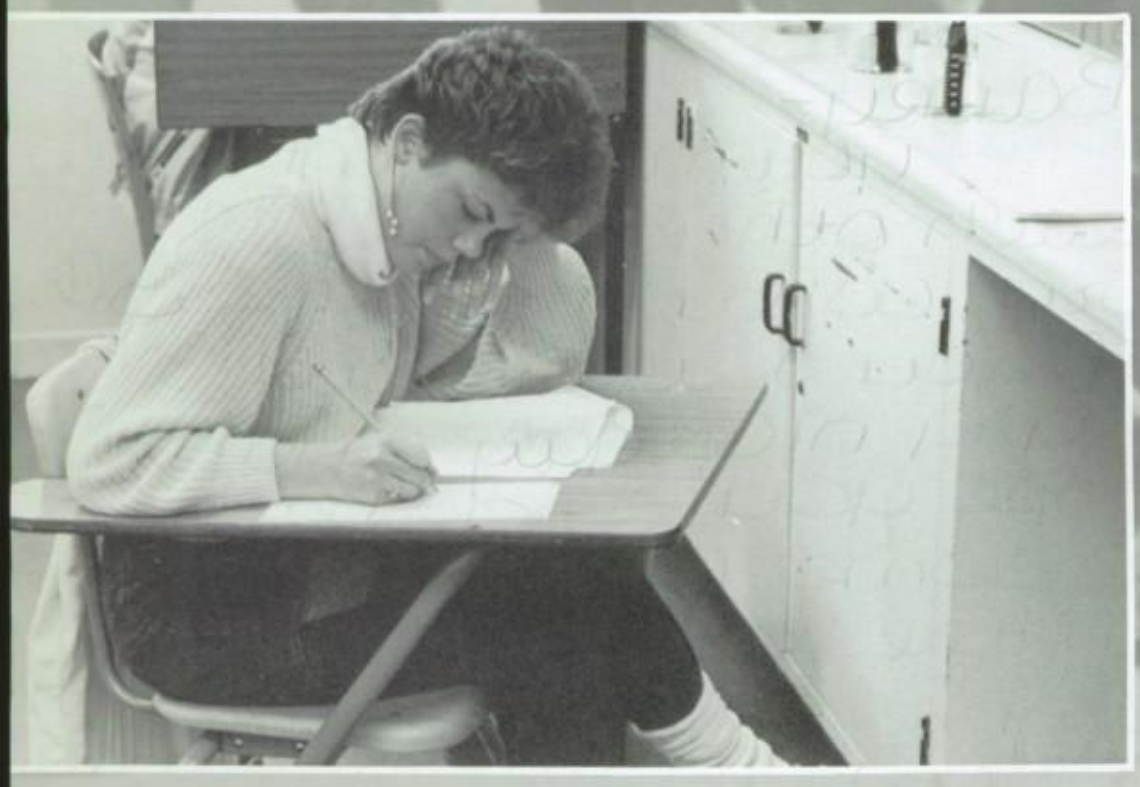
ACADEMICS

"I am convinced that it is of primordial importance to learn more every year than the year before. After all, what is education but a process by which a person begins to learn how to learn."

— Peter Ustinov

The intensity to achieve one's goal is an instinct we all possess. Yet, without guidance, this intensity would die and the goals would never be reached.



A Message From Our Principal

1985-86 has been a good school year for Crescenta Valley High School. Our students have been successful in the areas of academics, athletics, fine arts, and extra-curricular activities.

It is with considerable sadness that we say goodbye to the senior class. They have provided Crescenta Valley High School with outstanding participation and leadership. I know that I speak for both the faculty and students, when I wish the 1986 graduating class the very best in the future. We will miss you.

The telephone rang and the distraught counselor paused from his rainbow sprinkle donut and lifted the receiver, nly to hear the angry voice of some frenzied nother.

"Why did my precious cupcake get a D in nglish!?" she screamed at the counselor, who ilently wondered who in the world was on the ther end of the line and who the heck was upcake.

"What is your son's name?" he asked olitely, trying not to provoke another outburst. le quickly searched for the name and found a le as thick as a dictionary. His mind wandering, e pictured a red Terminate Immediately stamped across the file, and the boy being hauled off in a frantic struggle; the post in the courtyard already checked for stiffness. A murmur awoke him from the fantasy and he recalled the present dilemma.

"I will go down immediately and discuss the problem right away with the teacher," he said and hoped she would not call back.

The weeks following the semester break were wild with the buzz of phones. The counseling office appreciated the calm in between semesters. They dreaded, as one might expect, the end of the year when those little white pieces of paper with the even smaller black letters were mailed home, for the phone began to ring constantly and the buzz of angry parents filled the office once again . . .

There is More to Life Than Teaching

Hobbies

By Grace Lee

Hobbies. Everybody has them. No matter how creative, like sailing around the world, or simplistic, like "green-thumbing" it in the garden, all people partake in hobbies.

Teachers are no exception. For example, Mr. DeMonbrun has saved every ticket stub to every sporting event he has been to since 1958.

Hobbies may even extend to the exotic, such as the culinary delights of various delicacies. Mrs. Linda Jensen prepares such Danish dishes as fried eel and pickled fish. On the other hand, some teachers participate in hobbies to relax and unwind. Mrs. Bouldin occasionally enjoys retreating to her farm and driving the tractor for relaxation.

Although the spectrum of types of hobbies extends from the simple to the eccentric, the purpose is the same for all: enjoyment for those who participate in them.

Hangouts

By John Stultz

Contrary to popular belief, teachers do not go home on weekends and sit down, putting their bifocals on an the red marker in hand, preparin to grade tests and plan assign ments. Also contrary to myth teachers like to have fun. No, the are not all party animals, but the do like to have some form of ente tainment and to get away from th traumas of teaching.

Mrs. June Peterson, for ex ample, enjoys restaurants that g with her various moods. When sh is in the mood for barbecue ribs she drops by to visit Jax's i Glendale or when she wants to dres up, Mrs. Peterson goes to th Italian Fisherman in Pasadena "It's the ambiance that attract me. Plus, there is a great pianis who sings love songs in French," says Mrs. Peterson.

Other teachers, like Mrs Rounds, enjoy seeing USC game at the Coliseum and driving aroun in her Camaro for relaxation. Mr Irace fancies going out to dinne and then dancing afterward.

Despite their different defin tions of fun, all teachers are in th same way kids at heart. They enjo old-fashioned as well as moder entertainment to relieve th traumas of the school week. They too, regret leaving the fun behind but donning the red pen and book once again they regretfully retur to the classroom.

Catching Some Zzz's at School

By Grace Lee

As any zero period student knew, attempting to organize the teacher's droning words while combating the compelling clutches of sleep proved to be exhausting.

While most CV students snuggled down in their warm comforters and dreamed peacefully, these commendable students promptly awoke to get ready for their early class.

Although the idea of a zero period was predicted by the teachers to "burn out" its participants, it was greeted with much eagerness. This provided students the choice of taking a desired class that they would otherwise not be able to take.

Also, early risers grabbed this chance to end the school day an hour earlier. "Since I wake up at 4:30 every morning anyway to go jogging, why not go to school early?" shrugged Sophomore Juan Huezo. "Besides, I have the rest of the day off to relax until football or track practice." Overachievers chose to take a zero period class and shoulder the burden of the weighty seven classes to earn more credit.

Teachers regarded zero period apprehensively because of the inevitable tardies and absences. But, as the first quarter ended, most teachers were pleasantly surprised by the good attendance.

Mr. Lundberg enthusiastically affirmed, "My zero period students were very industrious and studious. Grade-wise, they ranked as one of my top two classes."

Despite the worries zero period inflicted in the beginning, it proved to be beneficial in its outcome.

The Right Exposure

By Grace Lee

An overwhelmingly popular class, photography boasted an attendance of 75 students. Many students were attracted by the versatile nature of photography.

When questioned about the great attraction of the photography class, Chez Ruf promptly declared, "It's an easy 'A'!"

From panoramic views of forests and mountains to cabbage patch dolls, no object went unnoticed by an avid photographer.

"I love to take pictures of people at parties and in the quad," replied Chris Schrobilgen. He added with a smile, "I especially love to take pictures of girls!"

Photography not only entailed technical knowledge of a camera, but artistic skill as well, which helped to transform mundane objects into breathtaking works of art.

"To be a great photographer," Steve Boyer commented sagely, "you've got to have artistic talent."

To obtain this desired talent, these future photographers dedicatedly attended their photography class. Mishaps often occurred due to inexperience.

"One of the most careless mistakes made was over-exposing film, and it was also one of the most common," Sophomore Sepand Ardishir confessed.

But, with the acquiring of photographic knowledge, CV photographers transformed seemingly ordinary pictures into beautiful pieces of art that were more detailed than paintings and more memorable than diaries.

Behind The Scenes

Every school must be equipped with a responsible, well-trained staff. Crescenta Valley High was no exception.

The importance of education, stressed by every teacher, reflected Falcon pride and the school's perserverance for a beneficial learning experience. This was carried out by the outstanding clerical, cafeteria and maintenance staff as well. The fine group of adults, with which CV was graciously bestowed, helped in making the school year great.

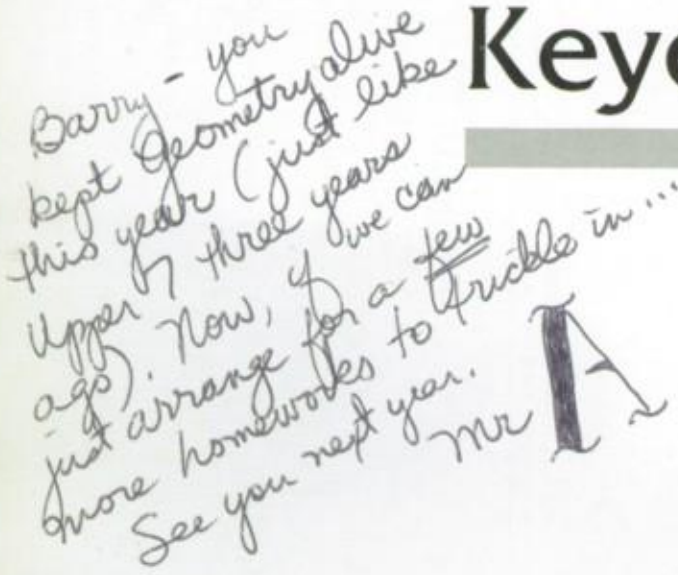
Late Night With Gary Keyes



By John Stultz

Tires squealing, illegal U-turns being made, radios blaring and voices shouting "Which house is it?" often confronted students on certain school nights. They dashed into unknown houses to hear a heated debate on whether Jackson's removal of the Cherokee Indians was constitutional or find half the class discussing the styles of various authors.

When the students signed up for the AP classes last spring, they were warned by the teachers that occasionally they would have to meet at seminars to discuss certain topics. However, the students would often forget that it would be their topics that were to be discussed.

AP seminars, advised by teachers, were held to do work that could not be done during normal class time. There were only two subjects that held seminars, English and US History. The students met at assigned houses to learn and discuss various topics the teacher had assigned. Although they were time-consuming, the seminars, according to the teachers, were important enough for t students to give up the extra time to attend the hope of increasing their AP test scores.

"I felt that AP seminars were enlighteni and they furthered my knowledge of history said Shawn Kallan. "By discussing the histo issues further, I felt I would do better on the A test."

"AP Seminars were done to help studer develop their critical, analytical and resear abilities. The students found it to be the mo valuable part of the course," said AP Histo teacher Mr. Keyes.

For history, the seminars lasted for tw hours with a ten minute break for cookies a soda. On some subjects, students agreed up the topic while with others, as Sajid Ahm testified, chaos developed as students yell and screamed at one another, trying to brai wash their friends with contrasting view Luckily, none of these feelings interfered wi students' relationships. Those who did partic pate felt that the seminars were an importa part of the class and would aid them on the A test in May.

Cookin' Up an Education

By Grace Lee

A girl smelling of motor oil with grease under her fingernails? A guy wearing a frilly flowered-print apron with baking soda streaked across his forehead? No, they were not rebelling against the female — male stereotypes. They were just attending classes they enjoyed.

Although a lone girl taking a male-dominated class raised a few eyebrows, Senior Julie Corbett was often welcomed with mock wolf-whistles, but also with friendly helping hands.

Julie commented, "Most of the guys tried to help when I didn't understand the demonstration." She added, giggling, "Jeff Owen did call me Gidget."

Most guys considered girls in a shop class an entertaining asset and a welcome change of scenery.

"We need pretty girls in auto mechanics to brighten up our class and to make class more interesting," smiled Jim Holleran.

Likewise, guys attending Home Economics stimulated interest class and changed the over attitudes of the students.

"We'd be less enthusiastic there were no guys attending Home Ec classes," replied Ju Jung. "An all-girl class sounds boring!"

All in all, both sexes genera agreed that co-ed class benefitted all, socially and acade ically. With these responses, can only wonder how all-girls' all-boys' schools could be s cessful!

Cheating: The Unknown Scarlet Letter

By John Stultz

"I won't catch you every time you cheat, but when I do, you'll lose one hundred points AUTOMATICALLY."

That was the battle cry of Mrs. Linda Jensen in her crusade against the awful sin. Mr. Gelsinger made every student stand up during tests to check for lap sheets. Mr. Lundberg used wooden dividers to stop the wandering eye syndrome that affected students on test days.

Although the methods varied, all teachers upheld their ways of catching cheaters. The punishments were often severe when one was caught. The reasons for wearing a Scarlet C over their heart varied as much as the individuals who wore it.

Both pressure to succeed and parent pressures most likely were the causes. Keeping a high GPA for college acceptance led students to copying homework or cheating on tests, allowing them to concentrate on more important subjects. The "copiers' " grades often dropped, since on test days they were unfamiliar with the material.

Parents also inflated pressure on students, saying, "We are doing it for your own good." To the students, it appeared that their parents sat home and pondered punishments; no car, no weekends, no telephone, no fun, thus inadvertently pushing their son or daughter into the abyss.

The conscience often played the deciding factor. Students who felt guilty could not force themselves to do the dirty deed while others could push the offense away with a shrug of the shoulders and simply say, "The devil made me do it," when asked for a reason.

In the end, however, even the most ingenious cheats were usually caught by the even more ingenious teachers. Stiff penalties consequently forced students to study and do their own work. The result: test scores increased because of the mandatory class involvement enforced upon the defeated students, all to the glee of the CV faculty.

-Barry - What an appropriate page. I know you would never cheat on any thing. Well, I'm glad we had Geometry together. It gave me a chance to get to know ya. You are really a sweet guy and sometimes when Geometry gets boring I'm glad you're there to make it more fun. You really should do your homework more often. Then you might be able to get an A. But if you never do it how can you expect to compete with me. Just kidding. Hopefully we'll get Algebra 3-4 together. That'd be fun. Have a great, safe summer and please come back in 1 piece next year. See ya now.

Love ya,
Linda B.

Commitment To Excellence

By Brian Marshall

This was the theme that the senior class officers adopted. President Ian Ullman, Vice President Brian Marshall, Secretary Hayley Thompson and Treasurer Lady Duarte decided early in the year to make this senior class one of the best.

The spirit and wisdom of class sponsor, Vicki Bouldin, brought out the best qualities of these dedicated officers.

Preparations began early for the senior prom. Following this came the magazine sale, which went over with tremendous success. Other activities requiring the guidance and leadership of these officers included the Senior Banquet, events related to graduation and Grad Night at Disneyland.

Along with these administrative successes, the officers provided the class of '86 with leadership that was second to none.

Pressures? Coping? Reality!

By Brian Marshall

As the end drew near, a sigh of relief was heard throughout the quad, for the seniors' great tribulation of despair had been lifted. "What was this great burden?" Well, in all actuality, it was more like a series of battles rather than a single burden: praying for an 1100 on the SAT, diligently completing college applications, pleading with teachers for recommendations, just to name a few.

But, there were those who planned not to attend college after high school. These students were subject to pressures equally as harsh: completing the mountainous amounts of government homework on time, making sure that they had enough graduation credits, passing tests and preparing themselves for pop quizzes.

Yet, there existed one pressure to which both types of students related. This pressure is what makes the world go around. That's right! The magic green, dinero, mula, CASH! Of course, the most popular way to obtain money was to work. This created a problem for many seniors. "It's hard to find time to do all of my homework. I usually find myself staying up late at night in order to get it all done," said Lady Duarte.

All in all, CV seniors did not succumb to the pressures supplied by their surroundings, but instead, they persevered and advanced onto new horizons.

"I can't take it anymore!" Senior Tony Park succumbs to the pressures of homework as friends Mike Ross and Sylvie Boghossian look on in awe.

Time stands still. At least this is the case for Chris Schrobilgen as he ponders the memories of his prosperous years at CV.

Looking Back

By Brian Marshall

"I never acted that gay when I was a freshman," stated Hayley Thompson. We all had an image fixed in our minds that we, as seniors, never acted "gay" when we were freshmen. Well, the truth of the matter was that everyone went through a stage before reaching maturity. We were all so afraid of going to high school, knowing that our next year was to be rather "nightmarish." Many thought that they would never get to see their friends again in such a large school.

Then came the transition from junior high to high school. We were dubbed "sophomores", and thoughts of college, people told us, would begin to fill our minds. After successfully learning to open the locker on the first try, we grew more accustomed and more relaxed to high school life.

We were then granted the privilege of calling oursleves juniors. This meant that we faced a year of education. Our normal classes gave way to harder courses, which prepared us for yet another transition: from high school to college.

Finally, we earned the right to be seniors: the rulers of the campus. We had to accept a great deal of responsibility, because we were now the leaders. We had to set the examples. We had to pull together and be strong. It was time to grow up and begin thinking about the future.

But, all of a sudden the year was over. We had to start saying goodbye to old friends and to stand proud of our accomplishments. We had to begin life after high school, but it would not be too long before we would find ourselves looking back once again.

Responsible?!

By Ian Ullman

Happy Birthday! You are now eighteen years old! Legal! Like magic. Poof — you are an adult. Poof — you are responsible. Isn't it great?

What could possibly be better? Now, you can go to court! You can get drafted and fight in foreign wars! You are old enough to go to jail! Now, you can get kicked out of your parents' house to make room for a boarder!

But, think of the good points — you can finally VOTE and can become rich by playing the State Lottery!

Cramming or Crashing?

Study?! Shea Case prefers to enjoy the library's intellectual atmosphere instead of finishing his homework.

By Kelly Ingram

You walk through the door, drop your books on the nearest table and head for the ''frig''. After making your special after-school masterpiece, you settle down in front of the TV to see if anything interesting is on — no? Plan B now goes into effect. You grab the phone and dial the first seven numbers that come to mind. Nobody is home. Should you resort to Plan C? There is no other alternative. Slowly, the books are gathered and stacked next to your favorite chair, like a shrine. With sandwich in one hand and book in the other, you hesitantly begin.

By this time, most students found their own way to study. After much practice, a certain pattern began and usually ended up continuing, since it seemed to be the only way that never-ending assignment could be finished. These ''rituals,'' unfortunately, transformed into the dreaded Study Habits.

Even though most reluctantly did their homework, the methods used differed drastically. Montana O'Connell studied under her bed, while Pedro Pelayo did his last minute studying every morning in the privacy of his own bathroom. The only way Karen Hardee found she could learn was to teach her dog the assignment first. Laura Hietter, after finishing an assignment, locked herself in a closet and screamed — to relieve tension? When asked if he had any strange or unusual study habits, Mark Potter proudly confessed, ''I do, I study!''

Drivin' In Style

By Brian Marshall

Student 1: Who was that that just drove by?

Student 2: I couldn't make out the face The whole car was a blur.

Student 3: I didn't see the face either but I sure saw that license plate.

Student 1: How did you see the license plate?

Student 3: How could anyone miss it! It was personalized!

This was an all too familiar scene on and off campus. For a campus with approximately 2000 students, it was rather difficult to be noticed. Some people found that having a personalized license plate made it easier for friends and other students to identify the driver. The personalized license plate also added a sense of individuality to the owner's car. "No matter how many other cars look like mine, I will be the only PROUD driver with the license plate 'OAILEEN," boasts Aileen Navarro.

Did You Catch It?

By Ian Ullman

You're sick. One year left and you want out. You don't want to do anything but go home and catch up on your sleep. Homework? Blow it off. Sixth period? Blow it off. You're suffering from that unvoidable disease: SENIORITIS!

There are certain things that must be done. You know what they are. You know when they need to be done by. Will you do them? Doubtful. Just keep telling yourself, ''I have a disease, it will all get better in June.''

You find yourself going home for lunch and debating whether you'll return to school or not. ''It's not apathy,'' you say. ''I've served my time. I need a break.''

No one seems to understand this contagious disease, not faculty members, not parents, not underclassmen. Only seniors understand.

Undecided? Dan Chesley debates whether or not to go back to school after lunch. College acceptance was a factor in most senior laziness.

Second Chances

By Shina Thavanthana

Reminiscing about the past, seniors contemplated on their years of high school which seemed to have slipped by all too quickly. Memories of sleepless nights, shining opportunities lost and endless efforts forgotten scurried through their minds.

Unable to alter the past, seniors pondered upon what they would have done differently in high school if given the chance. Most desired to be more actively involved with school events, such as student government, sports and clubs. "I wouldn't have waited until my last year of high school to get TOTALLY involved," commented Laura Hietter.

Others reflected upon the academic aspects of high school. School work was a trecherous and disliked task shared by everyone, but for some, it was or would have been beneficial. Nick Swinehart admits, "If I had the chance, I would have studied harder."

High school also consisted of joyous, happy and loving times. Ben Edwards proudly states that he would do "Nothing!" to change his high school days. Yet, some people such as Aaron Villasenor found humor in the thought of how it would be to merely part his hair on the other side.

Hmmm, let me see. A stumped Elliot Kim digs into his past to see if he would change any part of his high school experience.

Why Me ?

By Kelly Ingram

"I locked my keys in my car with the motor running." This was an embarrassing situation for Brenna Gunn, and after four years of exposure, many seniors also had their "shining" moments. The following were actual accounts that some seniors bravely revealed:

— "I was telling a dirty joke and after saying the punch line, I turned around, only to find Mrs. Leinenweber, who had heard everything." — Brett Anderson

— "At Homecoming, our strapless dresses made a move in the wrong direction." — Krista Miller and Jenifer Larson

— "I got stuck in the top of a tree in the quad while everyone was watching." — Montana O'Connell

— "I tripped and fell, in front of a packed gym, at a basketball tournament, after I was introduced." — Mark Potter

Young Musicians Make Note Of It

By Shina Thavanthana

Dreams, hopes, and goals . . . ingredients that exist in every ambitious musician. These ingredients have combined in a select few at CV.

Harvey Mason and Brad Hamilton, two long time friends, have been writing and singing songs together since the end of their junior year. Although they have not produced a whole album yet, they were honored to have one of their songs, ''Yes, It's True,'' played at the Homecoming Dance.

Two professional musicians who inspire Brad and Harvey the most are Howard Jones and Phil Collins. Brad comments, ''I enjoy and respect Howard Jones' originality and style.'' Harvey states, ''Phil Collins' energy is what I truly admire.'' Their greatest support, though, comes from Harvey's father who has been a veteran of the music business for many years. ''Mr. Mason is a great influence and a big help,'' expressed Brad. ''His experience in the music business and his advice aids us extremely in becoming more knowledgable and prepared for what lies ahead of us in the future.'' Through hardwork and determination, they have found support to continue achieving.

Two other aspiring CV students are Eric and Scott Heinly. Eric has played the piano and drums for four years and Scott has played the guitar for eight years. ''We were most influenced by classical rock,'' comments Scott. Some of the classical musicians they admire are Tchaikousky, Vivaldi, and Gregg. ''We hope to pursue careers in music,'' expressed Eric. ''We have played in bands for church functions but right now we are just playing for fun.'' Eric and Scott have won the respect and support throughout school. During Homecoming Week, they were asked to participate in the rally by playing for the Yell Leaders. It was an exciting and enjoyable treat. ''We felt very honored and pleased to be asked to play for the school,'' commented Scott.

With the perserverance and hardwork of these young men, they show that dreams can become reality.

Anything Goes!

By Kelly Ingram

1996? Where will we be? Our lives might change in ways we never expected. We will be facing the real world: out of school and ready to do something with our existence. We could be working in steady jobs, on our way to the top of searching for employment. Single independents could be surviving out on their own while other bachelors might still live at home. We could be married; and, by 1996, children might also appear in the picture — 1, 2, 3, or more?

It will be interesting to see how the years affect each of us. How many girls will be housewives, mothers or successful career women? Belle Turpin plans to be a mother and also hold a part-time job. How many guys will be supporting themselves or wives and be set in their careers as well? John Cammarata foresees his future as a police officer and hopes to be married. Will any of us be married, with two kids and a dog, living in a two-story house on a hill in an upper-middle class neighborhood, like the all-American family? For the answers, check back in ten years.

Believe It or Not . . .

By Kelly Ingram

Do you like to bang your head against your pillow every night so you become almost unconscious before you fall asleep? Well, Mark Potter does. He, along with four other seniors, submitted their own pretty strange, but true, hobbies.

Jenifer Larson has mastered the art of personalizing Ronald McDonald bibs. Alis Matevosyan enjoys swimming at the beach when it is raining and on a warmer note, Brett Anderson goes dryer riding at laundramats. Brad Hamilton definitely has a unique hobby. He likes to put his finger in the hole of a cassette, turn it really fast and try to listen to the music. Other seniors certainly had original hobbies, but they were probably so unusual, the seniors declined to submit them.

We're Excused!

By Ian Ullman

The tardy bell. It scared you to death as a freshman, made you cringe as a sophomore and made you nervous as a junior. But, now, you're a senior! Hah, just a sound, that's all. You're in no hurry.

Seniors never seemed to be in a rush anywhere, except maybe for lunch. That stigma, attached with being late, seemed to dissolve in your last year of high school.

Seniors assumed certain inalienable rights which came with their status. We were allowed to be tardy. We were allowed to leave class early. We were allowed to stay home if we chose to. We were allowed to do whatever we pleased. After all, we wouldn't be here next year.

Unfortunately, this wasn't always true. It all depended on how many times you stayed home.

Junior Officers: Impressive!!

By Mike Muhlethaler

A spotless Lamborghini with shiny chrome wheels and leather upholstery is the best metaphor acquainted with the outstanding achievement and effort put forth by the junior class officers.

Leading the way in the Presidency was the exuberant and innovative Scott Morris. Equally efficient were his assistants: Vice-President Sam Levering, returning Secretary Lynda Klein and Treasurer Randy Allen. Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Evans, also leading the CSF campaign, energetically sponsored the class of '87.

First on the officers' agenda was the task of making money. The selling of Homecoming balloons and candy apples at Halloween were just two of their fundraisers that went through with tremendous success. Their biggest money-maker, however, was the Junior Prom, which secured a firm base of revenue on which to work as seniors.

The one message the officers expressed was toward distinction and unity. Scott Morris said it best: "Our goal is to get people involved. When people look back on their high school year, I want them to be able to say that their junior year was just as good, or even better, than their senior year."

Looking back at their year and their leaders, juniors could only have one word t say: "Impressive!"

The Year to Shine

By Mike Muhlethaler

Contrary to popular opinion, junior year madness has slowly slipped away from our minds into the omnis- ent past. Looking back, however, it was a ear of sleepless nights and intense pressure. was also a year to gain the ultimate in nowledge. Any way you look at it, it was the ake-or-break year for some 500 juniors at V.

With an average grind of four to five solids, any juniors found themselves drowning in assive amounts of hard work and studying. Some nights I found myself staying up as te as the early morning hours. The classes ere tough, but the knowledge I received was eyond anything I had expected,'' said Sam evering, Junior Class Vice-President.

Two hardships shared by all juniors were nglish and U.S. History. Other common auses of stress were Algebra 1-2, geometry, Algebra 3-4, trigonometry, chemistry, biology, French, German, and Spanish.

Another headache which many juniors dealt with was the presence of Advanced Placement classes. These classes covered the subjects of trigonometry, U.S. History, American Literature, Biology 3-4, and all languages in fourth and fifth year. Not only were these classes worth an extra point in figuring overall grade point averages, but they served as actual college credit courses if students passed each grueling test with a high enough score. ''The AP classes were extremely hard, but they saved you a lot of money in the long run by not having to take them during your freshman year of college. They also gave you a better idea of how the college courses were going to be,'' remarked junior intellect, Deneil Dover.

Extracurricular activities such as sports, student government and club participation also consumed an incredible amount of time, sometimes grabbing as much as four hours a day from a junior's schedule. Somehow, though, the mighty juniors survived and their hardest year of high school became one full of meaning.

Seeing Double

By Debbie Franzon

Have you ever thought you were seeing double? Did you think your mind was playing tricks on you? Well, at CV it was not an unusual symptom. No, it was not insanity, but the Twin Invasion!

Twins were a common sight around the campus. As a matter of fact, eighteen sets of twins roamed the campus. Not all twins were identical. Some pairs looked nothing alike and were as unmatched as a boy and a girl. In fact, did you know that Tammy and Tom McCollum are twins?

When they were younger, having an identical twin must have been something of a novelty. Most likely, they resorted to mischievious pranks to fool friends and teachers. As the years passed, they found themselves becoming more individual, forming unique styles of their own. It would seem that because of the special bond shared by twins, it meant having a friend for life.

On campus, while some twins acted like best friends, others seemed reluctant to acknowledge their other half. Jim Roberts truthfully expressed how it felt to have a twin. "It's like having a shadow that doesn't follow you."

So, you found yourself seeing double a few times this year? Well, if you had taken a second glance, you would have seen two different and unique individuals.

Yaa, we're bad! Twins Mike and Steve Cho mean double trouble as they strut across the quad, showing that two are better than one.

Say Cheese! Twins get together for a group photo. Front: Kath and Kim Brown, Christine and Danielle Burkholder, Tom and Pete Vilmur. 2nd: Scott and Eric Heinly, Keith and Kevin Robertson, Candy and Carol Bell. 3rd: Jim and John McFarlane, Joe and Mike Cha, Kim and Kirsten Badaracco. 4th: Autumn and Stormy Livendale.

Then guess what happened? A smiling Kath Brown shares a secret with her twin, Kim, who cannot believe what she has just heard.

Lefties Are All Right

By Debbie Franzon

It started back in kindergarten. We were cutting out Valentine's Day hearts and my scissors would not cut. I explained my dilemma to the teacher who smiled and said, ''Dear, you have to use these scissors with the green handle.'' Why did I have to be different? It was the curse of a left-hander!

Being a lefty means growing up in a right-handed world. ''Southpaws'' must adjust to the circumstances that set them apart from the rest of the world.

Left-handers are forced to cope with the inconvenience of objects that were not made with them in mind. This includes such items as pencil sharpeners, can openers and even windup toys, which are often designed for right-handers. At meals, lefties also are at a disadvantage. They often find themselves seated at the end of the table because that way there is no left elbow interfering with the right one of their neighbor.

At school, lefties have to adjust too. The person who designed desks must not have had left-handers in mind at the time. They are designed for the average right-hander. ''Southpaws'' must deal with being branded as sloppy because when they write, the side of their hand often smudges the still-wet ink. These are the hardships lefties must overcome. Leslie Smith, who is left-handed, says that three-ring notebooks are a problem for lefties. ''They are such a pain to write in because the metal rings are always in my way. They are really an inconvenience.''

CV boasts an elite group of about 90 ''southpaws'' in the junior class alone. These lefties are in the same category with suc prominent figures as Benjamin Frankli Alexander the Great, Babe Ruth, Mich langelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Pablo Picass Judy Garland, Goldie Hawn and Car Burnett. These are only a few, but it is evide that these superachievers were in no wa handicapped by being a ''southpaw.''

Actually, being left-handed is not a curs although at times it may seem like one. Lik most traits, the tendency to be right or lef handed is inherited. Centuries ago mo lefties were forced to become right-hande This is no longer true today and lefties ca now be proud to belong to the select group ''southpaws.'' Pat Phillips sums up bein left-handed in two words. ''It's awesome!

Famous Juniors

By Debbie Franzon and Mike Muhlethaler

Famous juniors . . . who are they? Are they found among the many faces at CV? Could one even be among your friends? Well, before you go asking for autographs from juniors, relax.

Most likely you will not find any famous juniors among your friends. However, there are many juniors in this world who have made a name for themselves. Such people include Sammy Davis Jr., Martin Luther King Jr., Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Desi Arnaz Jr., John McEnroe Jr. and Ray Parker Jr.

These men are all well-known, popular juniors. Many have been named after their fathers who are also prestigious figures in the community. Another junior, that has made itself famous for its great hamburgers is none other than Carl's Jr.

As you can see, there are many famous juniors, but you will not find them here on campus. Yet, if you ask around, you might find that famous juniors do exist at CV.Just ask Harvey Mason Jr.!

The Famous Star! Probably the most famous junior of them all. Although it is located in Glendale on Brand Blvd., it is still a mucho populares place to dine on delicioso, rapid-made cuisine. Before catching a flick or scoping the view, many CV students visit Carl's to grab a bite to eat.

Sophomore Successes

By Juli Oh

"We're just trying to get organized right now," remarked Sophomore Class President David Rands at the beginning of the year, and organized they got! It was David's job, along with Vice-President Leilani Artis, Secretary Christine Burkholder and Treasurer Trey Pogue, to plan fundraisers, class dress-up days and all other sophomore activities. The major source of their money, which goes to help defray the costs of senior activities, such as the Prom and the Senior Banquet, came from the Sophomore Backwards Dance. Like every year, it was a tremendous success as were the other fundraisers, the t-shirt and button sales.

Class advisor, Mr. Livingston, helped the officers greatly. Even though this was his first year as advisor to the Class of '88, what h lacked in experience, he balanced wi dedication.

All in all, these five individuals tru benefitted from their experiences, b Treasurer Trey Pogue expressed it best in th summary of his term. "It was fun. In fact, wouldn't mind doing it again!"

Those Dreary Days

By Juli Oh

I knew it was going to be one of those dreary days when I awoke to the familiar pitter-patter of raindrops on the roof. hivering in my cozy bed, my immediate reac- on was to groan and fling the covers back over ny head, because now I would not be able to ear the outfit I had carefully planned out the ight before.

After a brief glance at my enemy, the alarm lock, I compelled myself to get out of bed. I ook what was probably the fastest and coldest nower of my life, because all the hot water had een used up by my, oh, so considerate, family. Scurrying into the kitchen, I hastily threw open the refrigerator door, only to find an empty milk carton. No milk meant no Fruit Loops! Coming to the devastating conclusion that Fruit Loops without milk just would not do, I grabbed a can of flat Diet Coke and began cramming for the most important test of the year in my history class.

I ended up dashing out of the house ten minutes late in a pair of grubby sweats I had dug out of the back of my closet and, of course, tennis shoes to keep my little toes warm. Cursing the weatherman and whoever else came to mind, I finally arrived at school after trying seven times to squeeze my car into a teeny-weeny space. On my way to my first class, some immature freshman, reliving his junior high days, ran through a puddle and splattered mud on everything within a ten foot radius.

To top off this day, which I decided was the worst day of my life, I was late for my first period class, thereby incurring the wrath of all the students, because now they all had weekend homework. Wishing I could disappear by some means of intervention, I shrank down in my seat. Why had I ever been born?! At least I got some comfort from the immortal words of Scarlett O'Hara that were running through my brain. "After all, tomorrow is another day."

"Where did I put my bubble gum?" wonders Kelly Maebe, unaware of the sticky substance clinging to the back of his pants.

Excuses, Excuses!!

By Juli Oh and Jill Williams

"My cat died, my little brother is upset and the whole family has to be home for the funeral." This exemplified a perfect excuse used by one CV student to avoid an evening full of unwanted attention from an undesired date.

Many teenagers were forced to fabricate a reason for declining an invitation when they lacked interest in the other person. Students at Crescenta Valley showed their ingenuity in creatively inventing the following excuses:

— "No, uh . . . I don't think so . . . uh . . . I have a boyfriend who . . . uh . . . goes to another school!"
— "I have family-oriented plans already."
— "I'd love to go, but I have a physics term paper due Monday, and I'll be busy that night."
— "I'm really sorry but I can't go. You know, coincidentally, my best friend was just saying she has no plans for that night."
— "Sorry, but my car broke down, and I know you don't drive!"
— "I hate to say it, but I'm sure that my boss will want me to work overtime that night."
— "I'm going to fill out my college applications and study for the SAT that night."
— "I can't because if I stay out too late I'm positive I'll get mono!!"

The whole purpose of excuses was to keep from hurting the other person. Unfortunately, if the excuse did not ring true, students took offense anyway. Most importantly, students needed to realize that alibis played a major role in everyday situations. However, the ones giving them had to be very careful to not get caught!

"Weak, Jennie, really weak!" Steve Boyer finds it hard to believe that Jennie Jensen really was visiting her sick grandmother Saturday night.

Who stole the cookies from the cookie jar? Albert Kim denies that it is he, but, seeing the evidence, Laura Humphrey seems to disagree.

Caught in the act! Teri Condon gives an unsuspecting Trey Pogue a likely excuse.

Locking It Up

By Jill Williams

Yanking open the cold, metal door, I cringed as stray papers, heavy books and stale candy wrappers came tumbling down upon my feet. With a sigh of dismay, I stooped down to collect the scattered junk and whacked my head on the locker's edge!

Although it was frowned upon by administrators, sharing lockers frequently occurred among students at CV in order to save time between classes. Due to the huge size of the school, it was often impossible to scurry from one locker to a class without being tardy. That was where sharing lockers benefitted the students. They shortened their traveling distance between classes and met their friends at a particular locker to chat briefly before dashing to their next class.

Although a seemingly practical habit in which to grow accustomed, sharing lockers had its traumas as well. For example, imagin a student's aghast reaction when discoverin his prized English essay, buried deep amid thick books and scrunched into the far corn in the back of the locker! In addition, durin times such as final exam's week, laz students eased up in their perfectionism an neatness, allowing junk to accumulate in th locker! With more than one student's article piling up in the same locker, this proble doubled, tripled or even quadrupled!

Junior Cathy Smith spoke from the ex perience of sharing lockers since sevent grade. "It can be a real hassle, but I cou never survive without sharing them!"

Shutting her eyes to blot out reality, Jennifer Josl wonders what she should do about the crumpled essay the bottom of her locker.

"Say Cheese!"

By Jill Williams

Having a picnic in the center of the quad? Getting a mohawk? Rapping on the rally platform during lunch while Cabinet plays tunes over the loudspeaker? Antics such as these were performed by some of CV's students in hopes that they might have a picture taken for the '86 Talon.

Class clowns took special measures to have the photographer snap a photo which would possibly constitute a large space on a page of the yearbook. While self-conscious students shyly hid their faces from the camera, those who wished to strut their stuff in front of the lens occupied any leftover film.

Over the school year it became simple to single out the confident students who thrived on being noticed: those who dressed as the opposite sex on Halloween, those who acted outlandishly when a photographer drew near or even those who suddenly tried to strike a candid pose to inspire someone to ''capture the moment.'' Bolder students even sprinted up to a photographer to earnestly beg them for a posed shot.

In any case, ''hams'' on film inundated the yearbook room and demonstrated the vast majority of students' interest in seeing their faces in the yearbook. Although those posed pictures did not always receive the honor of being used in the Talon, they did humorously portray the extent in which some people would go to get their pictures taken!

The Dream of Sweet Sixteen

By Juli Oh

A car . . . jewelry . . . clothes . . . red roses . . . Could it be a game show? Some contest? Of course not! We are talking about a birthday. Not just any birthday, though, a sixteenth birthday! SWEET SIXTEEN!

This was the birthday for which every girl anxiously waited. Why? To many, turning sixteen signified a coming of age, which explained the statement, "I'm a woman now!" This particular declaration appeared on the fronts and backs of countless numbers of girls, who had been kidnapped for this special occasion.

Besides the fact that having reached this milestone symbolized a new maturity, it was also the stuff of which dreams were made. Early on, girls began to realize that in no time at all they would get to experience the sensation of being queen for a day. Sensible girls started making out their birthday lists then and there.

As girls got older, their thoughts turned to the things that really mattered. Cars, clothes and maybe, just maybe, a . . . boyfriend? However, when the long-awaited day finally arrived, did one have all her wishes fulfilled? Of course not! No girl expected to get everything. They all knew that anticipating the event was half the fun.

Nevertheless, all girls that still awaited that magical day saw themselves in long, white formals, carrying bouquets of red roses and walking into a ballroom on the arm of someone tall, dark and handsome . . .

Scamming

By Jill Williams

Casually strolling through the quad, four pairs of alert, female, sophomore eyes wandered past the treewells, past the rally platform and directly onto a cluster of muscular, good-looking male specimens.

The girls giggled and glanced over their shoulders to see if the senior guys had taken interest. Unfortunately, at that moment the prospective senior prom dates swaggered over to a clique of senior females dressed in vogue attire.

This typical situation exemplified just one way of scamming on campus. Unless attatched to someone, all students amused themselves by analyzing, pursuing and/or being pursued by the opposite sex.

Scamming sparked interest in the majority of girls especially before backwards dances. A few weeks prior to these, the females began to flirt outrageously in order to be able to decide which guy would dance and romance them into Cloud Nine.

For the guys, Homecoming and proms were the cause of serious scamming in search of a date. Each may have earned a flirtatious reputation by these actions.

Although some students preferred the comfortable closeness of a secure relationship, for those out playing the field, scamming was a surefire way to add enjoyment to the game.

"Don't forget to call me tonight." Greg Wuerfel writes his phone number on April Wierda's hand while a delighted Lala Mardirosian looks on.

"Five stars?" Darren Lipp, Toby Carver, Greg Platupe and Marcos Duarte cannot believe the number of girls in Kent Gilmer's little black book.

Freshmen Initiation

By Kim Kummer

As the school year began, the Freshmen Class made their debut at CV. Out of the hundreds of newcomers, four leaders rose to help their class fit into the new environment. Those chosen leaders were President Kath Brown, Vice-President Kim Brown, Secretary Michelle Sullivan and Treasurer Courtney Sopher.

Their main objective was to begin raising funds to help lower senior expenses. All officers dedicated time to planning activities and making them special. Some of their fundraising ideas were a booth at CV's 50's Day and an End-of-the Year Stag Dance. Class Advisor Mrs. Joan Shoff helped the officers accomplish their goals.

All in all, the Freshman Class Officers were loyal and hardworking and made their first year at CV a great and productive one.

The Twilight Zone

By Kim Kummer

Every student in his/her high school career has, at least once, drifted off into some other world during class.

Some people called this distant world The Twilight Zone. But, whatever it was, it pulled them so far into it that they had no idea even what language in which their teacher was talking.

Some ideas made on how to have fun in that far away land were the following:

1. Imagining yourself as the star of a popular movie.
2. Thinking of your boyfriend and/or girlfriend.
3. Reliving past memories of events that were exciting.
4. Pretending that you are cruising Montrose in a hot red Ferrari with that special someone sitting by your side.
5. Fooling yourself into believing that you have the highest grade in your class and do not really need to listen.
6. Wondering who the idiot was who created education in the first place.

These were only a few ideas on how to enjoy oneself if, by some odd chance, one became trapped in that Never-Never Land.

Hey Baby!!! What's up? Can you even believe it? We're here-finally! This is Crescenta Valley HIGH SCHOOL!!! It's the place for parties, romance, and all-around fun! All I can say, though, is that it's tough being a freshman. I know it's only the second week of school, but I keep getting lost and afraid to ask anybody questions in fear of being trash canned. I just don't know what to do!

I know what you mean! C.V. is so different from junior high! It's bad enough that my classes are twice as hard as last year, but just yesterday I heard something called a Backwards Dance. I heard that we actually have to invite a guy. Is that rumor true?? How embarassing! What are you gonna do!

LISTEN!!! We're in high school now! Dances are much different. I'm going— that's for sure! In fact, there is this guy I'm talking— he's the most massive babe that ever crossed the face of this earth! Every time our eyes meet, I just melt! I don't know his name, but I do know one thing.... He's a JUNIOR!!

Yeah, I guess you're right. Oh well! Speaking of transportation, how are you getting to the game? I can't really wait to see #77 wiggle his fanny around the field. Isn't he cute?! But why would a gorgeous senior guy like you ask out a little puny freshman like me?

Who knows! I bet he is just dying to ask you out, but is just shy. School's a drag. I hate History! I can't wait for Summer Vacation! Oops!! "SHE" just walked by. I guess I'd better put this note away, before I really get in trouble! Well, gotta go... The bell's going to ring anyway... Talk to you later!!!!! ♥ ya, me

Remember, we are in school, and it's almost lunch! Speaking of which, where do you want to go???

VERY FUNNY!!! You know my mom won't give me an off-campus pass, and unless you got your drivers and license yesterday you can't get there anyway!!!

Substitute Abuse: A Myth?

By Grace Lee

Chaos commanded the room as the rowdy students chattered zealously. With unconcealed nervousness, the substitute rubbed his moist palms against his pants. Like an animal sensing fear, the class knew this to be his first job, thus, they labeled him a pushover.

Broad smiles dimmed to mischievous grins as the substitute tried to obtain order in class. Gaining peace temporarily, he quickly dispensed the ditto assignments while explaining the teacher's directions.

During the middle of class,the substitute felt the beginnings of a migraine. After excusing himself, he heard bubbling laughter in the empty halls which originated from his class room.

When he returned, he noticed that the class was unusually quiet. Sensing doom, he cautiously opened the door . . . and groaned as he saw the empty classroom.

This scenario protrayed the nightmare of every substitute, but fortunately, most had never experienced it.

"I usually don't have problems with the kids," answered substitute Jacqueline Crystal. "I enjoy substituting because of the variety of subjects I teach. An added plus is that there are no hours of grading!"

Some students tended to shed their studious inhibitions in the substitute's presence because of his limited authority.

"It's sad that some students don't listen to substitutes," stated Junior Karin Stohn. "They think they don't need to make good impressions because they don't give final grades."

Fortunately, most students decided not to take advantage of the substitute's supposed weaknesses. While the substitute could not lessen semester grades, he did have a trump card, enabling him to inform the teacher of class conduct . . . if necessary.

Froshphobia

By Shina Thavanthana

The freshman's heart pounded harder with each dodging step. He would occasionally glance upward only to find the upperclassmen authoritatively peering down at him. The door to safety was only three more steps away, sanctuary from the source of danger that haunted every freshmen's fears. As he entered the classroom, he began to regain his confidence. Then suddenly — BAM!! He was hurled into a trash can.

Many freshmen started high school with the delusion that they, too, could wind up observing the campus from the bottom of a dark and dismal trash can. "I was not really sure what I was in for," admitted Jimmy Kinsel. "I could only go on the basis of what people told me."

The freshmen's minds overflowed with misconceptions. Rumors of humiliating circumstances alarmed students to a state of bewilderment. But, now the nightmare is over, for now the hunted shall be the huntsmen.

Metal Mouths

By Cathy Smith

"I can't believe it!! It doesn't even look like me," remarked the exuberant Melissa McGowan as she ran out of the office. She had finally escaped from that dreadful man: the orthodontist.

Although some were able to escape from the grueling process of having braces, the majority of high school students could not avoid this torturous period of time. For approximately two or three years, teenagers were faced with shining smiles in their school pictures, coping with painful rubber-bands and even possessing the deflated feeling of a ruined appearance. These metal annoyances often caused strong feelings of self-consciousness and embarassment, but since teens were forced to live with the situation they reluctantly accepted their predicament.

Although it seemed to last forever, that unforgettable day arrived when they were exonerated from these tiny but annoying bits of metal. To show the payoff, they just grinned and flashed their thousand-dollar smiles!

Beaten by the Clock

By Cathy Smith

Cloudy, red, droopy eyes, unmatched clothes, uncombed hair and a slow, sluggish walk . . . sound familiar? Yes, indeed, it was evident that another victim had been defeated; but attacked by what? In the life of a Crescenta Valley High School student, it was inevitable that at one point during the year, he, like most, had been conquered by the worst enemy of all: time. The clock, a seemingly harmless device actually could have been discreet, cunning and stealthy thief.

Recall the situation: It is Sunday, and the student finally sits down to study after glancing at the clock. 8:15?? IMPOSSIBLE! It was only 1:30 a couple of seconds ago . . . Looking at the neverending stack of monotonous homework, panic envelops him. Reluctantly, he starts at the top. Time passes . . .

After what seemed like less than two hour the student awoke, hunched over a pile books, Forcing his eyes open and using entire bottle of Visine, the quarry frantical prepared for school. The attempts to cover the night before were inadequate, howeve as its treacherous consequences still lingere Another victim had once again fallen pre deadly beaten by the clock.

Don't delay. While Terry Robortello remains neutral, Lisa Hollander and Jennifer Potter argue about who to ask to the backwards dance. Time is running out.

Aaron — You jerk! I hate you so much! Just kidding! You know I love ya lots and lots! You're the best male friend I have! Remember all our late night talks about those unmentionable subjects! In detail even! "Oh, he rates a 7 . . . Well, she's about a 5!" The chicken foot on a stick! "DON'T touch me!" "Laura, someone named Ed called! Villa, the "worst" spirit leader ever! "Laura, do I really have a saggy ?" Penelope and Gus forever! Aren't you glad that I frequently stayed home on weekends so you'd have someone to bum around with when you're alone? I didn't mind. You're the greatest! A friendship like ours will last a lifetime! I love you! LAURA

T.C. Hey Babe-ba! I hope this year was good for you and that next year will be even better. I'm sorry for all the trouble I put you through. I'm glad you gave me another chance. You proved to me how much you cared. Now it's my turn! LOVE ALWAYS D.

Cathy Babe, You are one SEXY MAMA!!! But remember, I'll always be ahead of you. Anyway, I love ya!! Cathy, "LET'S GO TO THE BATHROOM!!!" and "EAT!!!" Remember Bob's and the hot fudge sundaes on a rainy night? And remember TIM??? And don't forget, "HOT FOR THE . . . BOD!!!" Love, Insoon

Stefanie the evangelist, I'm so glad we made it through!! All the years that have passed have not been as important to me as this one. I thank (I don't know who) for our unique friendship. I love you kid — and it's always been real hard for me to tell you this but you are MY BEST FRIEND. BE GOOD — Your profound partner in crime — Zanners

KELLY MOORE — You're a good friend, I'm glad I met you! I'm gone now, but before I left, I just had to say, "thanks," for making me feel like part of the group. Hope you live a happy life! Good luck with "K"! Love and miss ya. Rebekah Smith

SUZANNE: My one and only fox monster! I must confess ever since the first day I met you on the beach bus, I could tell our friendship would last forever. We've built a stable relationship which could never be broken. Thanks for being so caring and understanding. I love you. Keep smiling! FOX MACHINE

Janine: Having you for a best friend has been perfect! We've had so many memorable times together. Like: our many trips to Rincon, Disneyland, Lake Silverwood, Lake San Antonio, dances, bowling, fast food restaurants, your house and just being together. Thanks for coming into my life and showing me what friendship is all about. I LOVE YOU! COLLEEN

Granny, Gabby, Mindy, Guppy and Karena, Did I miss anyone? Oops banned! You've been great friends this year. Being a Freshman wasn't so bad with you around. We have had a lot of fun times and you're the best friends anyone could ask for. What more can I say? You're all darlings. And thanks a lot, Keith, for the nickname. Love, Smurf(ette)

To the official, privileged members of "The Table:" Gloria, Susie, Lisa D., Chris, Mike, Darren, Tim, Brenda, Liza & Lina, Peter, Salpi and Gracie — Have a cool summer and all, but don't forget where you came from. September. Same time, same place. Your friends, Karen & Heidi

Sexy Song of '86 — It's come and gone but what can I say? We are just too good for yell! So don't be such a — then the missionaries can come visit! Stop stroking your beard and get me a Dr. Pepper! But we can't go to church because there is no — ! Of course the camero-woman won't get any of the jokes. What was that you got for Christmas? DEBBIE: I want to make Mexican food at your house! Your personality is outstanding! JULI: I love your laugh! Jr. and Sr. Prom Queens? Maybe! GRACE: Sorry about academics! Keep up the good work! SHINA: I'll luv ya always! You're the best! MIKE: The athlete and fox of the year — thanks for all your help! SCOTT: What can I say? What could I have done without you? DAVID: The mechanical eye! You're the best! Don't ever change! JOHN: Keep up the good ideas! They'll get published some day! To all the Seniors . . . thank God it's over! To all the Juniors . . . it's only just begun!

> "It has been half real, the other half unreal. Too bad we can't stay in high school forever."

Thanks one and all for making this year the best for me! I LOVE YOU ALL AND I'LL MISS YOU! Forever in my heart — Love, Rappin' Jen

To my BUDDY! Well, honey, all I can say is I love you and do I miss you. The last ten months have been the greatest! We've been through so much — all those memories — Disneyland (sorry if I scared you off), the Dance Concert, July 9th (that special dinner), Baja (the star cluttered nights, the romantic sunsets, the beach, Ensenada, that wonderful Mexican restaurant — What kind of meat is this! I'm going to throw-up!, and what about those showers we took together!), Lake Arrowhead and the frogs!, your B-Day and CATS, school — the backwards dance (Aaron just wear the tights! — you will always be my Romeo), Homecoming and my car filled with balloons and roses (how romantic! and you looked rather handsome in that tux!), Halloween (stoners and team sparkletts! — nice butt!), the Christmas Dance, Christmas Eve (gummie bears!), New Years Eve — (the dance and the parade and afterwards). There have been so many fun times with the best of memories (we have enough pictures to prove that!) Not only do I consider you my boyfriend, but also as my best friend. We've just shared and talked about everything — all our dreams and future plans, juicy gossip, and just plain old stuff. I love just talking and being with you. I'll remember all of our convos, all of your advice, all of the laughter and tears, all of our cuddles, and all of those sincere, silent moments. We have a very special relationship. I love you and I will always love you. There will always be a very precious place in my heart for you. You've given me so much happiness! I'll definitely miss you when we are at college. What am I going to do without my little "peanut brittle"? I hope your future is filled with happiness and success! Go after those dreams of yours, and maybe someday we'll share our futures and all of eternity together. You will always be an important part of my life. I love you! Love Always, Yo-Yo xoxo

TO THE 1985-86 JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADING SQUAD: *My 5 JV VJs. From your very own (B.B.) Head Cheerleader. (Last time!). From the beginning: JV Baseball — "Stevie Wonder!" Landa Laree Larue — Well friend what can I say. Our year is finally here 1986. I will miss you so much but think of all our good times. My party, yo truck, our softball celebration, Gina's parites, Lori's parties, and April parties. Do you remember this "you guys better shut up because my mo is gonna be pissed." Also how about the beach trip we took. I have nev gotten in so much trouble before. We have known each other for so mar years and I will miss you a lot. I LOVE YOU! Remember our charm the 4 us. Friends Forever — Nise

Lobo — We have done some pretty wild things together. Remembe Thrifty's, my party, Gina's parties, Landa's truck, our softball celebratio my Datsun, your parties, and of course Mark Assad's party. But I w never forget Colorado River. That was one of the best times I have ev had. Remember driving Jeff's car around, me driving that boat, and course the PARTY DOCK. Also remember quarters with my mom, flashi with C.C. at the boat, and takiing a pit stop on the boat?!! Remembe Uncle Duke. Yes, I could say we have had some excellent memories. I w miss you. Remember our charm the 4 of us. I Love You! Friends Forever Nise

Gina Da Weina — Even though we have only known each other for a ye we have gotten to know each other pretty good. How about secon period and all the parties we went to and had. We have had some pret wild times. Remember our charm the 4 of us. I Love You! Friends Forev — Nise

GUMBY — Well babe . . . here we go: We first met in Ninth Grade! Yo mom! What kind of commercial was that that Kathy Rigby did? VOLLE BALL!! Yes, we were theee even back then. Then came Tenth Grade VOLLEYBALL (again), spazzes on the court, bus rides and Brady Bunc songs (that we did happen to make up!). Then we moved on to Eleven Grade — VOLLEYBALL (again?), all of our common loves, the ween woman, and unending smiles. Look out . . . here comes the SENIO YEAR! Too rad — We are thee, Let me get my shoes on. All of the doub dates (Ed and a date!), You letting me drive your car, Manager Beef's on heartthrobs, dancing in the quad (get the volleyball team to do it, they'll d anything!), I will give you this much of a . . . what? — I didn't know yo guys talked that way! The Wonder Twins — ACTIVATE!, Carpenteria, Lo Amigos, theee guy on the freeway (TODD), all of the pictures we too OUR GUYS — they're so cute!!! VOLLEYBALL (for the last time), crying the time, Knee slappers, Butt slappers and for the Freshmen . . . fing slappers, Aaron and Ian wannabes, I wonder if that skirt would fit me, bo of our Joe's, warming up to the Mickey Mouse Fan Club Song, Wann trade mugs? Vike a Lirgin, Oh gy mod! Two hard-hats and a belt, anon mous, prohibition, debating, etc. Our presents to Mike and Thomas, bein the only fans at more than one basketball game, too many locker rooters WANT PIZZA! Picking up old men on the freeway and on Boob's b-da my little mexican, goat, gopher, pladipus, and any other cute anima Does the Goat move???? I don't know, let me see. The ugliest E.T. What the deal with the doo? I hate them! Saying I love you to the stoners . "Dude, come back!" Taping episodes, Eh, LE POP (would have bee better than the microwave stuff), thee homecooked meal — pizza ar bubbling grape stuff, I WANT HIM!!! Theee only original uniforms ever Well babe, if I missed anything, I'm sure I'll get it in at the end of the yea Plus, I'm sure there'll be too many more to come! I LOVE YOU GUMBY I'll never forget all the fun times we've had! LOVE, POKEY

To my darling Pebbles, Fishy, Chicken, Puebs, or just plain Debbie W have been joined at the hill tip 2:00, my only friend! I don't have a lot time write this (what else is new?) I've decided that I have put this off lon enough and it is time to do this. Like many other things this year, "It's n hard, it only takes a lot of time, and I don't have any!" I'm very sorry, b this is not going to be a "jewel or masterpiece that you will treasu forever." I just can't put into words what you mean to me. You have bee (hopefully still are because you owe me rides in your Prelude!) a be friend, but our friendship goes beyond that. You understand me. O G.P.A's, our dreams of being college roommates back East in the co (you'll have no problem adjusting, you're not emotionally handicappe are you?), living in the White House and the Admiralty House so when w go shopping, they'll bring the clothes to US, and whatever else I forgo Then there are our short-range plans. HC, JP, SP, we'll stand next to eac other at football games (Debbie, Dir of Sprt!!!), senior year boyfriend Europe, our duet in the assembly (no more Kermit!), sound like fun? I wa to thank you for all the times you have stood by me. If it wasn't for you probably would have been mostly Pebble choice B. Speaking of choice "Bench A or Bench B?" That also reminds me. I sure am looking forwa to dinner at One West. If I drive you better not forget to ask if I want ga money. You do know that I have been keeping track of all the money yo owe me on my computer that's hidden in the back of my closet. We cann forget Hot Dog on a Stick. I will never be able to eat it again. Hamster on Stick. GROSS!! Frogen Yozurt. All of our wonderful classes! I hate Trig Late Night with Gary Keyes, Herman and Nat (we love 'em!), the prim donnas (we'll do "Sun City" next year), and of course, Yearbook (ne year we can let all the division pages get done by people who had nothi to do with the sections!). Well, Pebbles the Webbles, this has been quite year! I love you! Juli (the other chicken and fishy)

f July in Santa Monica; "Our Dream" (Dave & Steve); burnt cookies and tale popcorn (it's the thought that counts); my slumber parties; running ed light on Colorado — no license, but no police; all the movies; chocolate nalted crunch & strawberry ice cream; gum from Lucky's; candy, at rader Joe's? (how embarrassing); WWIII; Zuma Beach — meeting guys n the Ventura Freeway; where is my white belt?; Elton John concert; cting like typical sisters; rollerskating; slipping in hospital parking lot (the urse is out to lunch, figures); Jr. Prom . . . my worst night, your best (ever otice that we were never happy at the same time!); all the dances; all the ames; all the fun!!!!!! How bout those famous quotes: "So, what's his ame?" "Guess how I spent my vacation?"; "You want me to drive you here? Where the @*#% is Diamond Bar?"; "Butt, brat, butt, brat . . ."; Us roommates . . . NEVER!!!!!!!"; "WAIT! How tall are you, and where do ou live? . . . FORGET IT!" (but we never did, did we?) speaking of them, ow can we forget! mine: DH, JB, JL, TS, KE, JD, JT, John-John, Tom- om, and Humbolt State. (oh, how could I forget Mr. . . . himself, KH) ours: CM, JV, M^2, B^2 (various meanings), Stockton, Carpenteria, France ha,ha), and, of course, SM! and the songs to remind us: Crazy For You; Can't Help This Feeling; Forever; Almost Paradise or so we thought); ast Christmas; I Ain't Missing You; and the most memorable, Hello! I'm gonna get hit for that one) Well sweetie, we have had our share of ood and bad times. Thanx for the memories. What would we have done ithout friends like us? BEST OF LUCK ALWAYS! BEST FRIENDS, OREVER FRIENDS! Kare Bear

uli: my little chicken and fishy. My only Friend! That's us, joined at the hip ntil 2:00. This year especially is full of so many memories. As I look back ver the year at all the good times, I realize that you were so much a part of hem. Our "BR" men and our song, "like to get to know you well." My reat talent for listening to certain people. "shhh, I can't hear!" Our requent visits to you know where. The Backwards Dance and our late ight trip to Inn-Out! Yummy!! The dance assembly, yes, we look like Kermit the frog! My daily fight with K. They were all worth it. The woman in old and "Vanity Kills." You have to tilt your head the right way too! Staying with me when my parents were gone. Yum, eating peach pie at :00 in the morning, and having cold pizza and macaroni and cheese for reakfest. Fred the weirdo, what if he calls?! My song! "Blue Kiss" Why . . ? Heidi's frozen yogurt, no that's frogen yozurt! Whatever!! Oh how ould I forget . . . our bet! Dinner at One West sounds really good. But for ny sake I hope you win! How about bench 'A' and bench 'B'? Which would you choose . . . the cute redhead and the awesome dancer, or US!! The fish face! Yuck get her away from him. Our plans . . . for senior year, college, the future. Our Christmas jobs! That's us, the girls at HDS! We ove sticking dogs and pouring lemonades. "Glendale Hot Dog on a Stick . . ." This year has really been the greatest. Your friendship is what made t so great: You and I share so many of the same goals, dreams, and alues. You are such an important part of my life, where would I be without ou? I love you baby and I hope our friendship lasts a lifetime. Thank you o much for all that you have done for me. You truly are the best friend I could ever ask for. Love ya lots, Debbie (Pebbles)!!!!

Andre (note no a), my only friend, what a boring life we would have if it wasn't for our exciting nights! Let's cruise Foothill! or we could go to McD's. Did you get the same thing as ME again! Let's get H-A-P-P-Y neals. Summer: Pismo 6-pack, swings, charades, 7AM walk — dumb! I kipped a rock, FINALLY! What about the jellyfish? I know nothing about ellyfish! Boy are we scums, but we can sure drop ice cream good! Let's o play video games, NOW! The year started out with a "BUMP", our first ccident, glad it was with you. Retreat: 2 for each of us, you got it, our aking bus helped. I LOVE MOOSE! Youth group became our life. Pic-n- ave, my favorite place to laugh! Look what I got, a PENGUIN! ME TOO! et's decorate floats for 18 hours!$3 roses? sure. I want to glue straws & ump them in cornmeal, we could get lots of attention! By the way, who do ou hate? FRESHMEN? What about people in general? Let's not forget ew Year's! We were so tired we would laugh at anything! SHARE & HARE ALIKE! But please not like that again! It's going to be a WEIRD & WILD year! What did YOU do last night? Orange juice, YUK! Gobble down wheat thins! The 7-up went in one sip! Boy do we like straws! Just wanted o remind you of some of the things we've done together. Oo, Ah, Wow, Gee, That's Great! Let's do some more. OK? OK! Love always, "Da? my ame is . . . "Kelly, your obnoxious friend!

My baby brother, Mongo Lips, 14 already & going after girls, I can't elieve it, you are still my little brother who's arm I pulled out dragging you ut of my room. My best buddy & worst enemy! Remember me telling you I was a ghost, playing with little people, you pushing me off the balcony! lust don't drag me in the ocean anymore! O.K. MICHAEL, I'M LEAVING, NOW! Get away from me! THANKS for being there & understanding when was having problems & making me laugh! If you ever need to talk I'm cross the hall. Love your sis, FATHEAD!

uperior SOPH PIGS!!!! 85-86, Hi guys! Whatsa happenin a hot stuff? Well, I never thought this year could end. You all are the five best friends ve ever had. We've been through so much together: Camp, SUMMER! ootball, Basketball, shopping for the ugliest outfits ever, buying, spend- g, wasting money, kidnapping, being kidnapped, Posters break — hrus, parties, practices, punch, fights, the list goes on!!!! Jennie — Squad Geek, Spierduck, Beaker, Shack, Retard? — Jen you're a total weetheart. I know I laugh in your face when you tell me you hate me but I ve ya!! You're so organized and brainy and an awesome piglet I'm really oin' to miss your gayness!!! Melissa, Melvina, Squad Brat, Ernie, Shack, - OH YES, THATS EXACTLY WHAT I DID!! Melissa, I did not go, I did not o!!!! Mel I think we're gonna make it as friends, you're such a doll and I now "I'm such a jerk" I love your black shoes and your soph legs and a

Mel, I'll be sure to be there the next time Bryce throws up in your face again. Kelly, Kelvina, Squad get her way, shack SANDI, Bert, Nanas, Oh my gosh you make me gag!! Lets eat in the quad on the floor!, Private bathroom talks at D's party, do you remember any of them? Grandparents forgetting a birthday, they live for that HI!!!! you're cute! Kell we've been thru so much together, all of our talks about guys, many in particular!!! You're the best! Oh bye Sammy, this is Lisa & Tonya. April — Apples, Squad Mouth, Cookie Monster, Spaz, Rizzo, Mansion, — Oh my gosh you're gorgeous!! Ape we have been thru soooo much, I can't believe we made it. Always helping each other and talks about EVERYTHING!!! Together every day of summer, Eating in the cafe and actually having proof to show!!! Cream, I'm using Cream!! The donut bath and soda shower. You finally met you know who, Burroughs tradition, helping me move, you and K, and me and K God!!!, I must stop now — and give me our Guess jeans before your mom washes them. Hold me while we play cards and I can't end up losing. It's interesting, sometimes you start and sometimes I do; yet rolling for several hours after is always good for my constitution. I hope it still does something for you. Christmas presents . . . Electric razor (I barely have any hair on my face but it cuts heart shapes wonderfully!!!) . . . sunglasses (crooked, but the strap I love) . . . green book (who knows what will become of the green book? I hope I live through this ESO stuff) . . . flannel shirt (the second most comfortable shirt in my wardrobe — swaets#1) . . . you also gave me caring which was probably the best part. This caring stuff has been going on for quite some time — two and a half years now. Maybe I'll know you forever? Now and then I'll meet your husband and kids; at the same time I think I'll love you forever. Thank you for helping me grow up. What shall we have? moo shu or chimichanga? Lace teddy or a? mushrooms with pizza or "Desperately Seeking Susan"? blow my stomach or blow shshshsh? I was thinking of you the whole time. You have given me a once in a lifetime experience and I don't know whether I should jump for joy or sit down and savor the moments. I think I'll savor now and jump later. Oh yeah, how do you like the way FASHIONS came out? Is that marvelous or what? I love you . . . adieu until I see you in the next episode of "Days of Lady and Ben's Life." Blue jeans and T-shirts, Ben

Kevin — I'm glad I met you! We went through a lot with Heather and sometimes it wasn't much fun! But we finally made it!! We have a lot of memories from this year and I'll never forget them. Remember the sign that almost fit in your trunk, Heather and her reflectors. Well, every time I go by the Church by the Holy Touchdown I'll think of how you, Heather, and I used to drive by all the time. Well, I hope those days aren't gone because we had lots of fun! You'd better keep in touch wih me after you graduate! We'll always be friends!!! love; Jill

To the most awesome 1985-86 JV Cheerleaders!!! How can I sum up the best year of my life in only a few words? It's got to start with Farrels — To tell you the truth, I sincerely thought I was gonna die when Steph started burning on that guy sitting next to us, but we made it, and what a year it has been! In this entire world, there are only 6 of us who can actually say that we are the infamous — VJ's!! No one else can do the JV VJ: signal, word, handshake, wave, laugh, welcome, clap, and the thousands of other "JV VJ" classifications that I have forgotten. And no one else will have gotten to almost all baseball games late (Steevie Wonder!), gotten in trouble for eating, made up a camp cheer in less than a week, or gone to a Football banquet only to eat Big Mac's in the rain! Bug: Thanks for always being there to listen to me complain and for insisting that we get the wonderful "no-necks". I'll never forget your high-pitched laugh, but most of all, please . . . DON'T SHOOT!!! B-Gach: Baby, where do I start? You're my partner in crime . . . THE "B" HUNT!!! — Suspect digging deep . . . Could find valuable evidence! Driving on the wrong side of the road, Weird people lurking behind bushes, Don't leave the keys in the car!! Spying over the freeway — that's them!! Wonder Brush! Betsy and Bernice, a perfect match! The suspects finding us in the parking lot, VERN, and most of all, those guys asking me (of all people) Ma'am, if I gave you the money, would you . . .!!! Squad B: "Tricky maneuvers" while playing basketball during half time was the absolute best! You're not only the best at making up words, but also rhymes at baseball games (Mike n' Ike, etc!!!) And if nothing else, forever remember the mud and your special adventures in it!!! Twiggy (Soin); KIRRRRRRRRRRRRK!!! "Mary Bufu!!" "Hi, my name is Sandra Marshall, and I'm here to tell you about . . . MEATARON!!! It's a JV VJ treat! "Crazy for you" — TOTAL!! Unforgettable football, doing gay disco moves, Christie Brinkely model poses, standing in front of that dumb brown thing — not being able to see, and jumps in chain reactions. Don't forget . . . You're a TEAM — 50 guys united into one!! . . . (you know the rest!) And the memories will go on, . . .

"It's like MEGA!!!" Gilbert: The one and only person who knows my mind better than myself, and the only nerd who will brush her teeth out of the window of a 2 story building! You're the best, "BABE!" Conversations till 4, Ben Gay between our toes — It's burning and tingling! "Kiss Me" and "Good-Bye Bad Times" Homecoming, dropping your knife, and "Take those nylons and turn them around . . ." You're my twin, and there's no doubt about it. All of our thousands and thousands of memories I will treasure in my heart forever. But always remember, Lemon Lane is ours forever — and don't forget to bring your breadcrumbs! VJ's: You're the best. No, not "Excellent", but SUPERIOR! REVENGE OF THE NERDS — FOREVER!!!!!!! Who else could "Block her out" and then guarantee UNITEMENT forever? You have made my life the best! All I can say is, . . . If you're proud to be a VJ, do all three: (the laugh, uhuhuhuhuh) (the signal . . . BRRRRRRRRRPT — Ding!) and (say the word . . . MEATRONI!) And to succeed in life, always remember to wear the wrong socks!!! I love you guys! VJ's forever n' ever n' ever!!! Always, "Bath" The stubborn one, who was also the biggest perfectionist you've ever met!

To my sweet friends: Ann the , Wendy the Christy the innocent, and me, the and to all my other good friends. Senior year is the best ever! Football games with mustard and ketchup. Mustard? Have you tasted it? I have! Freshman? They walk so fast! Our daily lunch outings — indecision! Hey Bernie! Weenie! Don't call me Cindy — just Sid. The boys' bathroom at the park at lunch? I LOVE YOU STEVE! Utah bound. Powder buffs forever. Who's running for president? College bound crazies Meeting in Nevada? You bring the . . . The A. and S. fermenting co. fer sure. Get the "stuff". Mt. Waterman locals. Phil's impossible date. Too weird for school. You brain cramp! It's too big, Steve! Junya gonna get a waiva! Humbolt totally. Northridge yah! Christy and Tom. Me in Utah. Homework? What's that? I love you guys! Don't lose your flowers! Yes, dorm rooms are great! — the afterlife And that's a mighty long time! Love will keep us together! Sid

Dearest Brian, Hi honey bear! So many things are going through my mind right now. Which beginning should I start at? You've been involved with me and my life for really two years now, and it's really hard to think of the very best and most memorable times, because yes, there are so many. Lito, you have no idea what it means for me to be your girlfriend. It all started with a swing, even though at the time we were both dreading the whole night. And look how far we've come. Bri, let's look back at the memories: Our first kiss (and to this day I still believe that you kissed me) The first official date to Magic Mountain, with the topper of the evening, losing the truck. Little did I know that was the beginning of something very special, even though it took me a while to realize it. But time did tell didn't it? We went through many ups & downs, and I know everything was my doing, but that was the past, because you know I Love You very much. Let's look at some more memories, Our first dance, it was special, Though I don't think we really knew what to expect out of the night. But the dances continued. I'm sorry about a certain backwards dance which lead a certain person to leave the junior prince stranded in the parking lot. But I knew you would get home safely. And then there was the junior prom, a dance which broke our trend. It came and left us as fast as our dates, (who shall be nameless). And we then gave it another try. I can't say we double dated very much, but the times we did were once in a lifetime memories. At least "Essay" thought so. I hope I didn't ruin his night, poor guy! That day was fun. I think you know me better than anyone else. We've talked about so many things and the minute we graduate, whether we want it to or not, things will change. We'll both be at college, and we hope and pray that it won't change our relationship, but in reality the big man upstairs is the only one I will ever love, but no one can truly know. But I do know Brian, that you've taught me how to love cuz I have fallen in love with you. You are in my thoughts now and forever, so don't forget no matter where our goals & ambitions take us in life, "I WILL ALWAYS LOVE YOU MORE THAN WORDS CAN EVER SAY!" I will miss you, Bri . . . Love Kirsten 86'

Hi B.C., Well, hasn't this been an eventful year? Ouil Summer was the BEST!! Driving in Westwood, Deanna (You guys! Leave!) chats by the pool, the buzz-brothers, etc. I'll always remember those times. I'm really glad we became buddies. I don't know what I'd do w/o you. But then again, where would you be w/o me? You would lack the colorful lingo you now have (chick, green, clam, fire up) and have nobody to discuss Elton with. I'm your confident, your entertainment advisor, and your masseuse. Your my advice column, my encourager, and my biggest pain in the *@$#! But you know I'll always put up with you and be there when you need me. There was a time when saying "I love you" to you would have been hazardous to our relationship. However, I don't think the threat is there anymore. I do love you, Neal and I think you know that. I hope nothing ever gets in the way of our unique friendship. Bonsoir monsieur. Love, Chick

Chrissy Sue — Where do I start? Endless weekends at my house — especially those with our MEN!!!!!! (How many?) And how many shots? Palm Springs — "I can't help it, I'm so !!!!" "Do I have to take my underwear off too?" NO!!! There are so many others but they probably can't be written in here. Don't ever forget, there are MILLIONS more to come! I love ya always big time — Tricia Poo clAIRe — HEAD — Hey you big geek!!!!!!!!!!! In such a short time you have become such a good friend. May we go on forever in life bedhopping!! (haha) Even though the year's gonna end and we'll graduate, the fun's never gonna end. Maybe during summer I can set you up with someone (I'm J/K!!) I promise I'll try not to. Oh yeah, Rhonda wanted me to tell you — you're allowed to finally unlock your belt!!! Love ya always, TOODLES — The other BIG GEEK.

Shanna Banana: Well, we made it through 18 years together. Can you believe it? Where do I start? We will always remember Christmas and Thanksgiving breakfast and dinner, birthdays, nights at each others houses, and at Gwamer's house, her cooking class, Batman and Wonder-woman in your pool, Super , Superman — "you broke my arm!", shopping in L.A., the yellow bathrobes, Job's Daughter's, Queen Shanna, floats, learning to drive, dead battery at Kenny's, Sooky and Taffy, and Buppy too, cheerleading, D.O.S.S. posters, Billy and Andre, Jeff and the Air Force, waterskiing — Ha Ha, Mammoth and our ski trips, the beach, bikerides, the white horse, your accident, Huey Lewis, Scott and Paul — the locals, Mexico, Tijuana taxi, the blankets, Holy God!, "Jason modulate your voice", "Tell her to shut up!", movies at your house, candied apples at 12:00 am, Catalina, miniature golf, "How's Creamy?", our mothers, yibour libanguibage wibeth ibamiby, Rob Lowe, and of course, Miss America. There are so many other good times I'll never forget. I wish you the best of luck in everything you do. YOU ARE AWESOME!!! Love always, Josey Posey Ya, right Shanna.

Gabs, Another year of French over at last! Did you think that we would survive? I am so glad that we became close this past year. You are a very special person to me. I will never forget all the fun we had dancing and at games! Je t'aime Dawnee

Rock — What can I say? Our friendship has grown so much & so fast & we have done so much . . . Bermuda triangle at Manhattan, falling in ocean holes, Run DMC, When I Woke Up Dis Mornin . . . hand n hand, Backwards — do they live in the bathroom? Jason in the trees, We're like this!!! Homecoming: The winner is . . . , squirt guns, Trev's bev's, jag; Huntington Beach — marshmallows (Between toes); I gave FREEDOM to everyone, YMCIMP, drop your top baby, she's totally serious! ACES, the serious look, playing guitar, Howard, Aha, Scritti, Go West, the flip (OUCH!), disco, cheers, This is no longer a vacation . . . it's a quest 4 fun! YB Camp — Would you like something to eat? Froot loops, mad libs, togas, the plant, You're a & I'm telling you that right now! WOW!! I'm your boyfriend now! in the toilet, A black guy? What a fat butt! ISN'T, I'm sooo embarassed 4 you! We'll have so much flippin fun they'll have to surgically remove our smiles & we'll be whistling Zip-a-dee-doo-dah out of our ! I hate it when that happens! Barry Manilow Jane Fonda Workout, Hickeys in the hot tub, Hating, You're always invited — that's so burnt! Fake fights, American jumping beans? You've only given 2? Hhhappy Neeww Year — AIDS Singing to the back seat, YOO HOO, YA HOO, Got a rock, she's a, I need a hug . . . rrriight do it wime, CLU roommates 4-ever!!! Well, I guess you had to be there . . . I am greatful for all you have given me! I luv U bud, you are sooo special to me!!! Loob

"The" Brett — To the one, and only, person who always seemed to know just when I needed a special friend, and was right there to be it. We've been friends for 13 years, I only hope we can remain this close for at least that many more. You have made the bad times bearable and the good times even that much more enjoyable. (we won't mention you banging on our adjoining hotel door at 2AM!) Thank you, so much, for . . . simply being you! Love you always, Brody p.s. You may not want to, but you have grown up!

Boofer — Where do I start? You've added so much to the past year and a half of my life, your understanding, your company, your tolerance, and especially that way you had the ability to bring a smile to my face by merely being there. I don't know what I would have done without you. You came into my life when I needed a dear friend the most, and oh how you've fulfilled that role. You, so easily, understand my every feeling, and you never hesitated to guide me through the rough times. It's been said that "a true friend knows everything about you but loves you anyway". Boy, is this true, sometimes I think we know too well! It's been so nice to have someone around who is so easy to talk to. You've never shut me out, and I'm so thankful for that. When all my other friends turned me away you were right there to pick me up and put me back on my feet. I will never forget all that you have done for me, the friendship we've developed and the memories we've shared. You will always be a very special part of my life. I WILL LUV YOU FOREVER!!! Kare Bear p.s. Best of luck always! I will miss you so much!!!!!!

SPARKY KALLAHAN — I want to thank you for teaching me so much about relationships. You taught me how to be honest and how to trust. I knew that you cared and I believed in you. That day in my car I wish we would have been honest with each other. That, I feel, was a big mistake. I had you and I let you go. I just plain and simple blew it. You said you would never hurt me intentionally and you never did. I know that B.S. was just . . . whatever. I was hurt, but I know you didn't do it to hurt me. At night I wonder if you ever think about me. I hope you do occasionally. I'm glad I have something, it's better than nothing. Thank you for Clint Eastwood, my dad's house, and just being there. You never let me down. I'll never forget about you and, "Don't you forget about me." Holmes

TO MY ROOMMATE: Well, here we go . . . the end of a childhood of memories only to lead us to an adulthood of awesomeness. Do you know how rare it is for two best friends to go to the same college??? We have sooo much to look forward to! Just think . . . we'll be able to come back to our ten year reunion looking like the two foxiest women and we'll still be best friends! Maybe our kids can even be friends! That is if we ever get married — hint, hint you guys!! That would be awesome! Well, I could begin to tell the whole world about all of our stupid memories that mean nothing to anyone else but us, but I'm not going to. Instead I've just got one thing to say . . . I love you and I wouldn't have traded spending the last year with you for anything? Just one thing — I need a hug to get through the day!!! Well, here's to the best future!!! Love your roommate.

Wendies, Aides, & Bridge — "Where in the (blank) is my (blankin) sleeping bag? Someone stole my (blankin) sleeping bag!"; Westwood (the bus); miniature golfing; 84-85 New Year's Eve; rollerskating; rollerskating rabbits in the Doo-Daa Parade (remember that, Wen); Halloween; kidnappings; WWIII (glad we all survived); "Kare, it's 3:30 am, where in the . . . have you been?"; Aides putting hole in bathroom wall . . . what a night!!!; Christmas Dance; my 16th birthday "Bridge, what are you doing?"; "Guys, I don't feel so good."; Sacred Heart ("if you guys don't shut up, you are gonna walk!"); all the dances, all the movies, all the games, all the parties, all the fights, yet all the FUN!!! Thanx! Best of luck, Love, Kare

Heather — I NEVER really showed it, but you are one of the dearest people, and I've always considered myself quite lucky to have you for a friend: BEST OF LUCK ALWAYS Love you, Kare Bear

Jodi Wodi — I'm not sure where to start. We have had so many good times, I don't think I could even name them all. What abouut when we went skiing for our first time — you falling face first, spread eagle when you got up, and me crashing into that lady — Look! I saw the octopus move! — Joe Instructor — "Is there a turnout around here? Well find one, quick!" The long weekend at your house with all the food, the Trival Pursuit, and all the . My first driving experience in the Civic parking lot — "Watch out for the pole!" Tee-peeing you know who five times, and hiding in the bushes and your car for ten minutes. The Rose Bowl Game — the Chipwiches and the guys who gave us "AIDS" — look at all the guys. The phone call from Maine during the summer, going to Raging Waters, and Magic Mountain. Band Camp — going to your house to sit next to the air conditioner and having . My birthday — playing Truth or Dare at 10:00 p.m. where it turned into a very embarassing truth game. Bobby McGee's — the guy I was drooling over all night, and Chef Polet. My knee operation — you always being there, giving me support and encouragement when I needed it. And our sayings — Sure Bob (where do I know you from?), (come on) you mother!, oh well!, Chuck Berris 1,2,3 . . . NEAT!, WHATEVER!, and cozy. We have had so many long and caring talks. I don't think I can ever repay your friendship you have given me. Even though we've known each other for about two years, we have grown to be the closest. You are the best and have been so good to me. I know we will always keep in touch and stay best friends forever. I wish you the best of luck in the future. I will always be here for you. I love you so much. Love your friend forever, Robbin Bobbin, a.k.a Rob, a.k.a. Robin.

To my dearest BVL, Bry-Bry, Bryan, Sexy, BRYAN, You have finally survived your final year. I hope that it fulfilled all your expectations!! I want to aplogize for all the times I called late — I know your mother must hate me! I also wanted to thank you for giving me a chance to share time with an extremely special young man. You have a very special place in my heart. We have had so many great times together and I want to thank you. Homecoming, football and basketball games (when you were so obnoxious), Bob's, the Loft, stag dances were all so memorable to me. All I can say is that I love You Bry. You are going to get everything you deserve someday, and when you do, it is going to be the best. Bryan, you are the best. I will always love you, Me (the burnt one). P.S. You are my inspiration, and yes, I still respect you.

Dearest Der: Well, where should I begin? We have occupied each other's lives for a little more than 3 years now. What years they have been! We can truly say that we have been through a lot! But — we have emerged as wonderful friends. You taught me a lot, Mainly — how to love someone. You also helped me through so much; expecially the diet! Thanks once again. I know, that without your encouragement and nagging me to keep going, I would have never had the willpower to reach my goal. 4 years of school together — we met in 9th, and you became my first love. I know we had our share of problems, tears (mine), heartaches, fights, wonderful times as well as bad. There are so many things, nearly impossible to write them all down. You were a tremendous part of my life — my best friend, my shoulder to cry on. I appreciate your sticking by me. I know the problems that I caused you; any other guy would have left me. Many thoughts are going through my head as I reflect back through our relationship. I would like you to remember "us", and I want to leave you with a few last thoughts as we leave C. V. and enter the outside world: I will always cherish our love and relationship and my heart has a very special place for you. The memories are there, please don't lose them. I wish you all the best for your future. I will add one last thing . . . I will ALWAYS love you no matter what!!

Thanks again for the years, support, love caring, etc . . ., you know me, could go on forever. With all my love and sincerity — Ker

Chewing Guam — you guys are awesome in your own perverted ways Amn Bua: your "mixes" are just a little too outrageous! Tone them down and I hope to see you at SB. Efs Zras: thanks for your help in computers. Here's to remembering the 4th of July. Fish: gidday, mate. Keep playing your kazoo, and I hope you find someone who can kidnap you better than us. Jew: good morning! Guitar institute and then Minnesota, huh? I wish you the best of luck in all your endeavors. You deserve the best!! It's been real, you guys. Keep in touch, okay? I'll miss ya. Your most faithful groupie, Karyn

BRY & BRAD — I can express how I feel for you two in four words: I love you guys! You are the closest people to me besides my family. In a big way you two are a part of the family. No one has been as lucky as I have two friends as great as you guys. I really miss you two. ". . . and in tree." I love you babes, Brett

HEY SIS! CAN YOU BELIEVE WERE ALMOST OUT OF HERE? I CANT. JUST WANT TO SAY THAT YOU ARE MY BESTEST FRIEND AND WOULD NEVER HAVE BEEN ABLE TO MAKE IT THROUGH ALOT OF THINGS WITH OUT YOU. WEVE SOME GREAT TIMES THAT I WILL NEVER FORGET. JUST THINK ABOUT ALL THE CRAZY THINGS WEVE DONE TOGETHER AND THE GUYS THAT WERE JERKS. OUT OF ALL MY HIGH SCHOOL YEARS THE TIME I SPENT WITH YOU WERE BY FAR THE MOST MEMORABLE ONES. THANX FOR PUTTIN UP WITH ME AND ALL MY WORRIES. GOOD LUCK WITH BRIAN AND DON'T FORGET THAT ILL ALWAYS BE HERE FOR YOU. BUT MOST OF ALL THANX FOR BEING MY TWIN SIS. I LOVE YA. BRIAN AND DAMON FOREVER. LOVE SIS.

Heather — The Nose — I'm so happy that I met you! We've had lots of fun this year! How could I ever forget — Guard Dog (I wonder who she's going to guard next year!!), Miss Bell, Church of The Holy Touchdown, Our Burger Cooker, My 'Old' friends (your favorites!), P.E. (BASKETBALL!), Burger Garden, Our Song and TV notes, The Crest, L.C. Guys, "lets go cruising!!", Football games, New Years Eve — We had the whole house! IN-N-OUT, JACK AND THE BOX, ROCKY IV — I wasn't crying!!!, S.L. Thompson Twins concert, "Look at this face!", Big Ears, Short Stuff; Cutie pie. Connie, the Julies, Jenny, and you — how many other "Kevin lovers" are there. Well, you still liked him through all of them — even though a lot of people told you to give up. Well, in the end it all will work out great!! You helped me thru every thing and I'll never forget you! Next year we'll go cruisin' all the time!!!! I luv ya babe!!! love, Bright Eyes — Jill

Keith — I don't know how things will be when you read this, because we broke up a couple nights ago. I just hope we'll be able to work things out. I want you to know something that will last forever. You'll always be my "knight in shining armor" that swept me off my feet faster than any guy has before. I love you, your princess (Janice)

Moira — Hey Babe, American Beauties all the way! I could go on forever about memories, but I'll leave that for the end of the year. I have so much respect for you and cherish our friendship. We'll be friends forever, so don't forget it! Remember all our dreams. Love you Lots, Janice

Laura — Those Foxy Legs will get you any where you want to go! I'm so glad we've been so close this year. I don't know what I would of done with out you. You've been one of my best buds, I won't begin to write down our memories, but they've been some of the best and funniest. Love ya Janice

Fall Semester Cabinet — Room 55, Heaven or Hell?!! Backdrops, snowfakes, ticket sales, candy canes, balloons, will we get it all done. You guys were the best, and so much fun. It would take forever to write my memories and feelings. WE MADE IT!! Remember we love "that girl!" Best luck for the future, Your Prez.

Dearest Chud, Just a few things to remind us of the year that now lies behind us: Punker — do, our list, swapping journals, drink that V-8, planning and scheming, getting lost in the rain, swim practice (hi, I'm Tracy, & I'm a happy timer!) giving up on life to be a hare-krishna, the pay phone at the Sav-on (Hi, my name's Joanne from the Sun Solar Energy Co., and . . .), our moles matching our almost identical lives, let's call it a day, backwards dance, and of course, MY PARTY!!! I love you, Waver Write Back!!! Love ya truckloads, A-me

Dear Deb, Can you believe we're graduating?! We've gone through so much and we've accomplished a lot too! I'm so happy that we've had each other to turn to when troubled but most of all to just have fun! Our friendship will ALWAYS mean a great deal to me! Thanks for always being there to laugh with me, to cheer me up when I was sad, and to calm me down when I was mad! You're the greatest! Remember that you're my # 1 FRIEND! Love, Shell

Dear Schell, You're a great friend and I value our friendship very much! I hope that it will continue even though I'm graduating. Thanks for always listening and helping. You can always count on me! I wish you good luck in your Senior year. I know you'll have a lot of fun! Love, Shell

To My Terrific Dad: Daddy, it's you that's made me feel #1, You've let me have so much fun! I cannot say how much I care, That for me, you've always been there. You cannot say that you're not the best, Because you sure as heck beat the rest! Thank you so much for everything you've done, So please remember that you too are #1. I value our friendship this is true, I also love you very much too! Love Always, Your Good Kid

Karyn (better known as Vicious to those of us who know her!) — SAN FRANCISCO, HERE WE COME! The terrible two are on their way! We are going to have a blast, my friend! But on to more serious things . . . We have quite a few memories, don't we? Days of tears and pain, but at the present, we are on top of the world. I hope both of our men are still our men when you read this. Good Luck, all right? Remember caroling with my church? Remember modern dance and that song which I can't seem to recall the name of? hours spent practicing? And, by the way, I've given up trying to juggle all those guys, at least for now! HAHA! Thanks for all the laughs and keep in touch. xoxo Melinda

Ashley — WOW! What a life we've led! Talking 'til midnight about all the guys! "Let's walk to Thrifty on Saturday!" "Did you correct the papers for Mrs. Sambar?" Remember sandwiches, cookies, and Cherry Hi-C's? What about the stationwagon that followed us? We were so scared! High school has been a blast, and a lot of hard work, too! But at last we are seniors! I've had Senioritis since I was a sophomore. Remember Mrs. Berg's class and that cute blond guy across the room? You've been a great friend and a lot of fun. I know we'll keep in touch forever! God bless you now and always! I love you! xoxoxo Melinda

Daryl, Drew, Dan, Mark, Pat, Karyn — HALLELUJAH! We're seniors at last! You guys (and gal) have made this the most memorable year of my life. Football games, parties, and lunchtime antics will be my favorite memories of high school! We are one wild and crazy bunch! Let's keep in contact these next few years and always! I love you guys! xoxo The most conservative one of the group — ME

Dear John, We've come along way since we met what 3 years ago. You are still very special to me and you always will be. I look back on all the wonderful times we have spent together and also looking forward to all the great times to come before us. All those fun and exciting times at the street races almost getting hit, almost getting in fights and beating those hot rod racers "wana be racers" There are just so many great times we have spent together too many to mention. But then we can't look over the rare times we have fought. But for some reason the good times over power the bad times which I am thankful for. Babe how can I express our relationship together? It is so wonderful and I love being with you 24 hours a day. I look forward to our years to come which I am sure is many. Thanks for putting up with me for so long I appreciate all the advice and help you have given me through out our relationship; how can I ever thank you? Thanks for being who you are and for being a great friend when I needed that. I love you always. ALWAYS AND FOREVER!!! Love ya Debby . . .

Radical Six — I'll tell you guys for the last time, it all smells the same. I've been smelling it all my life and I'm convinced; not unexperienced. What's this "honorary nookie monster" stuff? I got the closest!! She kept asking, "What kind of girl do you think I am?" MILO — I love you for your car. If it smells, you know what to do with it!! CHRIS — All those dirty magazines — I'm amazed that you aren't blind. MIKE — Is the surf up yet? Gettin' tubed in a wave is nothin' like gettin' tubed in the back seat of your car. You'll see. SAM — IF I was half as good-looking as you, I'd Have 50 lawsuits against me . . . not to mention calluses and chafing. To all: get a buzz, get a job, get a woman, get a life, get some help — you need it!!!! "dearly beloved, we are gathered here to get through this thing called life . . . (the crowd roars) . . . King Tut . . . Barroom Brawl. Nothing has changed. I'm not going to practice, maybe tomorrow? It has been half real, the other half was unreal. Too bad we can't stay in High School forever. Ben

Leslie — You're making me live, whatever this world can give to me. You, you're all I see, you're making me live. You're the best friend that I ever had. I've been with you such a long time, you're my sunshine, and I want you to know that my feelings are true, I really love you. I could wander around, but I'd still come back to you. You're my best friend. You're making me live. Whenever this world is cruel to me I've got you to help me forgive. You're the first one when things turn out bad. I really love the things that you do. You're my best friend . . . I decided that song said it just right. Only one more year for us in this place Less, and then our "somedays" become our todays. And for all of the dreams that we dream together, as happy as it made us to dream, think of what life will be like when we see all of our dreams coming true! (you've got to have a dream, if you don't have a dream, how you gunna make a dream come true?) I love you, (but you didn't know that) Lesley

A.A.A. — Well how are the Dodgers! What about that nice white LIMO!!! MMM!!! Drop off the truck and come on ladies. What do we do NO WAY!! Your wives wouldn't like that. All hands but no rings. GREAT! Now we're in trouble. Ditch them we have school 2-morrow. Barbs mom will shoot us all. Mine wouldn't say much. Mine either. O.K. We will meet you there. HAHAHA!!!! Claire you drive like a maniac! It was fun! We must do it again!!!! LOVE YOU ALWAYS, SHELLSBELLS!! (A.A.A. — BARBARA, CLAIRE, & SHELLEY)

THE GIRLS — What do I say? You girls have been good friends. I am really happy that we have all become friends. We're not with everybody as much anymore but you girls are still my #1 friends. Thanks for the talks that cheered me up a lot!!! Hope we can get together and have a girls — only BLAST!!!! Don't worry about the guys you will all get the good ones. LOVE YOU ALWAYS, SHELLS BELLS

To a real special sis!!! Deb, your the best. I have so many things to say to you so let me start out with how you have helped me through my struggles, my sad times, my disappointments and my happy times. Whenever I have something to say you always seem to be there!!! No matter how far away our future will lead us from each other, I know there is something between us that will keep us together forever and always. You're not only the best sister I have but my best friend too!!! And I Love You!!!! Love you lots, your sis LeAnna

> "Who else would . . . dress up as turbin women or become the founders of a "near normal" club?"

Jill – Bright Eyes – I'm glad I got to know you. You've been there to listen and help me with my problems. I know we've had our ups and downs, but in the end it's worked out for the best and we've become BEST FRIENDS and it was worth it and if I had the chance I'd do it again cause you're worth it. Remember B.G. with the gang, J.M. and the curbs, L.C. with your sis, Partys with D and H, Watch out for the cars on the freeway, the first movie we saw together Rocky IV and you cried, the crest,

M.D. with the hamburger man, cutting your hair, P.E. with SPY BOY n STUCK-UP, private school, TV notes, song notes, Buckwheat – Spanky, Football games, Bird-Day-half Bird-day, Charms one of a kind, HEY-BABE, Big Ears, Burger King job, cross word puzzle, X BEST FRIEND, 100 notes, Watch out for TEADY, and we'll go cruisen this summer Stay sweet and nice and you can be a spaz cause I wouldn't take you any other way. I'm glad I had 1 class with you, P.E. was fun. Your a great person and a best friend anyone could want to have. Don't buy any Bell Bottoms and next year we can see if the leash is still around the tree, but with a new dog. REMEMBER look at that face, I love that face at the THOMPSON TWINS with H.K., A.R., you abd I. Love the Nose

Mexicali! Led Zepplin is the greatest. That's for sure. All else is a mystery. And it makes me wonder . . .

Chester, what to say except that another year has gone by. I know we weren't that close this year in the beginning but at least we're okay now. I love you loads and don't EVER forget it. Just remember, always exit the Matterhorn on your left and thank you for not smoking. Kansas (Not no more!!)

Dear VAche. next year we will finally be big seniors. You are an awesome basketball player. I can't wait to see you playing Varsity next year. You are the best friend a guy could ask for. Even though you lost my Air Supply tape. Let's stay best friends for a long time to come, but this time let's not drift slowly apart like this year. Let's have a great senior year. Oh ya get rid of Ann she is only holding back. Best Pal, Muscles

Dear MSR. Well I am so glad our relationship is still going and I'm glad we never gave up on each other even though there were some trying times. By the time you read this we will have been together for around nine months. Not many people can say that at CV — and I'm sure we'll be together much longer too. If I have it my way we'll spend the rest of our life together. Remember "Say You Say Me," "Against All Odds," tomatoes on grilled cheese, bow and arrow, Colorado River, Marine Man, and our special summer together. What great memories which I'll never forget. I love you more than you'll ever know and I will always LOVE YOU no matter what so don't for get it. Can't wait till we get out of CV so we don't have to listen to Ann anymore, thank God. Just remember you're the most special thing in my life and I never want to lose you. Love always! CSR

Dear POOKIES: Remember T & B in 9th? Or E & M in 10th & 11th? Or how about at Daddies "Hey Grandma"? God we had so much fun! Oh what about 24 "Andres" boy that was fun! Mitches all summer . . . Old Eng . . . or the best Bidicardidigi!!! Yea! I can't wait until the big day, can you? But the best is yet to come! Someday soon Mr. T,D, & H will come to the rescue, I'm ready! I luv ya a lot and I'm glad your my best friend because good friends are hard to find! Luv YA . . . TEddy!

To '85-'86 seminary classes. Well, we've made it once again. No more 5:00 AM wake-up's for 3 months. Congratulations to all the Doctorate earners. YEAH! Thanks to Sis. Speierman & Sis. Ballard. You've made it a great year. Hope you're all looking forward to next year . . . a year of great times before the rest of the world awakes! Gooooood Morning seminary students. HA, HA, HA. Horray for Dr. Bro. Neely. Have a great time sleeping in. — T and J

To David; Paul, Alex, Bruce, and all our other friends. David, don't try to be tough cuz you are wimpy, wimpy, wimpy. Wannabees can't be tough, Dave. WANNA, WANNA, WANNA. Paul, dood, it's not right for someone your age to have a harem so dump about 50 of the girls you know. Give it up Don Juan! Alex, I agree, the lock & key theory does suck. Don't ever forget the snorks either. Alex . . . Look at me . . . Have you ever had a bananna up your nose, it's not enjoyable. Bruce, or Buzzhead, we know who you like so don't try to hide it. Let Jennie, you know, and take it from there. To all of our friends we would like to thank you for making us laugh over the years and we'd just like to say that you are all wanabees! HA HA. Just jokin — Red & Buff

To a great bunch of friends: Adrienne, Wende, Bridget, Cari, Karen, and Cheryl As we reach out our hand the diploma we grasp. While we think of the memories of the years in the past. Tears fill our eyes because it's all gone. We're starting a new life, we have to move on. We hope we all can keep in touch as our years pass us by. Although it hurts us inside, we'll all try not to cry. We think of our first days together in school, now we have reached the end we are all going our seperate ways. How do you even say good-bye to friends who mean so much? Will there really be time to sincerely keep in touch? We will always have the memories of our school days together. Let's not think of school as ending, let's think a new life has begun. I really don't know what else to say but Thanks for being such great friends and I know no matter where we all go, we will be close in each others hearts. Love you all forever Debbie

Miss Lou — I know we're never gonna forget all the bad times together. (Especially with BC and DN) — The night we almost got killed in Mark's car — forever jacuzzing — midnight randezvous at my house — "Hey, he finally took me out!!!!!" — The Boogerman, Slobo, and Babyface. — You and Jim will probably end up married. I'll be forever single (but totally loving it!!) No matter what I'm always here — remember that. In 25 years we're gonna look back at all this. Until then — I LOVE YA BABY!!!!!!!!!!!!! — Miss Poo.

Ahab: well, another year and we are still together. The times we've shared have been unforgettable!!! I know we'll never forget all the "wonderful" guys we've encountered throughout the years. Brett and Scott, what a twosum. To tell the truth, that night was pretty fun. (Have any Neer Beer??) How about Mr. Bake? He is soooo much fun! Remember Craig and his obscene jesters? You know you loved it! "Maebe & Wilkie" What a couple! Maybe they'll "get" what they want, one day . . . I'm glad we're still friends. Without you, who would make lunch interesting??? Guys BAing us, seeing "our" buddies at McDonalds, having basketball players stomp all over my car, not having enough money and most important, not having enough gas!!!! Do you think we'll ever let them "have" it? Thanx for putting up with me while I was a Rah-Rah girl! I'll never forget this last year. We really grew close and because of just this year, I think we could go on forever!! (Please, no more!) Know what? We went through, Lisa and Michelle and we're still 'together". Do you think we're "weird"!?! We can't be!!! Well, last but not least, I'm glad we're "good" friends and I hope our memories will not end after graduation. You are a very special person! Love, Ishmael.

MEATARONI!! Forever the J.V.VJ. treat. Always remember to kiss me with your mouth, because your love is better than wine? I'm not going to write down all the memories we had because I trust that they are forever engraved in our hearts. Instead I'm going to tell you 5 how much you mean to me. We've shared the best year of our lives together. We may not have gotten along at times but at other times when I felt like I couldn't go on in the world anymore, it was the most intense feeling to know that you 5 cared so much about me. You guys were always there to lend an ear to listen, shoulder to cry on, and a smile to make my day complete. I love you 5 more than I've ever shown and more than you'll ever know. Please always think of our "squeid" when you see the ring on your fingers. And also remember our eternal friendships. Wherever our lives may take us, we are friends and J.V.V.J.S in our hearts! I LOVE YOU GUYS! ALWAYS AND FOREVER, RACH-B-GACH

Dear Cheri (Lane) The last couple years we've gone through it all. We've listened to each others problems and dilimas. Forest Home, a game of wink, De'Blob. Some advice for the future years hun — don't break the guys heart to bad Cher, just take care. Love ya, Tammi.

Tina, Julie, and Debby: A bit to remember: rides home, beach, human body, Mr. Lyyn, Pat, Dave, Toddy, Mike, and a lot more. I just want to say that you three have been really special to me and I hope we stay in touch through the years. Love ya, Tammi

Katie: K-K-Katie, beach, Laguna 21, John, D.D., E.C., "porcelain king", green bottles everywhere, Westwood, sand meets the water, snow bunny, diet sprite, Taco Bell, aerobics, BOYS, pictures, Backwards dances, Homecoming 84, "spearmint," I love your foot, Bryan Adams, Big Country, Sheena Easton, "take me with you", Teddy Bears, Kittys, SMOOSH BEARS, "summer", stag dances, having B's, British Rocker, future hubbies, and more! Thanx for always listening! I love ya Kates!! Memories — and more memories in the future! Love ya lots, Suzannie

Colleen: "fox machine" — you are the best! You are very special to me babes. Thanks for always listening and caring. Our friendship is so special, cuz it does not rely on being together all the time. We understand each other's lives, and give each other support. You're a total sweetie, and we'll friends forever. Remember that you are "beautiful all over". Thanks for all the special memories and all of the good times. Grad. will soon be here, but our friendship will continue to grow even stronger!!! KEEP SMILING! I love ya Col, Suzanne "fox monster."

Cami: My rad bud, we've been through so much! But our friendship has not drifted, but come closer. We understand each other's lives — and that's what makes our friendship so special. Thanks for always listening, you're the best!! So many memories, but at least we learn from our mistakes. San Diego, parties, dances, we love C.C.'s, fun with the Sr.'s, baseball buds, and so much more! Grad will soon be here, but no matter where the future leads us, we'll always be the best of friends! I love ya Cami, love always, Suzanna-Banana

Brett and Brad: My brother and I always thought drowning in would be heaven. Now I'm leaving for college, and you guys won't be there, and I'll miss you two soakers more than I can say. That isn't heaven. That sucks! But our friendship will always be strong. After all, 10 bucks is 10 bucks! U2 will be awesome, just like Howard Jones (Brad, could you please escort this girl to the bathroom? Come on Brad! You know where the bathroom is!). Both of you are a part of my family, and my family is the most important thing in my life. The memories: exploits (good and bad) with girls, The Oath, trust, dances (avoiding the valet parking), "Strange Brew," KBRT, baseball, music, etc. I always look forward to spending time with you guys, whether we're seeing a movie on New Year's Eve (Brett, maybe Brad should have been there to show you where the bathroom was) or pretending the Loft is St. Elmo's. Thank you for everything. Love ya' babes, Bryan (Grebssolnov)

Gerber, Hi Kath, we sure are full of insiders: tuna wuna, baby food jams! Those wurnerful wernerfulwanna be humans (which we won't discuss here). You know where my eyes always look! Heart of stone, pastie call the fire department, wonder twin powers form of a Nearon! Nice Homecoming nights, the good humor man just ran over Gumby & Pokey. Orange birthday cards, Bauch bach, how do you match? You are such a special pal I hope we always stay close. I think I know who you are I want to go in that store.! Love always Beech-Nut P.S. Dare to be different! No pasties! 6:10 a.m.

Kars: Your Wild . . . KJLH Forever. "Let's talk about tan meat — OKAY?" Our shared lover — K.T. Three Little Cruesas "Let me be the one" Your such a flipping goob . . . MJ lives forever. The rad phone convos. Byran your lover? E.M.F. "Curiosity?" The beard will live forever . . . I Dig You — Kris . . .*

Kristy — Summer, Huntington #5, Pismo, Wendy's house, Jim and John in Camarillo, Disneyland, you, me John, Tom and Danny sleeping together, "I think she's looking in my window!", Y & G, Bill Fox, Madonna, Boyfriends, "the Silver B's", T-ping war with Matt and our secret one! Good times and bad times. Too bad the bad times had to get in the way. Fighting — we did too much! Our Senior year. Kristy, no matter what happens, I'll remember you always. You have a unique personality and I love it — most of the time. Friends we shall be, at home or by the sea. Remember? Love Ya Forever, Kim.

Gidget, Bridge, ect . . . Well dude you know how much I value our friendship so I'll put just our "FUN" times in here. Wham help my feet I can't breathe, Chubs throw me a baby wipe, Honk Honk Amy get away from the window. Wanna be a toothbrush hi how ya doin?! Country boy, Aunt Ednas dog, Newport, I looked in the mirror . . . Us, drink never! Tom gee love my corsage, Mr. V.D. "I am the nicest guy I know, don't be silly "Mayonaise, lets forget that night! Balloons elp I can't see, the molester, Days, Look at the tomatoes!! Westwood, Limo Sampson ya! Fosters Family Donuts, Mr. Bartels and Mr. James, Food, I am so fat! Perfect Mertyl get the duke. I have no money! I want a boyfriend. Do I look o.k.? Tap tap are you a cheerleader wanna go on a double date?, Excuse me but do you have blue feet? There is so much more I could write but you know all of it already. We have to always stay close, but with all we've been through how could we not? You know I'm always here for you. We have so many good times ahead of us as P.T.A. moms I know we will always remain best friends "little chum" !!!Adios Amigos, Toddles, Love ya always, Wenders, Lurue, bertha bell bottom ect . . . P.S. Stay out of those moods! Don't forget all of our fun ever!!

Suzanne — My mind wanders . . . where to start? The Cars, Madonna, boys, "let's go to bed", Adam Ant, Huntington lifeguard #5, Hermosa "Green Store", Silver B's, CC's, New friends, Old friends, Provencher land, Westwood bumpers, Todd's house with Kevin in it! Matt, Josh and the whole Bogutwalski family. Todd too. Casa Maria and Taco Bell, don't forget In-n -Out. WORK!! All the time we spend together, from 7:45 in the morn to 6:15 at night. Even more time than that, WEEKENDS! Most important of all . . . Our Friendship . . . which has grown day-by-day, week-by-week, and month-by-month. This whole year has gone great. Open minds have kept things going. There's been a few low spots, but I can say with no second thoughts, most times have been great. Long talks help. Babe — we'll never part, cuz we won't let people get in our way. "Best" is a strong word, so all I have to say is, Thanx for being my friend. Love ya through thick and thin — Kimba.

> "What-ja-do, fall off a wall? No, I jumped. You garbonzo bean, turnip, you eggplant."

Eric James Hoffman: I remember when I yelled that at work and a lady told me it sounded like an actor's name. Well, you're not an actor, just the best guy in the world! It's going to be hard not having you around all the time. Who will call me Dumb-Dumb? I'm not going to give you any advise or wise words, because I know you will do great in life. Remember that I love you no matter who you're with or where you're at. When you're alone listening to sad songs, think of me! Thanks for everything, babe! You're the greatest!! I never did forget the bench or the park, either! I LOVE YOU!!!!! Aimee

Nada: Another year! I don't believe it! We'll be friends forever! What can I say that hasn't already been said? We've been through some rough times, but also some great ones. Thanks for always being there. You helped me so much. You listened when I needed an ear — not a mouth to tell me what to do. I LOVE YOU, BABE!!!!!!! Aimee

Picker: We actually survived our dumb fights. I'm so glad. You are pretty special, even if you do use a lot of Q-Tips!!! Thanks for listening, or pretending to, when I needed you. I guess my mouth was sometimes bigger than my ears. I'm sorry, but I always cared. Remember speed shifting and all our other jokes! I LOVE YOU! Aimee

Rich, I am so thankful to you for staying with me through my failures and my triumphants and never turning your back when I needed you most. I hope so much that we'll stay together for a long time and share the most precious moments of our lives together. Love Debbie

To my sis' — Tami, Susie, Barbara — (Tam-Bam, Scooter, Spaz) All of are great. (Real, Twin, Friend) We've had great times. Softball, all night parties, waterskiing, a few soda pops, etc . . . You all have made my last year in school the BEST. I Love Ya, Tina (Tinker, Tank)

The Tree Well Gang — Bobby, Brock, Duane, Rachel, Sean, Mike, Danielle, Kevin, Kirk, Paige, John, Jim, Greg, Tina, Tami, Susie, Steve, Kris, Michele, Keith, Nick, Barbara, and anyone else I might have missed. You all have been special throughout the year. Hopefully to be forever. Sincerely, One Of The Gang.

Gregg B. — Hey Buckaroo Babe . . . I told you I would, so, here I am. We've had a lot of good times. None I will ever forget. Summer school, last minute drop-outs, Jacuzzi Parties, Baseball games, Down in the park, Backwards Dance, and many many more. You are the best babe. One that will never be forgotten. I hope after I graduate we will still be as close as always. You are the best friend any guy or girl can have. I consider you one of mine. Please don't let anything change between us. I Love Ya (S.B.F.) Tina W.

Donna, Hey Babes! You're the greatest! So many memories these past three years. Tenth grade brought us together, Eleventh grade we were unseparable, and twelfth grade, we were uncontrollable! Remember babysitting? The late night talks and the waterfights!!! All the feelings we shared together, the DREAMS, the tears, the ups and downs? All my memories will never fade. I'm glad we are Best Friends, I never could have done it without you! Hopefully, the good times won't stop here. Hopefully, there will be more in the future! Our high school days are over now and we have to start preparing for life in the outside world. We will probably go our separate ways, but remember, I'm only just a phone call away. Though I've really never told you so, I really thank you for everything you and your family have done for me. Thank you very much! Oh yeah! Eddie Murphy lives forever! This looks much better on — on what, on fire?? You've always been able to put a smile on my face. I Love Ya!!! Friends Always, Erin P.S. Do I still look like I'm standing in a hole?

Brett and Bryan (no particular order) How's it goin' babe? Number seventy-two, Tom . . . You guys, we have so many memories together. Howard (twice, yah!) Where's the bathroom?, Welcome to our album, eh. U2 (not too long from now) The Unforgettable Fire Collection. 11 o'clock . . . Tick . . . Tock! Always Asking Questions, and who can forget the oath? Oh yeah, nice tooth, Bryan. How can I say in words what you guys mean to me. You've brought me through every tough situation and somehow always managed to bring me out on top of things. Bryan and Brett . . . HI! We've got many times ahead of us. You guys are the best friends any person could ever ask for! I mean that. It isn't the (what?) talking. All those nights and all those interesting situations we've gone through, especially those women problems. You guys are the awesomest! Love ya babe, Brad

Harv, What's up pal? Are you really going to U of A? "Yes it's True" Nice song, huh? I figure we've got a few more killer cuts in our heads somewhere. The Patrol? Killer name! How's the Arizona weather? Now I don't mean to get all sentimental on you, but do you remember the first time we did anything together? That was the beginning of a friendship I'll always remember. I wrote you one of these this year because you finally decided to buy a yearbook. Remember Muley Graves? Nice cricket sounds. I'll let you go because you're probably starvin' like you know who. You know I'll be talking to you. Take it easy, Harv. Your good pal, Brad.

Jesus H. Christ on a popcicle stick! Is Leroy in her locker again? Bad karma dear! Golly Spock, how am I supposed to remember all those names? What are we going to do till it's 1999? Carl's party was great, I think! Next time Leroy can climb the mountain at Castaic! Leroy — I'm a loose noodle! Jeni — Did you hear about the guy who got kicked out of cub scouts for eating a brownie? Where's Wendys? Sue — The T-bar Don't back-up at 7-11 without looking behind you! Lady — Joe Peter get to it! I'm so glad the exterminators did your house! Cami — Walking down to play tennis in jeans. Don't worry Mom, it's only Jeff and Jim! Cassi — Prude, selfish and ignorant! We did 100! Tricia — Let's get some sunglasses at Ohrbachs. You guys are all the greatest friends anyone could have! BURP! Love Always, (or until our toasters break) Alvin.

Shelli, You are a great friend to me and this I want you to know. Our friendship means more to me than anything. I don't want it to ever go. Being friends with you gives me happiness the kind I need each day. And if sometimes I don't show it you're still a friend in each and every way. The friendship I have found in you is ever so rare. If I could have one wish, Do you know what it would be? For us to be friends, for all eternity. Shell, You are a really great friend to me I just want to say thanks for everything. Thanks for all those fun memories we have shared together in our high school years. I hope we can stay close forever! Good Luck in the future. Your Number one Buddy! Love forever Debbie

Jason: I am so glad we had a chance to become closer this year. You are the wildest guy I know . . . You mean so much to me, more than you'll probably ever really know. I want you to know the time we spent together will always be special to me. You will always be my number one surfer. Take care — sweetheart . . . Your surfer girl.

SPARKY — Jeanette — Baby. Well we've come a long way from Rosemont. Do you still hate me? (JK) In 10th you ran away or in other words Johnny law came looking for you at my house, I still think we should of jumped out the window! In 11th, the Jr. Prom was rad, with limos and throwing up! And in 12th who can 4-get Boneheads election and party! Do you remember "rember", how about 321, Florentine Gardens, and KROQ. And in the summer putting Spic-n-Span in the jucuzi. Manhatten Beach, the blue bug, "One More Shot", getting Lanie fired, USC frat partys, 151, and "IT'S NOT A MOPED!" I'll never 4-get how you made high school great. I'll love ya always. SPANKY

SLEEPY — Michelle. I'm glad we become as good as friends as we did. I just want to thank you for all the colds you have given me! (JK) I hope you and Pedro have a great life. Don't 4-get me when you're 30. And never 4-get how to party! I love ya always. SPANKY; otherwise known as Claire

SHELLEY — I'll never 4-get Y-N-G, young life, homecoming, going "trucken" and always going out to lunch! What about the Dodger game, AAA limos, phone answering machines, and, "I oughta smack you" and being Yell leaders for Halloween. Some day I'll take you to that frat party ok. C-ya, love ya, Claire.

TRISH! I can't begin to express to you how "special" you are to me! Not only do I have the BEST-x's w/ya, but you're also always there for me when I need — ya. Ya mean the world to me! Promise me that we'll always K.I.T. & never stop the good times together. Don't ever change Trish, you're the greatest & I love you! Friends Forever!!!! Cindi-Lou!*

TYLER WILLIAMS I love you, always have, always will. I love you for yourself. Love. a Rainy Day Woman.

JENEANEY BOOM: HI! For being "close" friends for only about 6 mo's, we've sure had "zillions" of WILD-xxx's together! I'll never forget the past summer & all our adventures! Ha! Your bro's dorm-party; your freakin out & goin to "N's" at 2:00 A.M.; all 6-of-us swimming in C.V. pool & havin to climb those fences (& lookin at those — Oooo! All our many visits to see Tim & Norby & so much more!!! Thanx 4-all the good x's. You're a "TRUE" friend! I'll never forget you! I wish ya the best always — you do deserve it! I love ya kiddo!! FRIENDS FOREVER!!! — Cindi —

Kevin – T.A. – I'm glad I got to know you. You're a special person. We've been through a lot and made it through. You've showed me how to love and care. I've learned a lot from you. You've made my DREAMS and I must say you're a special person and the last 10 months you've been a great friend and a wonderful boyfriend. We've had so many memories together and they are special. Remember I'll always be here for you. I'll never forget you and what we shared. You're too special to forget. I hope your Senior year was the best. You made my year! Remember the

Jason Maxwell — Have a nice life and thank you for making a ripple in my life. Love, Samantha

Now and then I indulge myself. I think of you. I am swept away for a moment when I choose to ignore how much it really hurts. But I must forget you. You don't love me. My heart is faithful to a broken dream. Time passes, the image of your smile fades. My forgotten fairy tale . . . Lesley

Greg, I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU I LOVE YOU!!!!!!!!!!!!!!Forever, Tracy XOXO

Jamey I just wanted to say Thanks! For being such a nice friend and doing all the things that you did for me. We have had a lot of laughs and a lot of fun together this past year. Yuo're a sweetheart. Love Jodi

Happy meals, The Crest, throwing pennies at cars, and people. Stay sweet. I LOVE YOU!!!!!!!! Love, Heather

DEAR CAMI, HI! I'm not really sure where to begin, so I guess that the beginning would be the best. It all started in tenth grade didn't it? Well I can't really start from there but boy am I glad that I met you when I did. You've grown to be the dearest and closet friend in the world to me. I can't thank you enough for putting up with my ups and downs but most of all just sticking by me when I needed you the most. We have so many memories I can't believe, and to think that we have our whole lives ahead of us just waiting for more to occur. Damon and Jeff are by far two of the most important things in our life right now and hopefully will be forever. Remember the Prom? What an experience. You and I impatiently awaiting their arrival home from Hawaii, that was the most miserable week of our lives and then the Homecoming of it all! Boy, that was something that we will never forget. But we made it through together and that's what counts. Don't forget all our poker games, parties, Homecoming, and most of all our private talks just between the two of us. I don't know what I'd do without you and your friendship Cami! You are my bestest friend now and forever! Just wait for college when we get our apartment together and have the time of our lives! You made my senior year Cami and I would like to thank you for being there, being the friend you are, but most of all sharing a part of my heart! Look out world here comes Kim and Cami. Love your bud, Kim. (Damon & Jeff 4EVER)

Christie Lou — Hey Cutie. I'm so glad we've become closer. My life would not be the same without you. Remember all those FUN essays we had to do . . . Don't eat too much Peanut Butter Pie or you'll get too fat. Whose driving? I'll pick you up at . . . Who goes first to take a shower? Remember the night of Dec. 31 — what a night and all those hot babes. I didn't know that you were a PARTY ANIMAL before then. What a night. You truly are my BUD. We've gone through so much. We'll definitely go to the beach all summer. All in all, it's been a wild year and I can't even imagine what next year is going to be like . . . I'll leave you with this: If you ever need to exterminate a skunk you know the place to look. Take Care, Love and ???? Pam

Donna — Remembering the times at Capistrano — surfing, spaghetti, and Adolph. I will always love and cherish the moments, looking at the picture perfect lights on Ocean View. We have been together constantly and every minute that is spent with you is extremely special to me. I will remember Bruce Springstein and the partying at J & L's. I Love You. Michael

Shelley Powell; Well Shell, we've gotten this far. No more Hard Rock Cafe episodes any more okay? So, whats next? San Clemente (Brian), Mexico — wow, "Papas-n- ", we are too rad. otay buttwheat! Oh Shell, lets not steal anymore cars okay? Once is enough! Night encounters . . ." Lauryssa, go to sleep." (giggle, giggle) . . . Imagination about Mr. you know who: YUK, YUK! Tin can "Oh why orange?" Rolling down hills . . . you were the only one. Christine: our favorite person . . . J.P, lets door bell ditch-nope-he's gone. Oh look! YUK! Shelley, he see's us . . . run! Aaaaaaah! Marines — yes Betty, your'e really babysitting us. Neat! okay, swell. Ridgemont High! OOOOOOH! Eric Wrights Qarty. Calling your mother!!! Dumb Shell, dumb. Summer, summer. Beach, beach. Tee-pee cars . . . oh how exciting! You are the biggest . . . when it comes to borrowing clothes. Clapping for the light . . ." Oh, I hope she isnt making a mess! No way, not me! Well, my dear, there is soooo much more to say but who has the time? Not to mention the fingers to type this. Oh, and next time, I get the wall side of the bed!!! Pasta, pasta, pasta . . . Olympic games, okay Micheal, you can really beat me. Oh yes, lets get caught again by a car with the angry lady, who is wanting us to clean up shaving cream . . . stripper, oooooh! Lets to cruising in the wagon. (hee hee) Well, love ya 4-ever. Lauryssa (Sam and Pee Wee say hello)

Moi "The Doll" Hello? Is Moi the doll there? Hey honey what's happening? You're such a funky chick. (nice word, huh?) How will I know? by Whitney, Jewel of The Nile, Cat's Eye, Wake up it's almost time for Gene. We're gonna have a hodown. It's 6:15 and I'm not tired. You know what? I tried to kill myself, yea, I DID kill myself. Yea, that's the ticket! We have so many great memories but let's make some more. Sound like a plan? What can I say Molly, I dig ya babe! OOOWWW! Hold on to Another Time cause its hitbound! I'll see you this summer when you're black. What did you call me? I'm outta here, babe. Love always, Brad

ROBIN A.K.A. ROB — The time that we have known each other has been full of good times. You have been the one friend that I could get crazy with, constantly bug every day, and especially talk to. Being able to give you advice once in a while was a pleasure/not a pain. I won't ever forget all the things we did together, going to movies, T. Ping (you know who) 5X's, staying at my house all weekend, going everywhere (Knott's, Sea World, Raging Waters with all the donuts, Disneyland and the pens and the soap ect . . ., and even you putting up with me when I only had two hours of sleep. You have been the greatest and you have shown it through the poems that I will always treasure. I also won't forget our dumb jokes of "You say it's your Birthday", Ya!, I don't want to hear any of your crap, Hey Bob! plus all the others. Your the best, Love Ya JODI

MARK, We have done a lot together these past two years, all of them of course, fun! All the movies, going shopping just to have something to do, driving up Angeles Crest just to see snow!, going to Big Bear to ski with Joe Instructor, and especially all the jokes about "Just Because", your sound effects on the phone, woof and kinneygarden, CK!, the red balloon (look out or I will leave you at the red balloon), ect . . . We have had so many laughs!! Our Friendship is special to me and I won't ever forget these times. Love Ya, JODI

Shine, hey babe — it's over at last. Our worst if finally behind us!! Next year is going to be our year, and we are going to make it one to remember! All the special times we have had I will always remember, like backwards, shopping, games, all the times we got lost, and French. Do you honestly think we can survive another year like this one!!!! I am so happy that you and I became so close over the past two years. You will always have a very special place in my heart. We have accomplished so much since our freshman year it is incredible. This next one we will do much more. Thank you for always being there, Shina. I care about you very much. Je t'aime, Dawneee

To Kath, Congratulations, you survived! I'm glad we had this chance to become friends. I'm wishing you the best of luck in the "real world". Ha-Ha! Thanx for being such a good friend. We have to keep in touch. Luv, Michelle. P.S. I'm going to miss you!!!!!!

To my obscure friends: You are the best friends I've ever had! To M.E., maybe we can each find a new "Hobie" this summer. To Seahorse (my swedish friend) we gotta go to the beach and catch some "goody see-saw's". To Smurf, keep up those dum-dums To Gabby, thanx for those confidence shots. Thanx Guys, for always being there for me! Luv, Guppy.

Kimba: *Party all the time", C.C.'s, boys named Jim, RINGS, #1 friend, The Group — Ssr.'s — the family, Jr.'s, Hayley and Keily, Silver Hondas, Adam Ant, The Cars, KROQ, shopping, In-N-Out, Taco Bell, Bob's, "Casa Maria", The Beach, camping, Westwood, boys, stag dances, I love the Palm's, parties, my parties, Bogust boys, movies, embarassed?, M.C.M.S., "sleep", G.P.O.M., Ha!Ha! Kristy: Fox! Crazy sophs, Jr.'s, Sr.'s, Berlin, Adam Ant, stag dances, Backwards dances, Junior Prom, FOOD, Westwood, BOYS, the BEACH, being tan, we love surfers, KROQ, C.C.'s, being sis's, having FUN!! You've been great, too bad our fights got in the way. You will always be special to me, so many memories!!! College here we come! Love Ya Lots! Zan

Amy: My Scooter Pal! Mitch's party was the start, of a friendship based on love, understanding, trust, honesty, and FUN!! We are so alike, my little sis! So many memories in such a short time! And so many more ahead!! Bogust boys, Todd, Paul, Mitch, Jason, and Jim were all so much fun! Limo, with the girls! FUN!!!! My pounding buddy, C.C.'s — yum! The In-N-Out urge, parties, red and blue scooters, and so many more memories! I Love Ya Ames — you're the greatest — friends forever! Love Ya Lots, Suz. "scooter pal and big sis"

Cindy-Lou, Friends since six years old. From that day we've gone through so much!! Monte Vista, Brownies, spending the night, chubby and bone stage, Girl Scouts, learning to sew "on the uniform," car pooling, going swimming, Rosemont, first kiss — boys, Lake Tahoe, Lake Arrowhead, Hank, Mike, "Hemet," crushes, Graduation, San Francisco, Grams and Gramps, Karen's house, I love those "Minks", Jen and Tanya, shopping, "learing" how to wear make-up, birthdays, Christmas', C.V., parties, Disneyland, the lake, the BEACH, "license", wild-n-crazy, Berlin, T.F.F., making up dances, S.W., D.W., J.S., "Ba-da-Ba-dump", bruises, air planes, Food, "Mita", "The Group", more parties, R.T.S., and S.T.S. — Lucy and Siercy, C.C.'s, jealousy, little and big "dumb" fights, growing up, and much more! Remember you are the "Gold", not the silver! You have been, and always will be, my BEST FRIEND!! A lifetime friendship is what we've got, and we know what a True Friend is. "This time, will be the last time, that we will fight like this." Grad., is just the beginning, to a future that we'll go through hand in hand! I love ya Cindy!! Love Ya Lots, B.F.F. Suzy-Q

Therene! We made it! Thanks for always being there! 86' always! Remember all the good times we have had. They have been so much fun. Good luck after grad! I'll miss you. You are special! Luv, Janet the parking lot beater!

C.V. society, To all of you who cheer and dance, well see you in ten years, will you still fit in your pants? To all the jocks, big and bold, in ten years you'll be fat and old. To all the socs in your little hodge podges, you'll have 5 kids, lots of bills and drive '68 Dodges. Thanks to all of you so dear, but we're the ones that deserve the cheer, for putting up with you for 3 years straight, it makes us sorry we were born so late. In 10 years, we'll be great. Love, the NERDS, The STONERS and The GEEKS.

To my superior J.V.V.J.'S. I want you all to know that this has been the best year of my life. I love all of you so much. It's hard and SAD to believe that we're over. All of our memories from day one. Remember the first time we went shopping? The wig!!! Our first rally WE ARE THE FALCONS! . . . ! Spirit hoedown!! Tennis games. And then baseball. How we hated it until the end came. We wanted it to start all over! It was so fun! Then summer came. A week before camp and we started to make up our camp cheer. Remember family! — you're the grandpa! The MUD adventure, ice cream, our grocery bags of loot! The J.V.V.J'S. dance! "Your love is better than mine!"; Then came football. "You guys, we have a ralley tomorrow, let's practice!" Will we wear no-necks? . . . any socks you can find! J.V.V.J. sound, signal, chant, spin around, unitement, meataroni!! B-Gach and her solo, B-B (barrel b !) Cath — take a bath!! Soin, hi, you can call me Christie B! Kimbals, the bug. I'll never forget you! EVER!!!!! We'll always be the J.V.V.J's.! Remember our halloween ralley. Homecoming week. Christmas ralley? Well, we are all moving on to bigger and better and more challenging things, but, we will never forget where we began! V.J.'s. No one will ever take our place. Love you forever, The SQUAD B !We want some m !

Molly, You Wild woman! I'm so glad that we became friends this year, you're the best! Thanks for the fun times, the 5th quarter dance was AWESOME! You're the greatest party'r! Mcdonald's always! Oh, I'll keep your secrets! Yes, I cry at basketball games! Good luck, friends forever! Luv: Kars

Kristy: I know you love black men, but we won't tell! "CURIOSITY!" You're the full-on wackiest woman, and I love ya! "LET ME be the one!" Thanks for being there during my traumas! You're a great boogier and a lot of fun to be with! Good Luck! Luv: Kars

Kelly — You deserve so much more than you get. You are one of the nicest people I know. You take too much flack from people. You need to explode. Well, if ya ever do (and Hayley's phone is busy), I'm here to talk. Anyway — I'm glad that I've gotten to know you. It's been alot of fun. Always remember "Jose" and to keep in touch. Love always, Kim.

Dearest LOOB, BOOB, GOOB and SCOOB — the four best friends anyone could ever have!!! Well, it's come time to say good-bye, but before we do, just a few memories: LOOB: I know, I still owe you megga bucks, backwards dance — he's such a babe!, Homecoming and Trevor's gross beverage, real kisses and everything. GOOB: What can I say except that, "I HATE NACHOS TACOS!," or how about our stoner lovers? BOOB: Forgive me for the yogurt . . . but how nice your hair looked afterwards!, ooooh, I think my pants ripped! SCOOB: I still hate Marty Moose, You! You did it first!, and temperature gauges. Just know that I LOVE ALL OF YOU GUYS!!! And, I wouldn't change any of our memories for anything! Love Your Homecoming Queen — TOOB

B.J. HAMILTON — Our little time together has made an enormous influence on me. I'm undescribably grateful for having a chance to share our lives together, even if only for a while. I hope the best of everything in life comes your way. You deserve to be happy. Wherever life may take us, please always remember that in my heart you are still my baba and I still love you. I trust that our paths will cross again someday, but until then . . . please think of me sometimes. With eternal love, RACHEL.

Katie: "Curiosity!", "let me be the one," KJLH! Thanks for the friendship this year, you are the greatest person. You're wild and crazy and so fun! Thanks for being there! Good luck in life and remember, black men have bigger . . .! Don't forget our outrageous nights out! Friends Forever! Luv, Kars

Song 86! Hey girls, what can I say! You have all made this the craziest and most outrageous girls. There are so many memories. All the eating, being late to baseball games, and those dumb locker roosters. Camp!! We are superior songleaders! Sophomore initiation, oom bac bac, our first day prank' (that was close.) Who could forget La Mirada? (We're awesome!). All those practices and passing out from the heat. Football games! Going there, being weird (You got bugers in your bra!) and getting lost. And those idiot yell leaders, neat. Remember the at USC? In uniform and everything, sorry Debbie. Homecoming in the limo was quite awesome! Kristy, you were doing very well that night! I can never forget . . . Wheeze's mist, nor her incredible driving ability. Kris, the Wild Bearded Woman, who once buried a fossil behind the rally platform. Cindy, who's innocence makes the mormons look nasty, but her car makes up for it. (JK) Zan, our social butterfly, who always looked perfect. We once counted how many people you could meet in one outing, and the outcoming was truly amazing. And Stacey, the future mormon mommy. If ya like it, say go BIG ORANGE!! Let's go be special at the Y! Or Rick's J.C. You've all been great. Remember, there is no you-know-what! (Exception on Mormon days). I want you all to know, that "If I were King for just one day, I would give it all away to be with you!" You 5 have been so special, I wouldn't trade in all the times we've had for the world. I love you all, and wish you success in whatever you do. Love, Stefanie (The Perverted One)

Kristy! Can you even believe that we're out? It's been forever since the first day you came over. There's so many memories that we share, writing them all down would take years. Who could ever forget Laguna? So many men so little time, right? Tom, Sean, Mike, Richard, John, the list goes on and on. Always searching for Mr. Right, certainly not here in La Crescenta. Our Altura men, special songs, sharing secrets, sharing dreams as the poem says. In some special ways I don't want to graduate, cause then we could still spend this much time together. Our ups were certainly up, and our downs were really down — but we made it thru together! I know I'll never find another like you. You made my life so much brighter . . . all the cruises to L.C.: M.K. and his buddies! Long talks about everything and anything. Soph. year was rad, Jr. okay, but Sr. was the best! Homecoming '85, and my house before, stags oblivious, learning to drive, pictures at night, Altura adventures. "Run, here he comes!" There's more than that, and I haven't forgotten. What I really want to tell you with all this is that you are the best friend that anybody could ever ask for. Wherever life takes us, whether we're together or half a world apart, I'll never forget you, my best friend. You are like the sis I don't have. Good luck in college, and in everything you do. You deserve the best! Promise to keep in touch no matter how many miles apart college spreads us! Thanks for always being there when I needed you. Always remember, I care a lot and you can come to me any time day or night. Love Ya Always, Kates!

Hi Laura! This is so hard! I never wanna leave you! It will be so scary to go away to college and not see your face every single day like I have for the past 14 yrs. You know how much you mean to me and you know that you will always be my best friend! You and your family have been so special to me and always will! You and I experienced a lot of things together, even smoking for the first time. Remember rubbing grapefruits all over our bodies? There are so many memories that I couldn't possibly put them on one page. I'll try tho — Ben and Dave: will we ever have boyfriends? Woo bathingsuit, san clemente, margret, campfire, the time you lost your earring at that campout, pen pals Alaska, natives, give me an h, give me an h, give me an h, a, p, whellbarrow rides and p-nuttles, filling a trash can with water, the moutain — all of four clubhouses, memories that was the greatest, the grand canyon — "its gunna break, nina", drawing halloween pictures, baking butterscotch brownies and putting one cup of salt in them, zoom, making up that song on your player piano, I'm a little bit country, Olivia Newton John, your feet falling asleep! There are so many great memories! I LOVE YOU SO MUCH! Please write every day and never forget me! Thank you for being the best friend in the world! Love, Stace. P.S. Will you be my maitron of honor?

Darb Notlimah — Hey Honey! I'm so glad we've become close friends this year. You're the best! I've had so much fun with you! Remember Mikes party — looking for the big dipper? The movies, "We're not going to see Rocky!" Mammoth postcard, The studio, your awesome music, H.J., Cat's Eye, S.N.L., Liar's Annon, "I killed myself" The Man — Gene Autry, "hoedown, lowdown, showdown, etc. That was so neat! Foothill Nissan? Sunrise service, "What time is it?!!? I'm not tired." Basketball games, Everyone was so hyper! Those were the best! You're the sweetest guy I know, stay that way, K? Those were awesome times, hope there's more to come! Luv ya, Mol-Doll

My Pedro. Where do I begin? Probably with our Spanish 5-6 class because that's where we began! You're very special to me and I'm very happy you came into my life! I'll never forget all the things we've done and been through. 1001 movies; the crest; Hollywood; the observatory; homecoming; Jr. Prom; the zoo; your birthday; Magic Mountain; Disneyland; Knott's Berry Farm; my dad's jacuzzi; Thanksgiving vacation . . . (well we can forget that); our tree . . . "Crazy for You," I Can't Fight This Feeling," "Lost in Love," "Say You Say Me". I could go on forever! Just remember the most important thing. I love you. Always, Your Michele

ISABELLEEE!!! Where do I start? We have shared this whole "hi-school thing" as closely as any 2 people could have. I was so lucky to have you to get frustrated with. Our memories of the CARPOOL — 5 bucks a week, sure! Teach these people how to park! Flying blond hair at football games, Siebert's directions. Disneyland, that was so fun. Are you really going to sleep on the balcony? Thanks! Our boys with or without girlfriends, forever. Beach, at 4:30? Ah, no. B and R, MISTER, MISSES!! Sparkamatic, Boy Glen, Dayvid, Mr. Oatmeal, Mr. Mature Nose Hairs. All the parties. The egg happy Kim DJ. Entertainment Tonite. Real cream garnish. Hell Shift. YandG — hot delagates!! Are you taken Mr. San Marino? SLO-mudd. Janitorial Staff. SQUEEZE. AAron weekands, John's ears, Chip's muscles, Cary's smile. HAAY!! Butter bean in red convertibles. Gumby . . . Ahh. Our fantasies: red swim trunks, perfect dress, firelight, pearl chokers. Hell on earth; the snot sucker, its 4 in the morning ok? The pool at UCSB. Rad Girls, Boogie in your butt. What should we do tonite, lets call the Brett. I could go on forever. I love you tummy, more than you will ever know. Thanks for being the most perfect friend anyone could have. My sister and my best friend! I LOVE YOU ALWAYS PAL!! Kristin Western Bacon Cheeseburger.

N.J. "STUD" SWINEHEART — Welp! What can I say? You're the best friend and brother a girl could ask for. (shh-don't tell David) I can't express how much you're being there for me meant to me. I appreciate it much more more that you'll ever know. You know that I love you, I'm always here for you, and that you're forever stuck with me! (sorry) PLEASE don't forget about me Nick. I want our friendship to grow over the years not die. You mean too much to me to lose. I LOVE YOU: FOREVER YOUR LIL' SIS RACHEL.

To the Class of 86 — when you walk out of these doors for the last time, you can think of two ways: either you are never coming back, or you will come back. If you never come back, what have you gained?? If you do, look around and think how confined you were. There was a rule for every occasion. NO GUM CHEWING!!! Hallpasses. You had to ask to use the bathroom. That's ridiculous. Now that you have your freedom, take off your socks, roll-up your pants and look like an idiot for a while. You'll never be so young again. You only go around once so try to make it count. I know that I'm gonna try . . . I hope you enjoy my baby. It took 20 people to fertilize this mashed piece of woodpulp in your hands, so take it out once in a while and fondle it. LOOK AT THE PICTURES!!! I did it for you. I hope that you are in one. Photo Editor of the '86 Talon, Ben Edwards

Hayley — Suprise, Suprise! Did you ever think that our friendship would grow into what it is now? Well, I have no regrets, especially because you introduced me to Kevin! (Ha Ha) It all started with those little talks about Tim Fox. What a guy . . . Then it grew and we began to TRUST each other.

> "Thank you for Clint Eastwood, my dad's house, and just being there."

Eric talks and so on. Many new memories have been made because of you. Thanx, they're all great. Good luck in life. I'll see ya around a lot. Oh — this letter is not complete without mentioning Arashia — Marshia and the one and only 'sucker lips'. Mark Assad too! Love, Kim.

ERIC — You did what on thanksgiving, Getting thrown in the water in hawaii by girls, B.O.R.T.W. for ever, Brawny and mountain climbing rope, I'm going to Hues party, At least I don't . . ., You call first, then I will. Can't let you forget the white nip. GARY

To My Linda — Lou! Just wanted to let ya-know how much R-friendship means to me! In such a short time you've become such a "special" part of my life. Tho I'll be graduating I know we'll for sure K.I.T! Keep Smiling kiddo — your a beautiful person! I Love Ya! Your one & only — Cindy Lou!!!

NIMER — Westwood, Hogang, WokWay, Clocka-Clocka, yellow duster rad car! Can we get back in the car now? Can I bite your thigh? What? Is that your real hair? Etiwanda, Darby? 11413? Northridge map — there's my house! Just grab a sweatshirt Dave, and go withe girls. Some fantasies come true. How much for the car? Skettibones. Shawn. Sorry I pulled out all your grass. Saving change in a little white box for Bobs. Who was that guy who kissed me? Come back! Gas — $5 on #6: Shut the door! The door is always unlocked, Stace!! Rose parade, walk walk. All good memories! I love you so much!!! Sob, sob. Always Remember. KIT. Love, Stacer.

Heather, thanx for the friendship we shared. At the time I wrote this we weren't going out, but I hope that has changed by now. You have helped a cold heart to feel again. You really are special to me, and I will miss you when I'm away at Berkely. I will always remember that warm smile and the cute giggle. I'll see you where the sunset meets the ground and where time is unessential. I do love you — marq.

Tricia — YOU BIG GEEK!!!! I'm so glad we met, I consider you one of my closest friends! You've made my senior year great!!! With guys-n-drinks. Just think my first in over twenty years. -yuk! It was at your house only. Remember Mike and Steve — 151 — how about Christmas, me running away. All the dances, Marilyns, McD's. Forget 1st Per. let's go out to breakfast! Young Life, Youth-n-Gov't. Chris Elliot, Sonia, Bonia, Rhonda-Honda! Let's go shopping, no you have to save for that car. Who's Flode? Lani what a scum . . . Dumb C, Stupid C, what's our favorite word? You always saying "Can I drive?" Our New Years resolution to stop driving so wild and to get ! Oh, well guys are Hawaii here we come. Did you say come? No way Forget it the guys a geek I don't care how much you like Chris!! Tim's ok. Hey let's prank Lani's mo;m. Yea. Remember cutting your neighbors hose, I need gas. How about Round Table; Marc, Paul, Mike, Chris Every Wed goiing to Chris H. Good Tiffany. Honking in front of Dean's. On Christmas going to Jim's and honking as we left. Two blonds in a truck. Mom and dad left, lets throw a party call everyone. Trish clean up your room you have a month! And not to 4-get UB40. Lets go climb a fence. C-ya I'll lov ya always Toodles — Spanky otherwise knows as Claire.

Claudia — Clewda Gonzales. Well we've come along way from Rosemont! There are a lot of memories. "In my hand!" or "let's go to Hollywood! No I want to go to vaseline alley!" NEAT. Hollywood Hills, those guys are pretty cute. SCAMING! Going shopping "why are all these guys looking at us?" The Glendale Galleria, LA, I love LA! Your 15th B-Day, My 16th B-Day. How about Mario, TJ man, and Eddie. Not to 4-get San Diego, Gail "Hieee" Antie Claire. Manhatten Beach! HONEY! What about food class, and Human Body. PE with Celest, Taco smell, Our Jr Prom, Homecoming! These are things that make High School GREAT!!!!! I'll never 4-get ya! Lov ya always Antie Claire.

Duke — Well, love, I made it. And I just wanted to thank you all for all your love and support. I owe so much to you. Whenever I was down, you were always there to lift me up and tell me that everything was gonna work out. The four years we've been together have been great. Not always perfect, but special in my heart. Cause look, love, we're still here and we're still in love. May we never change a thing. Remember always that I'm yours forever. I'm looking forward to spending the rest of our lives together. Thanx for the invitation. I love you, Duke. Eternally, Jeni.

Jeni — I love you. I get so much out of life with you. I just want to grow with you. You've understood me through it all. I'm glad we've become the best of friends also. I never imagined I could find a girl like you. I'll always love you. You are my life. Duke.

Dearest Kirsten, Well honeybear, our high school days are over. It's time to carry on with our lives. But even away at college, I will never forget you. You are the one person who filled my life with love and happiness. Although it was hard getting a hold of you, it was all worth it! I LOVE YOU!!! Now and forever. You are my life, and will continue to bring laughter and good times into our relationship. You are the most beautiful girl I have ever met, both in the mind and body. You will be very successful in life, with or without me. I just wanted to let you know what you really mean to me. I apologize for all of the hardships I have burdened you with. I hope that I have given you some of the love that you have so generously filled my life with. Thank you. I will love you now and forever. Brian (your lito)

BEN — my dearest love, so much to say and so little room. Memories which we'll always have with us and always remember with love. 2 yrs. of crazy love, that's what I call life. This summer was strange but definately fun. I'm glad it made us closer. Thank you soooo much for my Christmas present. I LOVE IT. How do you like the green book? SKI TIME! Colorado was a BLAST. Want to go jacuzzing? We can take turns watching out. There's a lady by the window, can she see? OH, NO! I will if you will, I never thought you would! Run, Run, Run, or else we'll freeze! Do we have any blankets? You have them all! New Year's SHSHSHSH (your sister) SHSHSHSH. (It's becoming a habit). B-DAY mushi pork was great but "dessert" was "MAGNIFIC". Both of my "HEARTS" belong to you. You're Great. We'll save "soft pink" (anniv. gift) for special occasions. (naughty you). I can't feel it. There?! I'll learn. Have you finished the book? What page are you on? No Ben, you're sick. Aren't you weak? So much energy! What am I to do with you but love you even more. This is DANGEROUS. I see red lights flashing on and off, I LOVE YOU. It's scary and painful to think of the future without your smile, devilish green eyes and warm love to feel and look at everyday. I'll love you 4-ever. You're my Prince Charming, I LOVE YOU. You'll always be in my heart. Lady.

W.D.A.C., To the wildest gang of girls, Parties, dances, (that I didn't go to)! Homecoming (no fun), Lunch anyone, I'm buying! My poor car, We're Seniors! I hate H.S. guys! Friends 4-Ever! Food, I have to P, I'm hungry, Happy B-Day, Happy N.Y.!! Oh my gosh I'm in love!, Did you see that? Where are my keys? I'm tired, I'm depressed. New neighbor, lots of fun. Memories 4-Ever!! I luv ya all, Cari (Pal!)

S.W.W., I met you, fell in love, spent best times with you, cried, played, and loved. You're gone, long waiting, til you come back. I still love you. Dreams of you, you're the one that I want!! Forever in my heart, I'm so confused, hold me, don't let go, will it be ok? Come home soon, miss you, 143, endless love, open arms FOREVER!! Princess  Jan '86

To my forever buddie John Since the day I met you you have been so special. All the memories we have shared, I will never forget. Even though I am not your neighbor any more I want you to know it will not keep us apart. Let's remember a bathroom, a boat, a very fun camping trip, a garage and a bunch of others!! Thanks for all the times you let me cry on your shoulder, and when you were always willing to take the time to listen to my problems. I will always be here, married or not, don't forget it honey!!!!!!! I'm gonna miss you when you leave in the Air Force and I hope you keep in touch. I LOVE YOU ALWAYS!! Forever, Cari '86

Mea, Thank you for all these years of fun and happiness. I hope that in future years we will have many more happy times. Remember the park & Bobs. Try not to sit through too many green lights. But remember our friendship too. Class of '86 Love, Angela

Dear Space, My fruity pebbles friend. All our school years together have finally come to an end. We have had so many fun times together. Our cooking years were the best. Us thinking we should open a restaurant called the Allen Drake Cookery. I think that we only made one bad thing. You have really been a terrific friend to me and you always will be. We could write a book of all the things we have done during our lifetime. I hope that our friendship will last forever. Love, Colleen

Jennifer P. (Spaz), Stories, I'm tired, What's that on your neck?! I want to go home. Should I make a snowman? I'm fat, Let's diet, We'll start Monday, Fer sure, don't look at me, Stop it, Ha Ha! U R a sweetheart. Pals always, Cari (Other Spaz)

Dear Janet, Well my friend can you actually believe we have finally done it? My god I never thought we would do it after all that has gone on in our lives. There are so many great times we have gone through. The night we were at Darrins house you were history. Our camping experiences with the potatoe and Mr. Wizard! How am I ever gonna mention all the great times we have spent together? How about you first street face. WOW! All your good and bad experiences with the men in your life not to mention the biggest jerk of all Mr. Super Stud! How about the Rose parade and our cruise in my Fiero? HA HA. How can I ever thank you for being such a great friend and always being there when I needed your wonderful friendship. Hawaii here we come and watch out B.K. . . . Friends forever. Y.B.F.F.A.E. Love your special sis Debby

"SLLACCJT" — what is "sllaccjt". It won't kill you. It's not a disease (even though some people may think so). It's not a green alien (even though we may look it when seen in a car). It doesn't fly (that's why we're always late) and it's not an animal (even though there is no animal WILDER than our group). IT-IS-US-we made high school what it should be for everyone. I couldn't have survived it without you guys. You guys are special and one of a kind (thank God! Or else the world would be in trouble.) Sometimes we get too wild but then that's why we have so many great memories MOTTO: YOU CAN NEVER HAVE TOO MUCH FUN! I love you guys. Lady. (GOOD LUCK ALWAYS)

STEFANIE, ROSE RED, FELLOW ROCK STAR — What's up fox? Well, we've made it through all those fun-filled last twelve years and you never know we both might see each other at USC. I just want to say that I'll always consider you as one of my best friends. We've practically grown up together sharing the best of times. I'll always cherish our friendship and the memories . . . Watch out Princess Leah for those monkies in the tree and maybe our glass bunnies will make to through the forest. Give Tiger a kiss for me and if you happen to see Ape Man or Red Eyes skiing, don't forget to drool. We'll have to go driving in your red convertible rabbit (that happens to be in the shop!) with Everett our buddy! . . . and please don't forget to . . . cut yourself cut someone else! You know who your friend is!! . . . I love ya! Friend Forever! Keep in touch! Love, Snow White.

Dan, (cootie man) A cupcake in my face, how dare you! You're so cute, I get my braces off soon! I'm so , I had a cold. Oh, look at you in those tights!! Want some gum? I slept in, my sister hogged the bathroom! No more school! Seniors at last! Memories are great! Love ya pal, Cari

Me too Tammys, How cute, I'm going crazy, I'm out of gas, help again, a donut shop, goodness, I'm hungry, Thanx for being there when I needed U. You're the specialest and best buddy anyone could have. Love you lots and more mems to come. BLK RBT Good Luck! Love Ya, Cari!*

Alli, Bonjour, comment ca va? You're such a doll! French wouldn't be the same w/o ya! John, oh no Larry, no Andre, Don't look Larry is watching. Can I have a ride to my car? What # are we on? What homework Oui, Madame!! You're lots of fun! Many more good times!! A bientot!! Luv Ya, Cari

Adelhide: We've made it through the good, the bad, and the ugly; gracefully. The time has come to take a break from that algebra and have some fun. Maybe this summer you'll learn how to carry dirty dishes downstairs. Or not. Long live popcorn and Coke!!! Love ya, Karen.

DARK MEAT: Memories; we have had a lot. Afternoon lunches at home with Art . . . Get it!!! Or wonderful Nirvana practices. We've had some fun. We are not big seniors, not for much longer. YA KNOW?!?! We have a lot ahead of us . . . such as HAWAII, partys, and more! But seriously — I know you are but what am I? Good ol' Pee Wee! GONNA RIP YOUR HEART OUT!!! Brian, I love it when he says that. Carricewheel, you and Brian look so cute together! "C", well you can't seem to make up your mind about anybody. Just Joking. FUN, FUN, FUN. Well there isn't much more to say I guess. We have always been the same and always will be. Dark Meat Hunters of America. Well I love you both just like sisters. Thanx for everything. I love you, Love ME!!!!!!

AMERICAN BEAUTY! I'm going to keep this short but sweet. You're the bestest! Even though we haven't done as much together this year our friendship has continued to grow. I'll cherish all the memories that we have shared. There's been lots of fun and hilarious times, and then there's been those sad times — those times we needed a true friend to talk to, and a shoulder to cry on. But those fun times have been the best, and I'll always remember them. I don't know what I would've done without you — thanks for all your help and support! I wish you the best for the future — follow your dreams and accomplish them! I know you can do it! You deserve the best so go for it! It's your life so do what you really, truly want to do — become what you want! Go after all those dreams you have. Have fun in college. Keep in touch. I'll always be there for you even though we may be thousands of miles apart. I love ya! Love, American Beauty #2

Scout — Blay sud hats wappening? Remember: Laguna, Pink and Black Mean Machine, no more cards, cruising, limp along, Forest Home, trying frantically to get a date, "I want a boyfriend, and a corvette!" All the great times. I love ewe! F.F. — Nana Kimbo, HEY baby doll, we have covered pretty much everything that Teenagers can cover! Partying, Sleepovers, Amusement Parks, The Crest, Sneaking Out, DANCING, Leaving Home, Throwing Food, High-Y, Sparr and late night talks about life in general! The telephone, Calling Card, our Clicks at school, MUSIC, THE GUYS, GUYS, GUYS!!! You are definitely one of my dearest friends. Thanks for always being there! Be there 'till '88. Love ya, Jen Ben

To Lee, (from your wife!!) Look at that guy, hope he sits near me! You broke my bear's nose, no fair! Kinkey notes, me, Maybe! Dynasty girl, me, are you kidding? I married who? Purple Light!! Darkness!! Stop Shaking. I can't. You're sweetie!! '86 grads are rad!! Here we go! Let's go to the beach!! Love Me (your wife)

Dear Shelli, We finally graduated! We spent almost our entire high school years together. Hopefully we are still going out together or this is going to be rather foolish, but I'm sure we are. We've had some really good times together and I hope there will be more. I hope you have fun while me and Ed are in Hawaii. It's too bad you couldn't come but . . . well, have a great summer with me. Love Tim

Laroo, we've been busy Steve, David, Pat, John, Sean. Football, basketball, dances too. Oh no, where are my briefs, gloves, ribbon we'll never forget. Boy chases, favorite pen, haunted house, mormon boys. Need your hair cut? Can I have this? You have to go to the beach (but I can't) we're going to the beach! You'll always be my best friend in the whole wide world. Love you forever. TOODLES, GIDGET

Lisa — Well, it's finally over. We made it through all of it. Now what??? You've been my best buddy through it all. I hope that never changes. Always remember Jalama, Mammoth, snowball fights and Prince. I'll never forget the times we've shared. Thanks for being the best salsy ever. Always, Jen

Speedy — Well, you pookey wanna be. I just wanted to let you know that I love ya. Through all the good and bad you've always been there for me. I hope we'll always be best buddies. Keep smiling and remember all the good times. Long live Duke and Bo. Always, Jen

Bro — You're finally out! Have a party. I got the last hit, slim. I love ya — Sis

Bill, can we talk? No way . . . a nickel on the street, stop your car . . . I saw it first, it's mine. (We've got to toilet — paper Yoda's cave again . . . next time, we'll shoot the neighbors!) Well, Cleveland, I can't tell you how much your friendship means to me. You've got to be the funniest, the wackiest, sweetest, and the most "grown up" person I know. Here's to the fun (and arguments) in Pep, the beeping game over the telephone, and bagels. Love ya lots, Cindy.

1985-86 Song: My fellow "Longleaders" we are now leaving high school to pursue our "dreams." KRISTY, when you find that awesome — blond — filthy rich — ultimately tan surfer with bedroom blue eyes to produce awesome — blond — ultimately tan surfer children, ask him if he has a twin brother. We'll all go on an archaeological expedition . . . who knows, we may find some priceless "fossils" somewhere, and I'll even bring the Pillsbury cookie dough and the ramine. STEF, what's Oh, by the way, what part do you sing? Who cares 'cause SONGLEADERS can kick ANYTHING! Stay away from my children . . . especially when they're cumquats!

ALISA, don't give up . . . I know that they will come up with a cure for your rare disease, WHEEZING, and you'll finally be able to pursue a career in breakdancing.

STACEY, you hot MORMON woman you, I don't know how long I will be puckering for, but you will be the first to know when I've retired the thought. Don't forget to name one of your twelve kids after me. SUZANNE, your voice on abortion is just too funny. I know you'll be a success at anything, no matter where you are, and if you ever find yourself in a jam, just say that you know Henry Agonia. To ALL of you, all my best always . . . If I was king for just one day, I'd give it all away . . . to be with you guys. "GOOM — BOCK — BOCK!" LOVE, CINDY

Ter-Bear: Hey, what AL Time is it? Wasn't English Lit. a blast? "Teri Condon, what is your reply to the question?" That always got you to pay attention . . . for a split second, anyways. We must remember Bob's slogan . . . "the hand is quicker than the eye." Ya, know, uh, we really take the worst pictures! Var., times a tickin and every word is costing money, so I'll have to cut this short. All I really wanted to say is that you are simply one of a kind, and I cherish our friendship. You're the best, and if anyone ever says you're not, tell them to "go-close-the-cellar-door!" Some day, I know that we will live in a house . . . made out of wood, of course, just like Gumby and Pokey. Next time we're stuck at the movie theatre, we'll know who to call . . . a TAXI CAB! Luv, Cindy — the C-H-R-I-S-T-I-A-N.

KELLY: Hey star. We've come a long way since our times as the JV maggots. Those days seem so long ago. All those ordeals and the adventures of S.M.A.K. I can't believe how silly we were sometimes. Anyways, I just wanted to wish you all my best after high school. You are and always will be one of my dearest friends. Keep smiling and have fun! Hawaii, here we come! Love, CYNDI

SHANNA: What is there left to say? You always manage to make me laugh and I really appreciate that. Here's to Michael Douglas, ten speeds, surfboards, San Diego, killer whales, clam chowder, and bananas. Keep being your eccentric self and remember to keep in touch. Friends-4-Ever, Love, Cindy

To my dearest little baby sister: You know, I must admit that when you were first born, I thought for sure that Mom and Dad had made the biggest mistake of their lives, but, I am pleased to inform you that I was terribly wrong cause then came Tom. But, you did put in a good race. I know you'll miss me next year. I mean, who's going to boss you around, make you wash the Z, take away your baby-sitting money, and always give you a guilt trip when Mom makes me do the dishes? But, if it weren't for me, who would make you tardy for chemistry? Well J.I.P., you've come a long way since your time of borrowing my socks . . . Yup, now you're borrowing my car!!! Great, just what La Crescenta needs, another female Lee driving behind the wheel. Seriously, you have been awesome sister. You've always been there to hear me talk and watch Dracula movies with, and no matter how successful I become, I'll always give you a discount, after all, we are family. If I never said this before, "I LOVE YA" and I'm proud of all your accomplishments and I appreciate you and . . . uh-oh, this is costing me money so I'd better go. Good luck next year as a "ding-bat" cheerleader, oops, I mean "VARSITY" ding-bat cheerleader. Love, Cindy

Kare-Bear: Hey Bud. I'm soooo glad we've become such good friends this year. We've had our ups and downs, but remember these: no money at lunch, listening to each other's lives — mothers, Jeffs, Johns and Toms, (we have a lot in common), Trig — we finally got moved, Ed, Geoff, and George Carlin, THE football game — guess who I met?, SAT's, Achievements, going to my house at lunch — "I forgot my shoes!", your , I never got any, and everything else that I don't feel writing. Thanks for being such a special friend to me. I appreciate everything you have done for me. I hope we keep in touch forever and ever. Sum 1 lufs U! Luv ya lots. J.J. — yor Trig pal. Don't forget our Trig wave (or squeeze).

Dear Kelly Ann Orozco — Now the whole entire school knows your whole name. You have been such a great friend and I don't know what I'd do without you. By the time you read this Bobby will be all mine because I'm sure he's dumped you by now. haha. We've had so many great times this year. Remember Halloween — you nerd, backwards dance — we drink-em fire water, also how could I forget the night of the Rose Parade — "groups", I've saved the best for the very last. You guessed it — FOAM AND GREASE . . . Long live it. We'll thank you also for all your help and everything. What would I do without you. Always remember that I am better than you . . . Love, Pam

Ian — There's so much to say and I know you've heard it all before. I have loved you more than you will ever know. You've always been special in my life. Now, more than ever, I need your friendship. Don't forget the good times — the movie, the Ice House, and a certain dance — I will care for you forever. Maybe we'll meet again under the mistletoe. Good luck — no matter what, you're a winner and I LOVE YOU!! I.S.T.

Kristin — Western-Bacon Cheeseburger, where do I start? High School has brought us so many memories — car pools, the drive-in, B&R, Forest Lawn, and of course UCSB. "Pump" conversations at 4:00 a.m. or how about a midnight swim? John, Chip, Cary, Sean — I'm still wondering why? I'd like to say Homecoming was the best — I'd like to, but I can't. It wasn't exactly what our dreams were made of. But we survived, we always survive. We've had our ups (men) and our downs (definately men) and we survived — remember we will ALWAYS survive!! You're the best! Go out and make the world your own! I love you babe, Belle

BRETT YOU'RE THE BEST!!!! LOVE, BELLE

Jill — We've had our ups and downs but always let the good outweigh the bad. You're a unique person and I'll love ya forever, Belle

Keiffers! Well sweetheart, we survived our junior year, with little of our sanity. I want to thank you for everything. You are the greatest Keith! Remember all our outrageous talks — sorry if I was rather blunt. I think you are very special. I love you very much, Dawnee

To my dearest Cher-Cher, I want to thank you for just being you. You are so incredibly special to me it is incredible. We have surivied so much these past two years — without much of our sanity left. I just want you to know that you are the greatest. We have come so far, and accomplished so much since our freshman year that it is hard to believe it is almost over. Next year is our year Cheryl, and we are going to make it one to remember. I will never forget all our "conversations" about males. I have decided that they just were not made for our kind. I also want to tell you how proud of my Varsity Cheerleader I am. You will always have a very special place in my heart. Je t'aime pour jamais, Dawnee

Deb, We finally survived our junior year. Can you even believe it! I am so thankful that we became close. You are such ana inspiration and a very special person to me!!! I will remember all the fun we have had (stag dances, parties, and dinners). Lotsa Love, Dawnee

Monsieur Mathisen, I just want to thank you for being the wonderful person you are. Your friendship means more to me then you will ever know. You have touched me in so many ways, at so many different times it incredible. You are an exceptional person who deserves the best life has to offer. Thank you for always being there! Je t'aime pour jamais, Dawn

Ohpers, You are one of my dearest buddies. You have always been there for me to talk to. We have had so much fun this past year (games, dances, parties). How can I even forget the BR men!!! Thanks for sharing the most important time of my life with me! Je t'aime, Dawnee

To My Song Sisters: I love you guys. Our memories together I'll always cherish. Spirit sticks — burgers in our Camp, Limo rides, "King for just one day" Talks — The High Priestess — Cindy: Mrs. Innocent. Stacey: CTR. Stef: How far will you go? Alisa: Squad ding-dong. Suzanne: U.S.C. Bud. LOVE THE BEARDED — WOMAN.

> "I used to detest ya, now I luv ya like a sis!"

Kim, Katie, and Zan: Girls, girls what can I say. I could have never done it without you guys. Our memories go back a long time. The Four-musketeers strike* Westwood invasion — Don — Pat — and Glen . . . C.C. Stag dances — getting pulled over. Beach trips — Sharing secrets — Gossip — Parties — Dream Men Katie: Let's switch. Suzanne: You did what? Kim: I burned my leg. You guys, I really don't know what else to say . . . You guys mean so much to me. I know I can always count on you. Always we will be the four musketeers. Love you all — Kris

Toad. God we've been through a lot these past two years, and I doubt I'll ever forget all the memories. Thanks a lot for being there and mostly for being yourself. Right now, you're one of the closest friends even though I'm only in the top five to you just joking. Always remember me, love, Jo Ann. P.S. We have our DREAMS, our BET and our MEMORIES

KEVIN — As you already know this but I LOVE YOU. You're a very special person in my life right now. I don't know what the future holds for us but hopefully it's as good as its right now. There is not much more I can say except to tell you again that I LOVE YOU. Jo Ann

Adrienne, Debbie, Cari, Cheryl, you guys have been the best! We've had lots of fun times and more to come!! Speedy Saline: "Ms. Bird, neddle neddle neddle, you , Debs: Have we corrupted you yet? I love you "guys", Wende, Bertie, Dude, ect . . .

Krisztina, Squad Quiet, Mansion — Well hon we didn't know each other very well at first but we sure made up for it!! You're a sweetie and a total brain and wasn't Spanish a total blast!!! (Thank goodness it's over!!!) Oh yeah Wham Raps!!!!! Love ya!! Well guys I haven't said one tenth of what I'd like to but hey my mother play bridge my fadder play golf . . .and Jonathon a no home!!!! I'll see you all in 87-88 song hopefuls!! Love always and forever, Squad-itch, DANNY!, Oscar the Grouch, Catastrophy, Ash Been, Mansion, Ash, Melons, Ashley. — P.S. CV pride will never Oh jeez, forget it!!!!!

Kars! Rad rappin' mama! You're so hot . . . even tho' you gotta thing for dark meat!! Hee hee!! I'm so glad our Sr. year turned out sooo rad. You've been there for me every step of the way. Thanks for everything. W'll always be Cruesa's!! I love ya, Kates

Mahli! The red ski woman . . . Well it's been a long year and it's finally over. You've been great and we made it thru everything. Come in Tokyo, men on ski lifts, cruises, talks, laughs and tears area all a part of our friendship. I dig ya woman. Keep in touch, always. Love always, Kahti

B-girl: "Don't buy me dinner . . . I'd rather have a present. Twin Alligators. My nose itches. Quick, call Sonny and Rico . . . the deal is going down in the Montrose ice cream shop. Keep smiling keep shining knowing you can always count on me for sure that's what friends are for . . . in good times in bad times I'll be on your side for ever more cause that's what friends are for. Don't walk backwards down crowded halls. Play the MIAMI music. I love you. Mai-coh 005

Mai-coh: Don't go to college. My gammas are going away. Happy Birthday from Northwoods Inn. Boy isn't this a brilliant message. Stanford here we come. Back or I'll FFFFFF . . . Isn't it wonderful to know that I'm illiterate. B-girl 006

Suzanne, #1 Lady!! You're the hottest! We've been thru so much: J.B. talks, the E.C. saga returns, all the secrets and dreams we shared together. I know college won't separate us — we're too strong for that. Iknow there's much more . . . but I really wanted to tell you that I'll always care. Love and Friendship Always, K-K-Katiebaby!

Mikadune — You mean so much to me. I wish you the very best life has to offer. Whatever you choose to do I know you'll do well. I'm here and willing to listen if you need me. I hope you know the things I cannot say. Smile till it hurts. Love, Cable.

Lauryssa, Where do I start. There is so much to say. You know who, how gross. No way! "Hard Rock Cafe" "I usually don't wear my hair like this. NEAT!" "Those guys are so cute Alicca turn around. We walked all that way I don't believe it. Brian, Scott, & Robert. They are so cute!! I can't believe it has been 10 mon. and we still see them. Micheal HOW fellow boys. Pasta ummm. The b read how funny! How many guys can I name since I first got to CV. I won't!! Your b-day and mine! Jason lying about the car. Jerk!! Big Bear we're there! Mexico All those guys, swell We are in Papas and the first two nights. Chris and her driving. Jim & Chris I don't know Disneyland yah right. Your out and I'm still here 4 2-years. College together. Weird Science St. Elmos, and Nightmare. NO WAY!! Dynasty and the Colby's. I want you to know that none or nothing could make up for our friendship. No matter how many fights we have your still and will always be my best friend!!! Hair curlers, Backwards, and toilet paper oh wow we are total GEEKS!!! Spending the night You're the bibbest! BEST FRIENDS FOREVER!!!!!!!!!!! LOVE ALWAYS, SHELL BELL

Whendle what did you do, fall off a wall? you know, i shaved my legs just for you. Phil Collins is perfect. Cheap Trick concert, reminds you of who? Winter Carnival, Mammoth — Bob B. peppermint S., spa talk, I can't get up! The party at my house, BIG PARTY, NO PARENTS! Getting lost, being followed, crashing off the hill, and the park — all in 1 night! love you Anne

Sid clepto-beach, Michael's, "aged grape juice", the park when myron was in China. We've had our fun, and secrets, mustard and ketsup on a hot dog, the installations and fermentation. i love you always! Anne

Suzotts — we've had a blast "valley girl" spa talks, my bro's grad party, the furs, and everything. I love you LITTLE PRINCE

Ian, Brett, David: MISTERS!!! Well — have we had fun or what? Partys! Disneyland! Dinner Party! (well maybe). What can I say except that you guys have made this year so special. LITTLE MAN: Your a truly beautiful person, don't change. Thanks for all the late nights at your house, the rides home, the best friend anyone could have, and of course the tickle fights (no hickies). BOOTS: Haay! Who's watch is that anyway? Thanks for always coming over, and all the fun nights. Your big hugs got me through the day. Bab, you a sexist, but I love you, right? GEOMETRY BUD: Thanks for the poems and kisses blown across the quad. You always made me feel like a princess, when I felt down. Remember, I'll never let you down, my sensitive friend. I LOVE YOU GUYS SO MUCH!!! xxoo Molly

AARON DOLL — Where do I begin? You have brought so much joy into my life, and a lot of hassles too. But no matter what, you have always been there to pick up the pieces and talk me through the bad times. Thanks for always calling, and all those nights you tried to get me to "study". I wish you luck in all your dreams and goals, you know I'm your biggest fan! Oh — and keep dancing, I'm VERY proud of you!! You will always hold a special place in my heart. Kristin Doll

Karla — Babe, You're awesome! You top the list for wildest woman I know! You're too funky for words. Basketball games were fun. The dance was the best. "Is that Karla's car in my driveway?" You're key what?!! Keep Smiling! See ya (maybe) at NMU! Luv ya, Mol-Doll

Cath — You have become a good friend. Thanks for the times we've had; remember Magic Mountain, U-turns, WHERE IS THAT PARTY? Oh was that the curb, Prince — Girls night out. Your party THE LIMO Don & Karins the horns in my hair. Then there was NEWPORT; sun, fun, & guys. You finally got your licence we have to go some where. P.S. I am not a loner, I have you. I am sure our friendship will continue to grow never change SEX KITTEN

FLOYD — your so close yet so far away. when we talk it is as friends yet I have wanted more so often. i'll never be able to tell you, i'm not brave enough to lose a friendship which means so much to me. lots of love a friend

Ja — 9 — weve had a lot of good times. you will always be a dear friend. Remember all our trips up north ross's poem, swimming in freezing water. magrath wood runs we need to take dave of one sometime p.s. hang on to him he is a good catch gotta go your friend lisa

Dearest Tim, Where do I start? We have so much. I've got to be the happiest girl in the world! A little over two years and our love for each other is still growing and staying strong! We've gone through and learned a lot together. I'm so glad I had you to turn to for love and support. You've made my high school years the best!! We've shared so many memories — so many that it's hard to remember and write all of them down, but they'll always be in my heart! You know you're the best guy for me in the world and I want it to be that way forever. You know our love is really special! Do you believe we're graduating?! We now face a new beginning and I want to face it together! You know I'll always love you!! Now and Forever, Your Sweetheart, Shelli

Mr. A, You've not only been an excellent teacher but you've also been a terrific friend! Thanks so much! You not only helped me with algebra and trig, but also whenever I just needed to talk. I'll miss you very much, but you can be sure that I'll be back to visit!! Love, Shelli

Dear Kristi Toler, By the time you get this it would have almost been a year. I think you gave me the best relationship of my life, we learned a lot together. I'll never forget you. I'll always remember how we met, our first time alone, (P.S., Where's Ron?), the times we broke-up, and got back together, all the tears, and all the laughs. I don't think I've ever loved anyone like I've loved you. I still think about you a lot. I always will. Maybe your nineteenth birthday will come soon, maybe it will always be years away, I don't know, only God knows. But whatever happens, our memories will be locked away in my heart forever. I'll always be here if you ever need me, you don't ever have to be afraid. I'd do anything to make you smile, and you know that. Stay with God and always look for the sunrise. "Friends Forever", Love Forever, Walter Ortiz

Hey F.H., How ya' doin'? Cheesebro, I want you to know your friendship means a lot to me. I hope we'll still be surfing together by the time we're thirty (With our own little grommets, of course!). We are such hoses, Christian hoses! I know I'll be stoked on my honeymoon! I'm sure you will be too! God Rules!!! and Shred 4 Christ!!! Surf Buds 4-Ever, Walter Ortiz

Hey Jack!, Jack the Ripper!, Kalier, the Unhoser!, Just Kiddin'! I know you'll be stoked on your honeymoon too, Zowie!! How's the Bonzer Board? We gotta teach Dorit how to shred, Shred 4 Christ! We've been friends for a long time and I'm stoked we're both Christians! Can't wait to shred these "Heavenly" waves with the "Shreddah" Himself! God Rules!! Surf Buds 4-Ever, Walter Ortiz P.S., "No Shakes!"

Carrie, Carriswheel, Cornelius Flake, Ect., I have so much to say but I can't afford this if we're saving to move out. So I'll make it quick. Emerald Isle, Me choking you to death in fear for my life. Halloween, ducks? The Nirvana Studio, sing it, twist and shout, The Change. Dark meat hunts, you are winning 2 to 0. Drinks at the bowling alley, I've never driven this . . . dinner at Jesse's (a new beginning). Balboa, wanting to slam the door in Dane's face, Jeremy, Ha. Taking pictures. Cruzing the stang. You and Steve, walking in, he peed in front of us! Waking up on your living room floor, With who? Eric and Berts Apartment. Sticking notes all over Berts truck. Little man down, Why not? I could go on and on and on. It will. Thank you for being such a good friend, putting up with my driving and justifing my actions. We have had so much fun together. I've known you all my life and I hope we stay close. Well signing off . . . Hawaii bound . . . Acting on impulse. Love, Cynthisizer Its not my fault!

Paula, I want to let you know how much you mean to me. You're very special. We have had a lot of good times together. Pouring you into my hatch back, mexacally, we're pros! Harmony, a night to always remember! The lake, the Nirvana studio, Poly Chase, sing it. Of course he forgot your coke, oh well have a "El Madador". Lunch at your house. Cindi. And so many more memories to come. Hawaii, the hunt begins. Thanks for being there for me. Through Paul, Jesse and Jeff. May your future with Darrin be everything you want. I love ya. Love C

Schatzee, I just wanted you to know how much you mean to me. You are my very best friend and always will be. We've grown up together and watched each other change. I always want you to be a part of my life, and I hope we stay close. I hope all your dreams come true, you're a very special person. We've gone from stuffed animal boy friends to the real thing. What an accomplishment. I love you, Beamper

Cheryl — hi cutie! Well it has been an awesome year and I am so glad that you were a part of it. There were so many fun times. The big game — Go UCLA! Spending the third quarter in line for the bathroom, how fun! Dinner with the old folks. Potato, tomato, french fry? Try saying that twelve times! Um, I'll have a Diet Coke. Hey let's start short flags at CV! I want some jelly beans! Boy, it sure is "cheeday" outside! F . . . I hate stop signs! Driving in the rain with broken windshield wipers. Hey let's see if our men are home. We struck out eight times!! whoo-hoo!!! Yvonne! Ok you guys, don't laugh when you see her. Like, oh my god! Smack! I'm a UCLA cheerleader, see?! Swell like we really care. I may not be Miss America, but I do have a crown for something, right? Hey, where's the Pirate? Jewel of the Nile, Just Joan, are we jogging? Want me to do your brake? Hey it's cv, Cheryl Varsity! Just call me Dir. of Sprt.! I hope. You really are the greatest Cheryl. You are always so understanding. Our talks about guys. Some day . . . I love ya baby and I'm so glad that we have become such close friends. You deserve the very best and I hope you get it. Love ya! Debs.

cathy LYNN smith — OOH CRA-oops! diarehea! Welp fellow detective — looks like we made it through the year. PHEW! What a year too. Fun filled with B-hunts, Cold Duck, Beaula, a dead Betsy — corrupting each other minds at Bob's! OH and we musn't forget — HOT FUDGE CAKE W/ EXTRA HOT FUDGE. I still want to be pretty though. I'm going to warn you that I deeply treasure our friendship and I'm not going to let it die in the years to come. If I have to . . . I'll follow you wherever you go. I'll haunt you. I may even decide to go to the same college! And if that happens we can burn on Brian and go to Bob's! he-he. Student of the month! Yes cathy — you are as good as Brian. Always remember the next time you pick your nose you many find valuable evidence and there may be a connection. Seriously though, you mean an extra lot to me and our fun, adventurous times will NEVER end. You're stuck with me babe, hot lips, sugar buns. OOOH! Don't ever, ever forget that JOHN HENRY aka B i n a s a l is a massive, intense piece of meat! Can I be blunt? Can I suck your . . . toes? I LOVE YA AND I'LL SEE YA SOON! Eternal Friends, RACHEL.

Insoon — "The Hwanger" — Number One Sexy Mama — IT HAPPENED!!! (Yes, that too, but also the end of our Junior Year!) (FAR OUT!!!) I don't know how fate brought us together as friends, but what a deadly pair we are! "I am America,," "You are Korea" — what a match!!! Who else would attack each other with the infamous guns, dress up as turbin women or become the founders of a "near-normal" club? The wild n' crazy memories I'll cherish forever: Bike riding — FLAT TIRE!; wanting a sip of "Mr. Garrier's" cherry coke and getting all upset; You losing you way home from MONTROSE! Walk, step, skip, jump; I "daud" it! For a good time, call . . .; HOT FUDGE! "C'mon, she doesn't smell"; The Algebra notes about me that you passed around the room (By the way, I still haven't forgiven you); "The Men" — Such problems!; Massive Abba Zabba attacks and going to the bathroom (to eat!) Never forget that you can "Bring Home the Bacon" after the Christmas Stag and that throwing a tantrum over a ride home usually does result in getting your own way! I'll always admire your "overwhelming beauty" but be ready for the day when you turn 50, I'll still be 49, and I'll surpass you in attractive appearance!!! Well, we've sure had our jokes and laughs, and if I had to say only one thing that I've learned from you, it would have to be how to have fun no matter what the situation You're one of a kind, "Hwang", and I'll will remember you always. No matter what the future holds, I know you will succeed. Nothing, I know, will be able to stop you — or us, for that matter! I love you! Friends, Now-and-forever, Cathy. (Sexa Mama #2)

To: Chrissy, Gabbi, Dawn, and Shina! You guys are all the greatest! All of you have made this year one to remember. Chrissy — my bud! Dance was awesome, even if we did look like Kermit. Hey let's do a backbend and hold it for 5 minutes! Football and basketball games. Oh, our laugh that only you and I thought was funny. Paying 10 bucks to park for the Nutcracker! Never again. CVHS — Chrissy Varsity Head Song! I love ya baby! Gabs — What would I do without you? You have always been there for me. So many times you have given me hope and confidence in myself and I thank you for that. My Pee-Buddy forever! Our main men! Someday we'll get what we want, right? Of course you were the one to notice the dancers in the Nutcracker. You've got a one track mind! Don't ever lose hope Gabs. There is always something out there for you and I know you'll find it. You are the best!!! Dawn — hey baby! I am so glad that we have become so close this year. There have been a lot of good times. The Nutcracker, Numero Uno, playing at my house! You are so easy to talk to and I thank you for being there to listen. Thanks sweetie! Shina — My chemistry pal! We sure learned a lot in that class, right? You really are a great friend and I'm glad we have had the opportunity to become closer. We've had some good times — our infatuation with certain people! I hope we both achieve our goals . . . Stanford! You're the greatest! You guys all mean the world to me for all the great times. I'll cherish them forever! Love ya, Debbie.

Dennis — You're so special! I love you so much! There will NEVER be another person who could take the place in my heart that you have. Thanks for understanding, caring, and especially loving me. Don't ever forget how much I love you now and always will! Love Ya! Your Baby

Christy Beer — HaHa, thanks for lunch all year, and our secret secrets. I swear I won't tell if you don't. Remember brownies, girl scouts, ice-skating, Carpenteria, dance classes, MaGraff, the "lots", TOMmy The Puppet, junior mints and cake fights, "act like a 'darn' lady", and my Grandma! The best of best friends — Love, Wendy Gale

Annie — What-ja-do, fall of a wall? No, I jumped. You garbonzo bean, turnip, you eggplant. Oreos and mustard, yum, Carpenteria, cake, spikey legs, tennis, Switzers, MAMMOTH, and Utah?, but always dirty jokes. I hope you TY up together soon. SMILE SKIERS STYLE. forever — friend, Wendle.

> "Pulsating pork sore and beat me, beat me, call me trash!"

Sid — Sidney — I know you're not a clepto. I know you're not a quiche eater. I know you know who is running for Pres., and I know you know who won. But best of all I know who Miren is. Love Wendy P.S. Mt. Waterman!!!

Don — I saw you, I met you, I know you, and now I LOVE YOU, Wendle.

Girls' Varsity Basketball — Lisa — loner friends forever, Raynay — no powder on the shorts, Lia — best buddies, Susie — you'll play, Carin — watch out for the little man, Deanne — at least we can have 5'6 guys. Karin — "You're a WOMAN!", Sherry — Spaz. We're awesome! No street shoes allowed. Love Tammy

Jen Ailes — Always remember T first period. Golf! Duke, Shawn probs. MacDonalds for breakfast! Just give me some extra points. The time we poured the ink for the ditto machine all underneath. Matt G — so cute! You can't parallel park. Geek. English Office — Berg. I love you! KIT! Love, Sofa Stace.

J.V. Snorks! Well chicas here we are. B.J., you and I were great on drill with Heather, Dawndria, and Missy. Kim you've always been the greatest. Summer will be the radest. I can't wait till camp. Football season will be awesome. We're the radest together. Love, J.V. Snork Krisly. J.V. SNORKS #1!!!

My BE-FRIE: Where should I begin? Our friendship has grown so very strong in these past three years, I don't know where I would be if you weren't there looking down on me. Your being in AZ has been a true test of our friendship. You were always in my heart as well as in my thoughts. We have shared so much together. All our secrets, dreams, fantazies, tears, etc . . . I love you kid. You mean the world to me!! Your being here and our spending senior year together is the best. What more can I ask for? You are always there to listen to me, I thank you for that. Our Pre-Senior summer: Remember: hot tubs, parks, out to lunch, galleria (locking the keys in the car) McDonalds, Carls (our special table), the lazarian show, the beach, Sunset Blvd, 4th of July weekend? Swear on our friendship . . ., and everything we've shared together. Your letters were always a highlight in my life. I always looked forward to getting them. Now that you are back here, we're having the time of our lives catching up on old memories and creating new ones. Lets get some How about Vons or Two-Strike Park? Remember Magic Mountain? When we lost the car? We're gonna ride the revolution in what seat? Bah-ha-ha!! Do you have to go to work today? Can I come over after school? Big Mac, Fries, and cookies . . . There is so much to reflect on, impossible to write them all down. Only a few can be mentioned. Sure, we have had rough times, but all good friends do. Boy, have we had a wonderful relationship. I know that someone special (Mr. Right) will walk into your life and sweep you off your feet. Don't settle for anything less. You deserve the very best. How about my X-Mas AZ trip? Metro, Squaw Peak, Ice Palace, the un-mentionables of that trip! Relax, Relax, O.K., O.K. Subway!!! Lets go see Mike! The bowling alley to meet his mom. Spending the night at my house. I know that we will never part or lose touch no matter where we are and where our colleges and careers take us. I am always there for you, please never forget that. Now that you are back, our friendship has grown stronger, and I anticipate that it will continue to grow. Well, I wish you all the luck in the world for your future! It's us against the world — Betancourt Enterprises!! (How does that sound?) A few last memories before we go . . . How about Disneyland? BobbyMcGees? A-A-Allan? Mike? Homecoming? Accounting? Simbach? Does it have any taste? What does it feel like?, etc . . . How about Prom 86? Graduation? So many memories, more to create. I better get going, write soon. (Sound familar?) I Love You Always, ST-NDS

Bryan, For years I've been thinking of things I could put in the personals for our senior year. Now that the time has come, I don't know where to begin, or what to say. Our relationship has been a shakey one, but through it all I've felt a special closeness' to you that I don't think anyone else could share. Time has passed, and yet I still read your letters with fondness, and remember the good times we've shared. I only regret that we weren't closer in high school. At times I find myself needing to talk to you because I feel you are the only one who could understand. I don't know what makes you dear to me. The "secret" notes in the summer, the peridoical talks, or maybe just the memories. You once told me you had liked what I wrote in your yearbook, and hoped that I would mean those things for a long time. Well, I still do. And now I'm writing another yearbook novel to let you know. Now that our "public education" is over, we'll be going our separate ways, (For the first time since we've been two!). I hope the separation isn't permanent. There once was a time not long ago when I vowed that I would give up anything for you. I have a feeling that it's still true. A soon-to-be-famous person once wrote, " . . . you will always hold a special place in my heart, whether our relationship is that of friends, more, or neither." That quote means more to me now than it ever did, and I want to believe that it still holds some truth for you, as it does for me. I wish you all the best in life, and I know you'll achieve it. Please know that if you ever need to talk, laugh, or become unshamelessly involved in a kinky, suggestive conversation, I'll be here for you. Maybe, someday, we'll by Up Where We Belong. When we get there, I'll take you whale watching. All of my Heart — Stefanie.

Bryan V. u r so special to me, it's hard to believe that we r going to grad! Strip T.P. J.H. parties, long hair, girls & boys (trouble) I guess the next big evt. is weddings. You will always hold a very special place in my heart! Love Always Diane

Jill H. how long does it take 2 get 2 S.P. — 2 hrs. You have always been there for me — thanxs!! Stripped in quad lady You are dear to me lets keep in touch, Love Diane

Lynda & Kim, well gals this is it, u 2 are so special! Lyn you have been great to me, don't worry, 1 of these days u will find THE guy, Kim make a good Song: u will change but u can control the amt. U both have had a good influence on me thanxs! We'll K.I.T.! Love U Diane

Honey! I'm glad we've become friends; you're the greatest! I'll always be here for you, K? It's been the best. All the laughter and song. I luv my songs. They're the best! J.T. is awesome. I'm gonna miss you so much! You can always make me smile! Remember we're sailing the world together! I luv ya, babe! I'll always remember the good times! Luv, Blondie (M.T.)

Jen — well we've made it now we are out of here. we had our ups & downs this year but we made it through. we've had lots of good times PRINCE — girls night out was it fun. Partying with your brothers in the desert painting kurts room trying to do the ceiling. you were the farmer & I was the engineer., at least we dressed for the occasion. the one football game floyds darrin was so sweet. dukes long beach i never thought we'd pull it off. making ginger bread. we are both working women now I never thought you'd get a job it just isn't you oh well we still have lots to come PROM, GRAD, etc. thanks for all the good times SALSY

SUZANNE: My life never would — of been the same these past 7 — yrs w/out you as — my "BEST-FRIEND"! Ya — hold a special place in — my heart that I'll cherish — forever! The closeness, honesty, & trust we've built is SO different from any other existing friendships. R — friendship is "one-of-a-kind" & can never be replaced. When I — think of R — friendship, I — think of all the fun-filled adventures we've experienced together. Yep, thats "US" the — 2 "Wild 'n' Crazy ladies of — the eighties" YAHOOO!! We always seem to — know where the fun is whether its — in Tahoe, Arrowhead, or Foster City! (&-boy is — there plenty of fun there!) WOWWW did you ever — think you'd become an Adopted — grandchild!?! Ya sure are! Yep, this summer we'll be — headin up to see "G&G"! It's gonna — be the greatest!!! Despite the numerous — x's of fun, I think the most "special" part of — R friendship is that tho we've had only about 2 or 3 "disagreements" we've never — once given — up & always seem to work out — R — differences. That to — me proves that nothing & no one can — ever take away "R" priceless" friendship! You've always been there — 4 — me thru good-n-bad. I don't know what I'd do w/out ya! You're my other half that will remain w/me 4-ever!!! You're my LIFETIME FRIEND! I love you w/all my heart, Suzanne! Tho this is the end of H.S., its a — new beginning to our future that we'll experience together "hand-n-hand" as FOREVER BEST FRIENDS" & "R-T-S's"!!! Once again, I LOVE YA SIS!!!!! CINDY Peachfuzzz, Where do I start? When I look back to the times of "Against All Odds", and now, I bet we have gone through more than any other couple. I also think about what I would do without you, but I hope things will never come to that point. Sometimes I don't show how much I really love you, and I'm sorry. Please don't ever forget that I do love you. I know I haven't always made you happy, but I haven't ever stopped loving you, and I never will. I'm looking forward to all the years to come that we're going to spend together. During all that time I know we'll become experts at the Newlywed Game. If something should happen between us, I'll never forget all the memories we have shared together. I wonder if I'll ever go to buy that leotard! HaHa! Will you ever learn not to slide 30 feet across ice, or trip me on roller skates? Just never forget that you're the inspiration in my tomorrows now and forever. You're just the sunshine of my life. October 23, 1985 Love ya, CowNow.

Steffie, Holly,Shelley — You guys are the greatest! What would I do without you? You make me laugh and you make me cry, but I love ya! Steff: You are my beeeest friend, Balboa was the best, especially Paul, and how about Philip and the mercedes guy. Oh no! And our night at UCLA. That is definately where I want to go. Weve been through good and bad, but no matter what, you'll always mean a super lot to me. Hol: You have got to be the funniest person I have ever met, especially when you're not quite with it (UCLA) I don't think I've laughed so hard in my whole life, you though for sure Steffie was dead, and you're so loud. We have got to go back to Numero Uno real soon, but only for the pizza, of course. Shell: Well, remember rollerskating, then bikeriding, then rollerskating again, and the lady with the cane we thought for sure had a gun in the end, and the noises at Monte Vista. Then all of our dances and writing to Chris, and trying to get on top of that mattress time after time in your pool Those were the good old days. Well, you three, what more can I say except that you are the best best friends that anyone could ask for. Love you! Leslie

Lesley — You've really shown me what friendship is all about, and I want to thank you so much for all the fun times we've had. Mr. B, D.C. the one and only Sad Case, 3 years, that has to mean something,.Here we are, moped — man, work week 84 and every bass lake, how could we have been so in love with them? Shall we cruise Football Blvd.? La Crescenta is just the happinin' city. We love it. Tujunga and the windshield wipers. movies — let's be dancers, do you think I'll ever see him again? Oh well, life is hard! oh yes, and Robby, and I can't forget the most important thing of all, the gas station! HA! Well we've been through a lot and I'm looking forward to a lot more. Love ya! Leslie

To Gabby and THE GANG: The best of friends through thick and thin. All my fondest memories of you will remain for always in this yearbook. Our shopping sprees. Days at the beach. Our ever exciting adventure in Santa Monica. The beeping crosswalks. The beach bus? Never again! But will we? Maybe so! Don't step on my shoes! My summer love (intense,,,,Joke!) Lusting after "Hobie". Days beside the pool. "Merry Isthmus to you!" The football games. The stag dance. Excitement! The X-mas dance, better yet! Our X-mas party. The seahorse (and Guppy too!) How childish! Who gives a bleep? Seagulls! Ugh! The WIG. Gabby's work of art, Tales of the Long Haried Hero (and of course his two sidekicks) Will we ever have as much fun as the days we spent together in the summer of '85? Let's write a song! Maybe so! How about some Fun Snaps. Peachy! Smurf's (certs) encounter with sergio. My marriage proposal. Not quite! Strange beings breathing helium from the balloons. Can't forget the guys from Burroughts (#s 48 and 5?) How rude! Oh Shiela! Neat! How about Smurf's obsession with Junior Mints? Our home vidoe. Anyhow, I love you all! Gabby, Smurf, Gummy, and Guppy! Luv always! M.E.

To: "The Group" (Skip, Beav, Herb, ¼, Mexacali, & Justin) — Well boys, I think the group has grown through out the past 3 years. You guys are all losers, but don't worry, I'll bring you guys out of the ghetto when I win the Mr. Universe competition. (JJ) You will all succeed. Skip will be singing in the Morrman Tabernakle Choir; Beav will be flying some plane "The Machine"; Herb will be playing with his hockey stick in the Olympics; ¼ will still be paying his dad money for his rabbit; Mexacali will join the Morman faith, and marry a buff, female, Russian gymnist; and Justin will still be pumping that iron, trying to get as buff as me. Well boys, ENJOY. Your buddy FLIP

To Mike — Good luck. I hope that you have as much fun as I did. But work hard, it will all pay off in the end. Have a blast — Your older Bro, Bri.

Dear Cami — Ward, What can I say? It all started in Traffic Health, a little every now and then. You have always been there for me, and I honestly don't know what I would have done without your understanding and patience. We have had so much fun together. But most of all I want to thank you for taking the time to listen when I didn't have anyone to talk to. I thought I would be lost without Trishia here, but I was wrong. I have you. Your the greatest Cami, and you deserve the best in life. I wish you More happiness than anything else. Please keep in touch when we go our separate ways. Good luck in everything. I love ya!!!! Love Kirst

Hayley, We did it! We became friends and have had many memories to prove it. I just wanted to say thanks for being part of my senior year. May we try and keep in touch, after we graduate. I will miss you . . . I wish you all the happiness in the world. Bye . . . Love Always, Kirsten

Erin, Well Babes, graduation's coming . . . remember our fun: 7th grade: Peppermint Patty, "notpotholes!" 9th grade: Cunning, James Thompson, 10th grade: Tommy, Friendship, our loves, Bishop, Hirsch, Gelsinger, Atticus, Marshall Colt, Hutch, Starskey, "Is Debbie here?" the beach falling, Where's PCH? 11th: Kevin Mc Eveety, gless WBS "BIRDMAN", Barbie doll, senior pictures, 12th: 86! "Pack this!" tie up yo hair, Dodger game Kevin; Trey; bus ride, Perry, Jimmie, David Ralph, PROM???? "Bruce", WBS, oh, Rally platform, Babes 1&2, I'm shurr, ostrich walk, Choir, Grimley, Martin short, Shea Case, Binzer, Tanna, T.J. I love you. Donnnnnannannnanna.

> "You want me to drive you where? Where the @£% is Diamond Bar?"*

STACEY — We finally made it! My childhood friend! The person my whole life is built around. To list the memories we've had would fill 1,000 yearbooks! I know and you know that we've drifted apart during these high school years. But, we conquered all the obstacles and made our friendship stronger and more meaningful. I have to name a couple memories that always make me laugh! Bringing chicken bones to school instead of candy! The Archie doll! "written feet", "me and my huggums!" Matt and you know who! Natives! The slip and slide! Clubhouses. "They're looking at us!" "Where are your sisters" You are my life. Friends always, I love you! Laura Ribbbbbbitbutt, Better known as COW NOW, this year has gone by so fast it feels like we just finished our freshman year. God did that year suck. One more year and we are finally out of here. We have said to each other so many times how special our friendship is to each other. We have been friends for so long. Somehow I really don't think anyone could break us apart. We have done a lot of growing up in the past few years and I know it's helped having you around for someone to talk to or a shoulder to cry on and we both had our share of those days. Like you said once before in your own words we are like one person knows us like when one of us isn't around it is like a total instinct to ask where the other Michelle is. Well I think you know what I'm trying to say anyways. We've shared so many times together, GOOD and BAD. Remember?? "STOP MAKING OUT ON OTHER PEOPLES CARS" or what about Lake San Antonio??? "We've found ourselves a new alarm clock." Also FLOODING the stupid shower with a big daddy long leg staring at me. That was the worst. Then what about scaring each other half to death by thinking somebody was outside pounding on the walls. Well that of course was only a few, I mean a FEW of some of our good times. Sure we've gone through some major dilemma's but we come out of them like always. "WELL BABE" as Pat would say I care a lot about you and I always will. Take care of your hubby Scottie Poo. I really am glad you two are finally hitting it off again. I think I better go or I'll "GIBBER JABBER" now till dumes day. I love yah lots!!!!!! BEST FRIENDS FOREVER!!!!!!!!!

To the great friends of the giant guppies from the North: I'm a little seahorse, short and stout; Here is my tail; here is my snout When I get all steamed up, I just whinny; Tip me over, you stupid ninny. You guys are such great friends. Love, Granny Seahorse.

Stephanie and Stacy — Well, two years down, two to go. It's been great guys, good times and bad, I'm glad you were there to share them! So many memories — rootbeer, dances, guys, TSC, amusement parks, parties, the beach, strangers, the West, Bob, Jim, LM, the galleria — I could go on. Thanks for everything! Best Friends Forever. Jackie WEBBY! What can I say? We have been through so much. Hope there is double fun to come? . . . You are my very best friend in the world! Hawaii here we come! Look out the wild women are graduating!? Never forget Budda, Bill, Darren. How about Rick, John, Karl, Greg, JOE, and let's not forget ". . .head!!" How about your killer love at the Dad Daughter dinner? Remember the street races?? Miniature golfing — Tony — What a rear!! How could we forget New Years Eve?? "What year did you graduate?" "When did you start?" Ugh! This here is a new fangled race car! Remember Dana Farrell's? She got what stuck in eye?? How about Homecoming?? It was a nice dinner! How 'bout Jenny's party? What a advantage to have John so close there??? '86 here and forever! Thanx for being there when I needed a friend I LUV YOU, SIS! Y. B. F. F. lub, Wanet the Wonder! P. S. Pulsating pork sore and beat me beat me call me trash! The BURGER king sisters!?

Tam (Tom) — This year has been really fun and I'm glad we've become so close! Algebra would never of been the same without you! Remember all of the guys we've liked, (no names)! All of the parties we've been to together (but never happened to leave together!) Remember, Have ya got enough gas? The green truck, and McDonalds? I love ya, Sand (Drew)

Kristy A. — Hi honey! We sure have known each other a long time! Remember all of our little fights, like someone hiding an article of my clothing and telling someone not to let me Swim in her pool! (You sure were a mean one!) I'm glad we've gotten closer over the years and I'm going to miss you when you leave. I love ya, Sand P.S. Coke is it!!

Dani Mani — This year has been fun and I'm glad we've stayed friends through good and bad! Thanks for sharing you locker and sorry you were always tardy to all your classes! I love ya, S.S.C.C. P.S. Celebrate this "Holiday" and let's DANCE!!

The Breakfast Club — Hey you guys, thanks for being there, that class would never have been the same without you. I'll miss you over the summer, especially the Jock and her "pink." — S.S.

Lauryssa — Hey you Goober!! This year has been fun and it won't be the same without you next year when you go off wherever! Come pick me up in the green t.p. truck and we can go run out of gas somewhere. Make sure and come back next year and see me driving the wagon. You're a great friend and I'll miss you a lot. Love, Sandy

Moe (Odie) — We have had a blast this year and last year. Remember Green Hippo, Coins, , Colgate, Cire, and Bug Spray and that wierd lady on the Phone? I swear that lady is insane! Those are only some of the good ones!! You're sweetie and I love ya, Manny

Kerr Bear — This year has been really fun and I am really glad that we became so close this year. Mrs. Johnstones was the best (ha ha) and I'll never forget that class. You are my OBCESSION and you always will be. Club Tropicana takes you there, fun and sunshine, there will be enough for everyone!!!!! You are the funniest person and you always crack me up!!!! I love ya babes, Sang Beach

Michelle — Coins, , Colgate, Dirty Nylons, Paul, Porsche, Good, Good, Go with that, perturbed, Bitco, use the exit, Joe Pro, Santa

Barbara, Cobblesonte, FSM, Fishing Vest, Calling up a Girlfriend, sow, San Diego, Leo Carillo, PDHM, dancing speedos, cornbread, your guess as good as mine! And many more!! I love ya, Me

Dear Kim, Throughout our high school career it took us till our senior year to realize what best buds we really were. We've shared so many experiences with Damon and Jeff to last us a lifetime. Between going to movies, miniature golfing, and poker playing and also getting along with them took a lot of effort! We all had a lot of fun together and I know there will be many more! That was the four of us, and for the two of us we have been able to criticize and harmonize our ideas together. We can always discuss our problems and everyone elses so well. You will always be my best bud through thick and thin! I know if we get an apartment together we'll get on each others nerves but we will always have a blast doing it! Our times together will always be in my heart and in the future these times will always continue in our minds and soul. Love and friends, Cami

To the "Party Like it's 1999" gang — Can you believe we finally made it through our high school years without any severe brain damage? I will never forget all of our rowdy times such as parties, movies, occifers, concerts, hitting the beaches in Aileen's car pretending to be relaxed and natural. We have had so much fun eating toast (aileen, cassi, jeni, lyrae, susan, and tricia) and drinking orange juice (lady). And I will never forget going to the barbershop to get a stylish haircut. And just think if we didn't have Aileen we wouldn't have so many pictures to prove our wild and crazy memories to our grandchildren. But also during those times you were the greatest friends a person could ask for. You will always be a very special part of my life and memories. I wish you all the best in our upcoming future but I will miss you all so much! We have to have that reunion in "NINETEEN NINETY-NINE!" I LOVE YA'S!!! CAMI

Dear Suzanna — Banana, I am so glad we have been such buds. Whether we were at a party or just talking we always had such a blast together. I'll never forget our talks at Freemont Elementary and dancing to the Neutron dance. The highlight of our friendship of course was at the San Diego trip. I'll never forget how scared we were. You'll always be in my thoughts when I think of my wild and crazy times. Good luck in the future and I know we'll keep in touch! Love, Cami

Dear Kirsten, I am so glad we were there for each other during the fun times and the sad times. We both had so much in our lives this year that permitted us to do a lot of things we had of liked to of done but our friendship is from the heart and not how many times we saw each other. We always could talk for hours on any subject and laugh till our stomach ached. I know we'll be friends for a very long time and I wish you the best of luck in the future! Love, Cami

Dear Mo, what can I say but the best to you. We have had such fun times at C.V. You are such a special friend. I'll never forget those long talks. "Do you really think so?" We always asked for each other's opinion. We really helped each other out through those teenage crisis. You really mean a lot to me and when you go to college I am going to miss you! We better not lose touch or forget about each other. You're the best! Love, Cami

J.W. and B.W. Magic Mountain, with K.L. and B.W.! Homecoming 84 with Brian and Kraig. "Let's Jam." Oops, Stop n Go, Brian's house, closet and bathroom! The beach, "You little . . . ", Cari, Guess what happened . . . "Shaun and Bruce left and me and Gerry . . . " "Me, I can't believe he called. I'm so nervous. "Can you come over just in case. "He's leaving." I'm depressed. "I need a ." I'll never do that. He told me he loved me. "Look at his eyes." Loads of memories, I'll always love ya! Pals forever, Cari.

Hey hun, it's still kind of weird that we finally got together after being friends. Remember that one Friday night, at the races??? Our official first date you might call it. You know how much I care for you and just the thought of losing you scares me. You are and always will be very special to me. Whatever happens I'll NEVER forget you or what we have been through. W've been together for almost three months now and hopefully we will be together for a very long time. What about "ORGAN MUSIC?" Maybe someday I'll teach you to stay on your feet instead of on your . J/K. Please whatever happens between us, don't forget about me okay? I know we have had our share of fights but somehow we seem to work them out. I LOVE YOU MORE THAN YOU WILL EVER KNOW. I know I am somewhat a pain sometimes but bear with me. We have shared something that is very special and we both know what I mean. I really couldn't be happier than to be with you. I LOVE YAH LOTS. Michelle

Geof. A friend you will always be, though in my heart you will always mean much more! Meeting you was a great highlight in my life, and the times we've spent together have been very special. I wish I could be here to see you through your senior year, but I hope that you get the most out of it, cause you really deserve the best. You are someone that I won't ever forget, because you are one very special guy! Don't ever forget me, and just remember that I will always love you! Kelly.

Hazel. I swear I think we've been through it all together, from guy problems to car accidents. Somehow through thick and through thin, through the worst disappointments, to our most ecstatic moments, we've been there for each other. There's no one that knows me like you do, which just makes everything more special because we know what is going on inside each other's minds. What haven't we done together? We even worked at Ralphs together. I must say we have stirred up some great memories like: Infamous car rallies, "Are we in Monrovia!", Mammoth trip, M.A., E.C., R.H., M.N., Lake Tahoe, stag dances, taxi rides, the Loft, football games, certain red cars, your brother's house, and the list goes on . . . I would be here forever listing all those good times we've had excluding all the bad times! All I can say is that I never would have wanted to go through any of those things without a friend like you! Thank you for sharing alike all those memories. I luv ya as the best friend that you are to me and hopefully always will be. Forever your best friend, Gertie.

Wendi (Wally). I'll never forget that day you knocked on my door and asked my mom, "Does the new girl live here?" Even though you were the one that had just moved in. Cute little Wendi in that Winnie the Pooh dress, and 12 years later we area as close as ever. Who could forget our days spent in the canyon, and endless vacations together. Kings River, Mammoth, San Clemente . . . "No for Wendi." Still my neighbor and still my close firend, here we are graduating from high school, but never to worry we will never change, we are still the wild "n" crazy everytime we get together! You an your family have been like a second family to me and I could never thank you enough for all you've done! Luv ya lots, sweetie! Kel-Bell (Cow Bell)

Janice. Well babe, we've graduated from Rosemont together and now we are finally graduating from CV. Three years of this place and we're finally out of here! At times I didn't think I was gonna make it through all the hardships and pressures, but friends like you pulled me through. In fact, I can count the times we've spent, endless talking instead of getting our dances done. You are so easy to talk to and so understanding, your friendship means so much to me! Dancing partners forever you and me babe! I wish for you the most you can get out of life, because you have so much going for you Janice, just knock 'em dead! I hope we never lose touch, because a true friendship like yours is very hard to find! Thanks for sharing all the fun and laughter and tears! Luv ya always. Kelly.

Moira, my love. To say everything I want to say would take a lifetime, so I will make it short. What will we be and where will we go? Those are to questions I hope and dream that someday we will be able to answer together. Moi, you mean the world to me and don't ever forget it. It will be hard not seeing you next year when we are away at college, but I hope, if anything, that it will bring us closer together in the end. You have made me the happiest person in the world. Though I've never said it before, I want to tell you now how much you have helped my life to really get moving. With the perfecting of my life you have shown me that by putting your goals ahead of you with a long shot the reward is always great. Moira I want to say that you were, are, and will by my most precious goal. I'm looking forward to the future between us and I hope you do the same. I'll never forget all of the special times we've spent together . . . the phone calls, the laughter, the dates, the hard times, and the romance. Yes Moi, I can honestly say that "I LOVE YOU AND MORE THAN ANYTHING." You will always have that special place in my heart that no other could. Thanks again for everything. I LOVE YOU AND ALWAYS WILL. Love, Aaron.

BRIAN, LITO, GLIPPER, BRYLITO. Well, we made it! No more high school days for us. We've got the world wrapped around our fingers. It's been a tuff three years but together we've made them just a tad easier. Well to get down to the point I just wanted to remind you of a few things, so when you're in college you can read over a few of these things and laugh at yourself (which wouldn't be too hard in your case). Remember the flip, the skip, the herb, and the beave; "THE GROUP" (you're out of the group, buddy); KY's, VY's and so on; our girlfriend talks this year, and the ever so pleasureful M-J's. But speaking down to the nitty-gritty, I'm going to miss you next year when we are away at college. Take care. Your bestest friend, AARON.

LAURA. Hey dude, how about some of your M-J's? Well Lar, what can I say? I'm going to miss you tons next year, and I know you'll miss me more than anything! By the way, our new cars will have to go out and have little car babies. Seriously, Lar, I'm going to miss you a lot next year. Don't ever forget about me kiddo. And if yo do I'll have to come back on x-mas vacation and teach you a lesson. It's going to stink not having that someone call when I'm depressed and when I just felt like bugging someone. You'll probably be getting a call from me every so often from college (so don't worry too much). Thanks again for all of the fun times we've spent together. You're a doll. I love you. AARON.

Col — I'm so glad that we are best friends!!! I love ya lots — remember the fun we've had? Rose Bowl '85, Men from OSU, Chicago, Westsood, New Year's Eve (don't touch me!), Rose Parade, Greg, I love you (charm), Murphy's Romance, 101 Dalmatinos, waxed, Bruce (& many other tribulations not mentioned), Hawaii, 16th birthday party, (thanks to you), Neil and Stacy trouble (thanks again!!), Cats, the Beach, Limo ride, Jerry, Bobby McGees, Missing You (John Waite), our summer song, Hard Habit to Break (with the words changed), Government, Breakfast Club!, car accident, ticket, traffic school — How Festive!! (god!) Neat Prince (your love! Hee! Hee!) Webster (the old funk!) and the pound puppy! Go nigh nigh! and always remember Grandma and her safety tips Ha! Ha! Ian, Haunted House, the Chase down the mountain, and thank god school's over!!! and many more things that we've shared that I've forgot to mention. But, all I want to say is that we have a strange relationship but a good one, and let's stay close always!!! Love you always, Cor.

Dear Cor, we have been through a lot together in these past few years. The good times and the bad times, but all in all we somehow worked it out. I hope our friendship will last forever. Whether you go away to college and I stay home, you will always be my best friend. I will never forget the times we had, like The Handicap Christmas, Malibu with Bruce and Brad, New Years at Kent's, The Rose Bowl game, and our pictures with Santa. We have had a lot of fun times. I wish you the best of luck in college in whatever you do. It's been such a festive year, Cor. Best Friends Always. Love, Col.

SPAMMY, How can I thank you for everything this year? You've been a friend, brother, boyfriend, and best friend all rolled into one. All I can say is that I hope our friendship continues to grow. It's something that means the world to me. Just remember to "takes notes." Don't stop looking for that someone, I promise she's out there somewhere. Until then don't ever forget that I LOVE YOU, even if I have a songleader's "ego" Take care, love, (dove). JULI

TO: CHERYL (cv, Cheryl Varsity), DAWNALD, GABS (Queen Egg), and CHRISSY (my little songleader)! Thank you for being such great friends. There have been so many times you have cheered me up when I thought it was the end of the world! I love all the ice cream! Shirly, thanks for all the talks, the guys who blew it cuz we don't want relationships anymore, Christmas dinner, Yvonne (the UCLA cheerleader), and our plans for football games! Dawn, those BR men, talks, chemistry . . . I am glad we have been able to keep our friendship growing. How many times have we written I love you on our folders? Gabbi, yes, we are hopeless romantics, and don't you ever forget it! Thanks for listening to me babble on about all the old memories ("you know, I should have never let him go," etc.) You'll always be my Gabbles! Chrissy, our squeed will be not just good, but superior, I'll take good care of your engagement ring to you-know-who, don't ever forget about our secret and not-so-secret loves, stools, jackets, varsity privileges! Thanks for talking to me and being honest about when I woke you up! I LOVE YOU ALL. JULI

Pat, We really are the best of friends. What am I going to do without the next year since you'll be gone. Thanks for being there when I needed you, I just hope that someday I'll be able to do the same for you. In the future have fun playing quarters and spending time in the bathroom. Well, good luck in your future years. Whatever you decide in what to do, I'll always stand by you. We have a real special friendship that'll last forever. Love ya, Michelle

FishLips, What a friendship we have! We have been best friends for a long time and have had so much fun together. But I have to say one thing important, PLEASE, no more noises in your sleep! I know you have had problems with Eric, but just hang in there and everything will work out. I bet that he really does care. Maybe this summer we'll have our licenses. HaHa! Or by riding in my bug maybe we'll know more about VW's like Eric, Maybes someday we'll become the type to learn how to ski. Friends Forever, CowNow

Aaron — Hey vato, hey vato, hey vato. Well lito, the big BYU in the sky is calling you. But if you're a true friend, you'll go to San Diego, cause that's where I'll probably end up. You know, we've been friends for 4 years now. What a waste of time (JJ). But seriously, you are an outrageous friend. You've kept my secrets, listened to my problems, and helped me through many hardships. Enough of that, just get your act together. I can't watch over you my whole life. I'll always remember the quick trips to 7-eleven, sneaking out, hitting the party scene, and breaking everything you own. Take care. Your bestest, Brian

To a wonderful sis, LeAnna, The love between us runs very deep. The love between us never seems hard to keep. We fight, we argue, but always we care. We help each other, we always share. We laugh, we talk, we share our dreams. Those fantasies along quiet streams. You're always there for me, I'm always here for you. When we are together we are a perfect two. It was our first year in school together. I was worried at first but I could do it forever. Thanks for being such a great sis. Our school memories together will surely be missed. Love you Forever your sis Debbie

Katie — long talks and long drives, many problems to be solved Beach trips, Madonna, Westwood with the t-tops off, car ralley's, parties and so much more. Unfortunatly, things have gotten in the way. We're just lucky to have been friends. Your a great girl and I wish you luck. Lots of love, Kim.

Bro, Even though we haven't been the closest lately. I know I haven't proved much to you our Junior year, and I'm sorry. I guess all of us has just made some sharp turns in our lives this year. No — matter what happens don't forget I still care and won't ever stop. I will never forget all the times we've spent together. Friends always and Forever, Sis.

Jimmy, I just wanted to say that I hope in time we can restore our close friendship we use to have. Even though things aren't the greatest right now, I do still care. You know I blame myself for all that has happened to our friendship. Love ya! CowNow

To "advanced: Drama 5-6's: Well, you've endured 3 whole years! What a great start for life. Reba, your bops are the best. Wherever you go — happiness. You + Cor: Find someone who can recognize a fantastic person. "Hi, my name is " WE KNOW now tell the world. Hel-lo Banjo. I'm very proud of you. Work toward your goals and smile (w/o those fences) Mr. K, is that a real job? Chase those rainbows "NEXT" All of you are special to me. Make your dreams forever "shine in the dark?" — Lorraine Penny

Joanne — Put down that underwear and read this. Ready? Thank you for always being there for me — making me laugh as well as letting me cry. Keep Super Acorn rolling. Since we can't find it try to remember our friendship book. Your career (whatever it may be) awaits you and your unique talents! Love Sheri

Laura! Thanxs SO much for being such a "special" part of my H.S. — yrs. Ill cherish forever all the fun — x's together. Tho we may be going off our seperate ways next yr., I never wanna lose you nor R — friendship! Your a beautiful person inside-n-out & I wish ya the best! I Love You! Friends — Forever!! Cindi

Dear Emiry, You're such a great friend! We've had such great times together! Remember my first motorcycle ride? Or Monopoly and Hanafuda games with Collin? Dressing like twins? Going crazy over Careless, Whispers, Cutsie, Bugs, and Doc? Dancing and J — school? What a blast! No matter what, we'll never be separated! I love that cute Jaysa the Jumping Jackrabbit! B.F.F! I love Doc! LOVE ALWAYS, GABBY THE TALKING PANDA P.S.: Love that Glendale Gang!

Dear Stacy, I'm so glad we met! It's great having a friend like you to bug about Oscar and Whispers. So glad you've put up with me! Remember the night at the beach retreat? A special time for both of us. So many others, too! Like being the first Glendale usherettes? Or my famous guacamole? Youth meetings and retreats! You're so special to me. Hope we become even closer throughout our future years. LOVE ALWAYS, GABBY P.S.: LOVE THAT GLENDALE GANG!

Dear Mindy-poo, Melon-head, Michelliwags, Lester, and Karenanean, You guys are great! (Oops-banned!) Wonderful! Nice! Mindy Ropp had such fun at the dances! It wasn't fair! Melanie Haase the whiner had fun on New Year's and always used Avon lunch bags but was great squeezer in Big Bear! (Remember Collin and Matt or Fort Tajon?) Michelle Woodrull had a blast playing hide-&-go seek at school and dreaded doctors & shots as much as me! Lesley Zimmerman was a great imitator & her rhymes were the most "odscure" ever. Karena Nelson was always with Keith but also had time for her favorite English class. So many memories! Luv ya all! GABBY P.S.: Who's the fairest panda of them all? GARBY THE TALKING PANDA, OF COURSE!!

WOW! I just got my Moby Dick essay back. The one that you helped with. Well, you know our little secret! I just wanted to say that when you look back on your Junior year I hope you remember all the great times we had. Like staying up to 2:00 in the morning just to talk about life! Or being with a certain person named Eric J. Hoffman. Thanks for sticking it out with me for my beliefs. Or just being there when I needed you. No matter what, good or bad, the great memories will always be there. Thanks! See ya — (YOU KNOW WHAT THAT MEANS) LOVE YA LOTS, CAROL

Gudday Ash-baby! Omigosh, I can't even handle this! We are total seniors and nearly alumni! We've had some ripper good times, eh mate? Remember: the first day of tenth grade — what were you on Chris? Our first, second, and third Christmases together, Jalama Beach and the sulphur water, applying for jobs, learning how to drive (I borrowed the car) T.W., G.M.; — R.W., J.S. What! Wow! The armed forces are ruining our lives! B. Material — har — har! SShhhh — don't ever tell! "La dee da dee — we like to pardee — we don't cause trouble — we don't both nobody! "Dougie Fresh!! And — What — your car doesn't have power steering. And I still love Colorado! Well, mate, we've shared some bewdy times — and we've got so much more to experience — wow — I can handle this! Well Bob, I dunno Bob, in the butt? Take care babes — love C.R.D. — 143 — 4-ever!

Anne — (Brutus) — The best friend in the world. Thanks for all the years of joy and happiness. I will cherish all of our memories in my heart while we are apart. You will always be with me wherever I'm living. College is going to be great and I will always keep in touch. (How could I let so many years go to waste!) May your future hold years of happiness and success. I love you dearly and I look forward to our continued friendship and great times. I love you dearly. F.F., Susie. A.K.A. Sushi, your foreign exchange student.

Tina and Debbie — Two of the greatest friends in the world. Without you two I may never have made it through everything. I will never forget everything we've done and been through together. Best of luck in the future. I love you guys so much. Live life to the fullest and never forget all the good times we've had. Thanks for everything! Love always, Susie. Don't forget about the french dips (in more ways then one this time.)

"Remember Magic Mountain, U-turns, WHERE IS THAT PARTY?"

Stacey — I just want to let you know that your friendship has meant so much to me. Thanks for all the good times and I hope we have many more together. I wish the best for you always. Keep in touch. Love always, Susie.

GEER-Geek! Biggest Fattest! "One of these things is not like the other, "Old MacDonald. "Burger King! "Can I add a lg fries to my order?" Close — open. Golf! Brian! Alex — Just call him! Jimmy. Martin: O — we loved him so much! You helped me so much during that time — I LOVE YOU! Rush! 12pm phone calls! Baby Zack. There's no beep. How scary, how fun. Don't fall over any walls! Rosettas. Clausen driving — slow down Joe. Men Strike. Bomb '76. Brown truck, yellow Comet. LA zoo. Love you! KIT! Love, Drake. P.S. THINK FUN!!!

Dear Shannon Schiedeberg, it's been a fun year although hopefully next year will be better. Until then have a great summer, and don't get into trouble. You probably know who this is by now so I'll probably see you some time during this summer or next year. Love, Richard Haack

Matt — Thank you for all of your love, caring, and support this year. I never would have gotten through it all without you. The distance may have been greater this year now that your are at PCC, but I know you see me as often as you can. I am looking forward to many more months with you. To be completely honest with you I never thought we would make it all the way through the year. Thank you for everything. I love you. Karin

Ian — I want to hold your hand and kiss it too!! Love ya, your little jailbait.

Mr. A.W. Rose — No matter what you think, your critism really does help. Thanks for being there all of the time. I love you like a brother. — Love everyones little pick-on thing.

Melanie — You're the best cousin anyone could ever have!! — Love Sadie (your fav. cuz)

Cathy — You're the best, best buddy anyone could ever have. Love, your best buddy.

TO MY RED-HEADED TEDDY BEAR — What a year! Between my knee, the kids from Austrailia, H.B., and problems arising from every day life, I don't see how we made it through it all. I guess it's because we make such a good team, that we can take on anything God challenges us with. Let's keep it up!! Love — Your teddy bear finatic

For Craig, my sensitive, big-hearted, musical friend who is always singing and putting a song in my heart: The world is at your feet and I believe that, whether you realize it or not yet, all of those dreams you tell me you want so badly are just waiting to come true for you right around the corner. We're so different, you and I, but at the same time we're as alike as any two could be. You give to me priceless gifts every day just by being my friend. In my life you will never be replaced. You are one of the most wonderful, beautiful people I have ever known. My friend, I love you. Lesley

Fellow Guamies, we have come such a long way. From rapping at the table to recording at Glencove studios. CHEWING GUAM is still the most degrading band ever, but we're proud of it! Djiboutie, fish, efs zras, amn bua, how did we come up with such names? "Whole wheat tortillas?", "Don't scratch my drums!", "Do you smell something burning?" Who has our tape? I am proud to be a member of Guam and will always remember thye people we touched with our music, in the head that is. May we forever stay at the bottome of the musical ladder, and funk the world of alternative music. Reagan and McDonald are still the two biggest clowns named Ron that I know of. Remember that one day we shall control the world, and all of society will think like us. It gives me the creeps too! "Let's save this moment in picture." See you where the missles meet the ground, KING XIII

Harvey and Mark: Hey guys, well the year was great, thanks for teasing me the whole year! Harv, yes, I'm still growing! Mark, why do I look up in the sky? Harvey: "guess" dance forever, you keep rappin' okay? Good luck both you guys in college and NBA! love, Karla

Bruce, Moron Sister, and friend, Well hey, we made it through our sopho- more year. Just keep in mind; I promise to help you all I can until the bills come and then your on your own, How do you get yourself into these messes?, No sweat, Now do 35 rock-ups with ankle weights, What do you mean you haven't done your algebra?, Our friend Mike, Oh were going how do we stop?, Remember, you owe me a large pizza with onions. This summer lets live on those horses. Friends Forever, Hi — d See ya at "The Table"

Shannon — Cutie — Hey babycakes! I thought I'd tell you that you're a very special person to me. You have been a great friend. Thanks for helping me with K.M. Just think how close we've gotten in the last 2 years. Your really special and if you ever need me, i'm here. DON'T FORGET. GOD' all the times we talked about K.M. and M.M. look how it wound up. REMEMBER cookie and Pizza we eath while we talked to C.V. at 1:00 A.M. until all hours even our BIG tennis games in the middle of the street. Your a great dancer and the best softball pitcher i know or have seen. Your Friend forever Heather MC.

Gidget — Stubbies on Drill Team! You're like my sister now, we've been through so much. Clyde & Eggbert! Ding and Dong! KP and Forest Home! GET OFF MY BED!! Memories: getting home at the same moment — Homecoming! Walking at 11:30 pm, NO CRANGRAPE! Liking eight guys at once. Record? Your PJ's — has everyone seen them now? We've had fun, Installations and dances, Mormons to football players, killing rabbits to cardboard trees. We've had tears and laughter, good times and bad, but always remember . . . FRIENDS ARE FRIENDS FOREVER!!!!! Love, The Easter Bunny

Dear Sis, Well, we've made it through High school. Can you believe it? And there are so many memories. And to think I've shared a room with you for 18 years. Your my most dearest friend, and I love you more than anyone. This year we seemed to go our separate ways just a little, but I guess we can be separated. Your my twin and I would never ever trade with anyone. I wish you all the luck with Damon, as I know that you love him a lot. And I hope that if I do go away to college next year, while you're at good ole Glendale, that you won't forget your big sister. Thanks for being the unique person that you are. See ya at home. Love Always, Sis

My Fav(e) Sis — Just wanted to say all the good times we've had have been so much fun! Remember, "Don't Let Him Steal Your Heart Away" Phil Collins was our main man! Mammoth, Laguna, Castaic, HERE! All the food runs! It's been so much fun! All the tears, the laughter, the men, well boys, well, WHATEVER!! It's been a great year. I promise, this year I'll sign your yearbook! Maybe I'll even finish last years. Hang in there babe, I luv ya! Mahli

Parents' Expressions

Dear Shelli, We are very proud of you. You can be assured that all of your efforts will be rewarded in the years to follow. You have become a fine young lady that will be ready to meet the problems of a complex world. We know that whatever goals you set for yourself will be met. We also want you to know that if any help is needed along the way, we will be here if needed. Please, don't change be yourself. Love, Mom & Dad

Dear Tim, We are also very proud of you for your accomplishments. We are also proud to have you as a friend. We feel as if you are a member of our family and if you need any help along the way, we are here for you if you need us. You are fine young man and we wish you the very best. love, Bob & Mike

Dear Tim & Shelli, Well, you both did it! The easy part is over. Just kidding. We know its been tuff because we've been there. We also want you to know that there is a rough road to follow. If you both strive to do your best in whatever you do, you will make it. Again, we are very proud of both of you. Remember, this is not an ending, its a new beginning. Love you both, Mom & Dad

COLLEEN Caroline, for eighteen years you have made us very proud of you. We wish only the best things in life for your future. May all your dreams be fulfilled. Always give your best and you will be rewarded with happiness. We love you very much. Mom and Dad.

Stefanie, congratulations on three great years at C.V. Your accomplishments have made us proud. Your songs brought us joy. Thanks for leting us share in all the fun. Love, Mom and Dad

Cari, What do you say about someone that brings joy and tears into our lives all at the same time? You have been happiness and misery, smiles and frowns, ups and downs, but at the very peak of misery, frowns and downs, you seem to melt our hearts with your love and your caring. We've watched you grow from a little snotty nosed girl into a truly beautiful woman in just a matter of days, (it seems). And as for your brother, Donny, well, some day he will come around and see you as a potential friend instead of THE ENEMY ! Hopefully, you will eventually see the good in him too, there is a lot there you know. After all, you both come from two parents that love you very much, and wish all of lifes good and happy things for you, equally. Congratualtions CARI-BUNS, We Love You Forever, Mom & Dad

Bryan, Congratulations! We are proud of the individual you have grown to be. Thank you for so many wonderful and often crazy memories along the way. You are truly a special person. Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you. Have fun doing it!! We look forward to new and exciting experiences. We love you and wish you a future filled with happiness. Love, Mom, Dad and Scott

Laura, It seems like only yesterday you were running through the house, tripping over your own feet and asking, with bewilderment about things like Santa, babies, furry bunnies and things that go bump in the night. In fact, it was yesterday, just after asking me for gas money and a new Prom dress. Remember OLD YELLER will always be up on the hill to chase the "BAD GUYS" away. As you leave High School behind and move on, remember to take with you a sense of who you are and where you came from. You have always been and will always be loved! Love, Dad

Laura, I can't believe OUR High School days are over. There were a lot of good times and a few bad times but I have had such a fun time living them with you. All your girl and boy friends, Proms, Advanced Dance, Committees, Math classes, Offices, dates, cars, jobs, diets, hair and all bring good memories and a smile to my face. You'll always remember your High School days with pleasure. I know!! YOU'RE THE BEST!! Love, Mom

JMP — Congratulations You finally made it all the way through. We are all very proud of you. You have given us so many memories in your 18 years — remember Drowsy at Big Bear; 6 years of C.S.A.; 9th grade graduation and Virginia; Hawaii and last summer with your first job and best of all our trip on the train to San Francisco. Always remember the BART, 4 buses, the cab and 2 car rental agencies. The best years of your life are ahead of you so make the most of them. Remember, we all love you and will always be there whenever you need us. Love, Mom, Dad, and the boys

Dear Jennifer, You've been a winner from the start! One of the first words you spoke as a baby was "self," and you've been proving ever since how self-motivated, self-responsible, and self-assured you are. These 17 + years with you have been full — joyful, exciting, trying, even challenging — full of wonder and delight as we have watched you grow into a fine, beautiful young woman. God has given you many gifts and abilities, and we know that you have a bright future ahead of you. The next chapter of your life is about to begin — COLLEGE — and we will continue to give you our love and support as you learn and grow into a mature adult. We're proud of you! Love, Mom and Dad We'll miss you, Jen! You're a great sister! Love, Jodi and Joel

Dear Brad — This world is a better place because of you! You have many God given abilities and will succeed in whatever you put your hand to. We are so proud of you and love you deeply. Mom and Dad

Dear Wende: How great to be able to write in your yearbook and tell you how much you mean to us; how proud we are of you and what joy you have added to our lives. We know your future will be as bright as your beautiful smile, Love, Mom and Dad.

Susie M. We are so proud of you. You are truly a special person. May all your special dreams come true. We love you. Love Mom & Dad

Moira: You are Mah-va-lous, Dahling! Mom, Dad, and Matt

Kelly — Well, here we are. High school graduation. At one point it seemed so far away, and now you're almost ready to leave for college. Here you are — considered by some to be nearly an "adult," but to your parents, only adult in the obvious ways. This is just the first of many "milestones" You have so much still to learn, so much more growing and reaching to do, so many things to understand in your life . . . You're just beginning. But it's been a good beginning, and you have all those "happy surprises," discoveries, and accomplishments to look forward to in your life. We trust you to handle most of them well, but to remember what parents are for when you can't (we have such wonderful hindsight). ENJOY your senior year — make the most of every day — your family, your "AWESOME" friends, even your crummy car . . . These are the "Good Old Days!" And just so we don't lose touch with reality, . . . Would you please clean your room?! Love, MOMMIE DEAREST

To Bunco — You are a tireless worker who has distinguished yourself with your dedication to CV as a scholar, athlete, individual, and member of the yearbook staff. Good luck in your future endeavors. I am proud of you! Dad

Diane — Congratulations — You made It. We are so proud of the lovely and thoughtful young lady you are. It has been wonderful having you around for 18 years, through all the ups and downs (mostly ups). Besides who will help me with the stereo now? You are truly our bright and shining star and we wish you the very best in life. Love Ya, Mom and Dad

Brett, Brad and Bryan, You are each very special and unique in your own way. It's been great fun! You are true friends. We look forward to your future. You're always welcome. Love, Mr. and Mrs. V.P.S. And don't forget . . . "Whatever!!"

Kristin — our fabulous red head. You are so special and unique. You have always been the light of life to us. Whatever you do in the future we know it will be with your own personal style. We love and are very proud of you. Mom and Dad

Michele, You are terrific! We have never doubted that you would succeed. You have made a huge difference in our lives. Know now and for always that you have been, are, and always will be loved immensely by us both. Thanks for choosing and rechoosing us as your parents. Dominic and Caroline D'Arcy

To our little Moodie Mouse, It seems just the other day you were small and now look at you, all grown up and ready to go. There's a big beautiful world out there and it's yours if you continue to believe in yourself and your dreams. You're on your way to the top — We love you and are so very proud of you! Mom and Dad Dear Julie — We salute you! You're very special. We love you more than is humanly possible. The whole family is proud of your many successes, and we anticipate great things as we watch your life unfold in the future. God has honored your mother and me by placing you in our custody these first years of your life, and we thank Him for trusting us with you, and we thank you for being who you are. We love you Sweetie, Mom and Dad

Cindy, We are so proud of you. Although we may not always show it, you mean so much to us. Good luck and lots of love. We will always be here for you. Love, Mom and Dad

JENEANE — CONGRATULATIONS! Our love will always be with you. We are very proud of our favorite daughter. Be happy. Love, Mom and Dad

Pumpkin — You are a very special daughter. You are beautiful, sweet and loving. I am very proud of you. Love you always, Mom B.B. — BOP! BAM! BOOM! That says it all. We're proud of you and glad you made it. The best is yet to come, and we love you. Mom and Dad

Dear Tammi, We are very thankful it was God's decision to give you to us. May all your dreams come true. If God be with you, who can be against you. We love you boque, Mom and Dad

"Angel-Shine," What will I do next year without seeing your beautiful smile every day? I love you!!! Mom

Dear Kim and Kirsten — We are smiling through our tears as we once did eighteen years ago when our tiny little girl burst into the world much too soon and much too small!! Praying only that you would take your next breath and keep on going. From that moment on, you have never stopped making us proud. Watching you grow into a beautiful young women and sharing in your many accomplishments has been our greatest gift. To say you are special is not enough — to say we love you is not enough — you are our lives! Congratulations girls. All our love, Mom and Dad

Karyn, We cannot begin to tell you how proud we are of you and your accomplishments. You have always been a "doer" and we know you will continue to accomplish great things as you go on to college. Our wishes for you are that you will satisfy yourself and be happy with what you are doing. Whether your career destination is in the film industry or whether your direction changes somewhere along the way, you will do well. Have fun, enjoy the scenery, study hard, but most of all, keep on being you. We love you. M. & D.

SUPER SONG SIX, Best wishes to you all. We first met Suzanne in two year old pre-school. With her flashing eyes and unlimited energy, we knew you'd go far. Kristy came into our lives in four year pre-school. She sat very quietly, who would guess you would become the motor mouth of the 80's and keep us laughing. Alisa has had to put up with our dogs since kindergarten. You have overcome not only the allergies, but a bad knee to become "Song" Just met Stacey and Cindy last year, but Stacey makes you happy just to look at your big smile and sparkling eyes. What would we have done without Cindy, you taught me how to make candied sweet potatoes. And Stefanie, well you were born to sing, dance and cheer. It will be sad the last time the big green Songmobile pulls out with the Six Superior Songs aboard. We will miss you! Keep in touch. Mrs. P. and the Pep Pop

Michael — The nurse handed me a baby girl. "There's another one," I told them. "I don't believe it," they said. He fools you. At two he removed the electric light plates with a screwdriver. At three he sailed into traffic on a bigwheel and climbed on the roof. At six he explored Glendale on foot. At eleven he put a motorbike together and got his first traffic ticket. Now he wants to go to Europe; hopefully he will not borrow someone's plane. Be careful Michael, even though you have guardian angels who work in shifts. I will try, as you say, "not to worry." Love Mom-n-Dad

Claire — Kahil Gibran say, "There are givers to life, and their coffins are never empty. At five months she petted and kissed the rocks in the yard. At six months she gave Michael her cookies. Her kindergarten teacher thought she was an artist. She drew pictures everywhere. She painted the cat green. She took art lessons at ten and we framed and hung her pictures. At fourteen she abandoned it all and started painting her face with Max Factor, Ultima Two and Charles the Ritz. I cannot say how much I value your high moral standards, your dependability, and your sense of discrimination. Michael's "air head" has made some good decisions. And we liked your ever present parade or giggly friends. Love Mom and Dad

Dear Melinda (Lyn): It is difficult to grasp the fact that you are ready to graduate and go off to college. We have thoroughly enjoyed the past 17 + year with our lovely daughter — don't know how we deserved such a special child to raise. With you, we look forward to the future. We wish you the fulfillment of all your dreams — a wonderful time in college, marriage to the perfect mate and beautiful children (grandchildren for us: hint, hint). Whatever career you choose is fine with us — you can achieve whatever you set your mind to. We love you and give you our support. Thanks for keeping the communication line open. We are blessed. All our love always, Mom & Dad

Brian, Your father and I are very proud of you. You've set high goals for yourself and we know you'll acomplish them. Your compassion for other feelings and your great sense of humor make you loved and admired by all who know you. You have a wonderful life ahead of you. Go for it! Love, Mom and Dad

Lisa Kristine AKA Lisa Todd or Super — , Suspect — curshing metal bucket exiting driveway via front lawn; also known to have name in Softball! Hall of Fame. Memories, we'll never forget. How can we list them all. We are so proud of all your accomplishments and happy to have shared in all that it took to achieve them. Good luck in the goals you have made for the future and know we will always be there for you. Thank you for being such a wonderful daughter. Love Always, Mom and Dad.

D.C Thanks for really trying; it will all be worth the effort. There are so many good things ahead for you. Need help, we're here. Love you, Mom and Sis.

Jennifer — I know we have a special closeness as mother and daughter. We have shared good and bad times together, but I always know we really love each other and that we'll always be an important part in each other's lives. I must say that watching you grow up has been a real real experience. It's been worth it. You're a lovely young lady. I love you, Mom

INTENSITY

Three hours until time to turn in our theme, cover and division pages designs for the judging contest. The problem: we have yet to begin. The pressure's on. But, we're our best when things are their worst. With time against us, we united our thoughts and ideas and beat the odds of this intense situation by taking third place in the contest.

Thus, out of this pressure, anxiety and excitement, which would be with us during fifth period for the entire year, the fitting theme, Intensity, was born.

By choosing this theme, we were not associating Intensity with just the Talon staff. From looking around campus, we knew Intensity enveloped the entire student body in some way or form. In this matter, our thoughts and ideas represented all.

ME — OUCH? Minus one life, one of Mr. Gelsinger's cats is explored by Katie Bonnie and Kim Palm. Mouth meets toe. Allen Nalbandian kisses Janice Hamilton's foot after the males suffered a humiliating defeat in the Battle of the Sexes.

Caught in memories, Sandy Swenson reflects upon her summer activities.

OIL! Right here in Paris! In the Spring Play, Dave Roberts and Pat Fisher express their love for black gold.

Hey Dude,
I thought you were a real smart ass jerk at 1st but when I realized I am the same way I suddenly changed my mind about you. I can still beat you out of any chick you go for. I'm much better looking. Have a cool summer and get high a lot. Take it easy.

Barry.
I remember the first time I met you. It was a dance. Wasn't it. I'm glad I met you. You're a really crazy guy. I'm gonna say the same thing everyone else does. Have a rad summer. See ya next year. I hope we have a class together next year since we didn't this year.
Love ya,
Julie Blanchard

Milk 'n' Mindy — Nothing but Mindy Ropp's expression hints at the chocolate milk's after-taste.

BARRY,
I am sorry I had to kick your ass so much (on & off the floor) QB But it was fun dominating over you. Say hi to your dad for me over the summer. See ya next year.

Exhibiting the latest in connotative expression, John Schafer digs within himself, literally, searching for that ?!$ piece of pork from last night.*

Barry,
Well we made it through English! [redacted] Have a great summer! maybe I'll see ya at Disneyland again!
Luv,
Jessica

Barry,
So how's it going? Well it's almost summer and no more seeing you. Despite some of your irritable habits you've been a rad dude. Keep up that ~~stee~~chauvanist attitude of yours! (J,K) I hope you meet the girl of your dreams. Have a rad summer and don't forget me.
See ya next yr,
Kim Kang

INTENSITY

Thus, a book of memories is made out of hopes and aspirations. The meaning, however, extends beyond the book and our high school years . . . the intensity will always continue. Most students will advance a grade level and will experience yet another "book of memories." And, one-fourth of the students will graduate.

For some, graduation means a parting of friends as they go their own way — to college or to work. For others, it is a

Barry,
Hi! How's life? I was a real shame we didn't have any classes together this year! I was so depressed! Ha-ha! Maybe next year, though. Have a great summer!
Luv ya, 248-9034
Diane!!

Studying? You really shouldn't keep notes in your annual. Hope basketball is fun for you this summer. Call me sometime. Meo.

stark realization of the reality of growing up. Yes, growing up . . . we all have and will continue to do so; and if in the future we are lonely, depressed and insecure, we can turn to our past and to this "book of memories" for comfort. If, for just one person, this book brings happiness — a smile in a time of grief, perhaps, — and memories of our high school years, friends of late, emotions and relationships, it has served its purpose. Moreover, the Intensity will then have proven to be more than a mere word crossing a locker on the cover.

What's a Colophon?

Yearbook (ded'lin'), n. 1. a 296 page miracle conceived by twenty-one dedicated masochists who have a particular fondness for white out and Brother typewriters whose ink cartridges run out during deadline. 2. a school published collection of the prominent and/or memorable moments of the school year and student I.D. photos.

We opted for a concise theme for the 1986 Talon: Intensity (as in that intense basketball game, intense party, intense test, etc.). If this word didn't apply to your life in some way this year then you should a) ignore the theme and look at the pretty pictures b) crawl out from under your rock c) ask an educated friend to define intensity or d) pretend that it did apply to your life just to make the yearbook staff happy.

Now you probably don't care that copy is printed in 10 pt. Times Roman and captions are 8 pt. Times Roman Italic or that the headlines in each of the sections are as follows: Student Life — 24 pt. Palatino Italic, Sports — 36 pt. Helvetica Bold and 24 pt. Italic, Honors and Organizations — 18 pt. Baskerville and 36 pt. Baskerville Bold, Academics — 36 pt. Quadrata, Seniors — 36 pt. Bodoni Italic and, Underclassmen — 36 pt. Venture Script, 24 pt. Quadrata, and 48 pt. Avant Bold. But bear with us. Opening copy was written by Ian Ullman and Bryan Von Lossberg. Closing was written by Karyn Foster and Aaron Rose. Both are printed in 18 pt. Venture Script. Thanks for the pictures Ben. Initial letters match the main headline style but are 36 pt. 3 column, 4 column, and 3-4 column layouts help keep this whole thing structured.

Only a staff member or editor can testify to the work that this book represents; however, the work does have some fringe benefits. All you unknowing students have no idea how much fun we had looking at all those interesting pictures of you doing all those funny things when you thought nobody was looking! Enjoy! We did!

We'd like to thank first year advisor Linda Jensen for all her work. Keep faith, Mrs. J.! Insanity isn't permanent. Just think. Without yearbook where would you have heard all that uninhibited teenager talk, or seen "#72. Oh, ! #27?" A special thank you to Steve Dawson and Dunlap-Turney and also to our publishing representative, Tom Imming and Hunter Publishing and Mr. Bishop and his dark room.

A beauty production, eh?

Barry! Hey cutie! It's been a great yr. I'm sorry we don't become better friends. You're a great person and I'm glad we are friends... I am glad of yourself and I learn over the summer not to hate and stay mad at people. Have a good time & see ya soon! <3 ☺ Ya, Sasha Maldonado

-Barry- Well what can I say. Its been an exciting year. Now was it? being a Sophomor. Well now I'll be a Senior, finally. It was fun sitting next to ya, even though you talk too much and made me have to move. You're a really sweet person. Have fun ☺ Shelley 82-83 & 1

Barry...

Glad I met ya this year! Youre sweet "but" very flirtatious! Well, weve both been thru alot and theres still more to come so GOOD LUCK!!! Have a rad summer & do some homework next year!
